Rampaging Mississippi breaks dikes

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The rampaging Mississippi River broke through water-logged dikes and levees near Elsberry, Mo., and topped others Tuesday adding 30,000 acres of land to the tens of thousands already underwater and affecting some 4,000 persons.

The Army Corps of Engineers ordered parts of the city of Elsberry evacuated as the river continued rising toward the worst flooding in 200 years. The American Red Cross estimated that at least 6,000 families have been affected since the Mississippi, Missouri, Illinois and Meramec rivers began rising in early March.

Francis Tobin, regional director of the Office of Emergency Preparedness, said Tuesday damage caused by flooding throughout Missouri could exceed $50 million but added that any estimate of damage was difficult because of the high waters.

The City of St. Louis was bracing for the highest crest of the Mississippi there in history—43.5 feet Thursday—but the Corps said the river was not rising as fast as expected.

The river stood at 39.9 feet at St. Louis at 11 p.m. Tuesday and a spokesman said it appeared likely the 42-foot stage forecast for today would not be reached. He said it was too soon to speculate why the river had stopped rising as fast as it had been but noted that spilling over levees to the north of St. Louis could be a factor.

"Its still too early to say we won't reach the 43.5-foot crest," he said, "but you tend to become optimistic if we're short of Wednesday's prediction."

Col. H. A. Myers of the Missouri National Guard said 1,700 guardsmen have been activated for flood duty from Hannibal in northeast Missouri to New Madrid in the Missouri Bootheel and estimated some 2,000 would be on duty before the flood waters subside.

The guardsmen were joined Tuesday by 75 Coast Guard reservists, activated for the second time this month, and a Coast Guard spokesman said 75 more reservists will be on duty by tonight.

The lives of at least eight persons have been claimed by the flood currents since last week and hundreds of persons have been forced from their homes.

The Corps said the situation was most critical Tuesday night at Chouteau Island, near Granite City, Ill., and near St. Charles, Mo., at the confluence of the Mississippi and Missouri. A spokesman said levees protecting the island and the area east of St. Charles were expected to be topped by the rising rivers. both areas were evacuated Tuesday.

The Mississippi, Missouri and Illinois rivers were closed to commercial barge traffic, and only bridges across the Mississippi at St. Louis and Cairo, Ill., remained open. The Missouri Highway Patrol said 35 state and county highways were closed because of high water.

Although much of eastern Missouri experienced light rain Tuesday night and today, flood control officials said the rain would have no significant affect on river conditions.

SeMo residents eligible for disaster unemployment aid

JEFFERSON CITY—Persons who live or were employed in designated flood disaster counties throughout Missouri may be eligible for disaster unemployment assistance, Gov. Christopher S. Bond announced Tuesday.

Included in the 38 counties designated as disaster areas are Scott, Stoddard, Mississippi, New Madrid, Pemiscot, Dunklin, Cape Girardeau and Butler counties.

The assistance will be administered by the Missouri Division of Employment Security through all 38 offices of the division, plus seven special offices set up by the Office of Emergency Preparedness in areas of greatest need.

To be eligible for the payments, an individual must have become unemployed as a direct result of severe storms or flooding on or after March 6, 1973, the date established in the President's declaration as the beginning of the Missouri disaster.

Persons who have been employed, including self-employed, in agricultural as well as nonagricultural jobs, may be eligible. Payments will range from $52 to $63 per week.

Application for these payments must be made within 30 days from Tuesday.

Two of the seven special offices set up by the Office of Emergency Preparedness are in the armories at Charleston and Caruthersville.

Offices of the Missouri Division of Employment Security in this area and their addresses and phone numbers are:

Cape Girardeau, 231 N. Main St., 335- 6666; Caruthersville, 300 Ward St., 333- 2416; Sikeston, 202 S. Kingshighway, 471- 2731; Kennett, 311 Kennett St., 888- 4518; Poplar Bluff, 942 Pine St., 785- 9606.

Other counties designated as disaster areas are:

Andrew, Atchison, Buchanan, Caldwell, Callaway, Clay, Clinton, Cole, Cooper, Daviess, DeKalb, Franklin, Gasconade, Gentry, Harrison, Holt, Howard, Jefferson, Lincoln, Marion, Miller, Nodaway, Perry, Pike, Ralls, St. Charles, Ste. Genevieve, St. Louis, Scotland and Worth.

The other five special offices have been set up in Jefferson City, St. Charles, Arnold, Hannibal and Ste. Genevieve.

Classes may resume at New Madrid

NEW MADRID-- Classes may resume Thursday at New Madrid High School which has been closed since Tuesday due to failure of sewer facilities, according to City Administrator Don Lloyd.

Excessive surface water on Kingshighway where a major sewage lift station collapsed Friday has been pumped off and city employes today are clearing water from manholes to determine the extent of damage to sewer lines to the school.

Lloyd said there are two contingent plans to bypass the blocked area. If either of the plans are feasible, depending on the damage found, the facilities could be restored later today.

Permanent repairs will not be made to the extensively damaged area until the Mississippi River recedes, Lloyd said.

Some of the pumps, which have been operating around the clock for a week to eliminate flooded streets and low areas, were able to shut off today. However, Lloyd said, they are being left in place should they be needed again before the river falls.

Time set

The Missouri State Highway Department's public Action Plan session has been scheduled for 2 p.m. May 4 at the Security National Bank community room, 625 N. Main St.

The meeting is one of 10 across the state that day aimed at giving state residents greater say in the development of the state highway system.

Farmers need to plant, but rain keeps coming

By PAT GROJEAN

If it had not been raining since October, Bootheel farmers would currently be planting corn and some cotton and preparing their land for all crops.

But since it has been raining the farmlands are saturated with water and farmers cannot get into their fields. So they must just sit and wait. Some farmers are working on their equipment, others are jogging around their farms and still others have gone turkey hunting.

Even if it would stop raining today, it would take two weeks for the ground to dry out enough to get crops planted. Land that is underwater would take even longer to dry out.

The weather has been the main topic of discussion among Bootheel farmers since October. John Garrett, area agronomy specialist, said that this is the worst year for farmers in his 11 years of experience in the Bootheel.

He added that he had talked to one farmer who remembered a bad year, 1957, when over 100 inches of rain was recorded in Sikeston. That farmer remarked that this spring is worse than the spring of 1957.

Other "old- timers" in the farming business have said that it is the worst they have ever seen.

Garrett said that very little farm work has been done this year because of the heavy rainfall. He estimated that 10 per cent of the work usually done by farmers in the fields has been done in comparison with the same time last year.

Farmers in the area are beginning to be hurt by the weather, if they haven't already been. "A farmer's whole life is wrapped around getting a crop planted," Louis Watkins, a Vanduser farmer said. He added that if a farmer can get a crop planted, he will have something, but if a crop is not planted, he will have nothing.

The three main crops in the area are corn, soybeans and cotton. It is getting awfully late for crops not to be planted, especially corn and cotton, Kenny Uswals of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Staff in Benton said.

Garrett says that the only farmers who will still plant corn this year will be those who need it for livestock.

Leonard Hand, meteorologist for the Agricultural Weather Service at the Delta Center in Portageville, explained that the insect problem makes it risky to plant much later than the last part of April. There is still a growing season for corn, after that but corn borers will destroy the crop if planted too late in the season.

Watkins said that he would have planted 100 more acres of corn if it hadn't rained so much. He did get some corn planted during one of the short dry spells. If the weather were to clear, he would probably plant mostly cotton now. "If all else fails, I will go to soybeans," Watkins said.

He explained that the corn already in the fields is okay now "but will begin to rot if it doesn't dry out soon."

Small acreages of corn have been planted in New Madrid, Scott and Mississippi counties. Garrett said some corn is up and looks like it is doing fairly well, but he added that some is rotting in the soil. He explained that in two or three more days the farmers will know what the corn is going to do.

"The corn that has been planted is not in very good shape," Garrett said. "We were in pretty good shape as far as the corn was concerned until the weekend." Over the weekend heavy rain packed the ground.

Garrett says most of the ground that was to be planted in corn will now go to soybeans, and some to cotton.

Cotton planting is not in as much trouble as the corn crop is. The planting season for cotton runs from approximately May to May 15, Garrett said. But, before the cotton can be planted, the ground must be prepared with fertilizers, and other preparation work must be done.

"With the wet weather, farmers cannot get into their fields to prepare for planting, and that is what is hurting the crop presently. The government cutoff date for planting cotton is May 18. If it is not planted by then, we don't recommend they plant it," Garrett said.

"We are recommending this year that farmers do as little preparation as possible to get the crops in," Garrett said. The fact was backed up by several area farmers who are mainly interested in getting the crop planted as soon as possible.

If a dry spell comes along, many fields could be ready for equipment in two weeks but, as stated before, the fields must first be prepared. However, the farmers could prepare a lot of ground in a week's time, Garrett said.

The soybean crop, so far, is not in the danger of the other two crops. Soybeans have a longer planting season. "This year we may be basically producing soybeans," Harry Littleton, district supervisor for Farmers Home Administration in Sikeston, said.

Some soybeans are planted as late as the middle and end of June. Garrett said "it looks like we will have a tremendous acreage of soybeans."

Much of the ground that cannot be planted now due to the saturated fields will be planted later in soybeans.

Hand said it would be extremely unusual if farmers couldn't get soybeans planted.

Another crop that enters lightly into the agriculture of the Bootheel is wheat. Some wheat was planted in the Bootheel during one of the short dry spells. The wheat is starting to come up now, and the main damage to the wheat crop is the loss of a good percentage of nitrogen from the soil because of all the water. The loss of nitrogen will cause the wheat yield to be lower, Garrett said.

In many of the fields planted in wheat, there are potholes where water is standing. This has killed wheat in that area. Garrett explained that some fields will have four and five acres completely dead due to standing water.

Garrett estimated that the wheat yield will be about 10 bushels lower per acre than in other years.

The main problem with the crop situation is the land. "The grounds are saturated" Hand explained, "and both drainage and evaporation will be required." The problem depends on how fast the channels can carry the backwaters off, he said.

Mrs. Robert Scherer of Bell City said they have fields under water and water all around the house. She added that "if it will dry up in the next two weeks, we will get a crop in." The Schererers are planning to plant mostly cotton.

The water has taken nitrogen from the soil which will have to be added to the ground for other crops.

The fields were already in bad condition to begin with because of the harvest during wet weather last year, Garrett explained. The fields have ruts and it will take time to prepare them for a crop.

It is questionable about when ground bordering the river, under water now, will dry out, Garrett said. He added that it is even questionable right now as to whether crops will be planted there at all.

The extended out look calls for possible sunshine by Friday and into Saturday. Since the weather is unpredictable, there is no way of even estimating when the farmers can get back into their fields; but, unless the rain stops soon, the outlook for crops this year does not seem to be very good.

Conscience bill okayed by House

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri House has given tentative approval to a bill allowing doctors, nurses and hospitals to be exempt from performing abortions if it is against their religious or moral principles.

The so-called "conscience bill" was approved in a special session Tuesday night.

A bill to regulate abortion procedures was to be considered in the session, but the House adjurned when the debate on the conscience bill ran longer than expected.

The bill to regulate abortions is a committee substitute for two other bills which provided strict regulation of abortion procedures.

The conscienence bill was adopted after the defeat of a series of amendments to require hospitals receiving public funds to perform the abortions.

"This bill merely recognizes the other side to the abortion question," said Rep. Bob Griffin, D-Cameron. "It recognizes the right of those who do not want to perticipate."

Rep. Harold Hollidsay, D-Kansas City, said "there was no way in the world" the bill could stand a constitutional test, because hospitals receiving public funds are required to perform any operation that is legal under the equal rights protection of the U.S. Constitution.

However, another representative said exemptions from other state laws were given to certain religious groups because of their beliefs, and added, the U.S. Supreme Court might overturn the bill if it infringed on the individual rights of those who agreed with abortions.

Rep. William O'Toole, D-St. Louis, said the U.S. Senate had just recently passed a similar law, "and they are aware of the constitutional questions involved."

The House also gave tentative approval to a bill to allow the state to provide direct grants to aid in forming or developing public water and sewer districts.

The bill would allow up to $600 per connection for Houses added to the sewer or water lines.

Earlier the House approved a measure to let voters decide on a constitutional change saying the death penalty should not be considered cruel and unusual punishment.

The change would alter wording in the state Constitution to say that "in no event shall the imposition or execution of the death penalty be deemed cruel and unusual punishment."

The measure now goes to the Senate. If approved, it will be submitted to a vote of the people at the next general election.

Tentative approval was given to a proposed constitutional change to bring the state in line with recent U.S. Supreme Court decision to let 18-year-olds vote.

A new revised study by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States reveals that 100 new factory workers in a town result in 351 more people, 79 more school children, $1,036,000 more personal income per year, 97 more families, $490,000 more bank deposits, one more retail establishment, 68 more persons employed in non-manufacturing jobs, and $565,000 more in retail sales per year.

LAW DAY, 1973

May Day means different things to different people. Throughout much of the world, it's a holiday commemorating the international solidarity of workingmen. In the United States, May 1 is widely observed each year as Law Day. In essence, Law Day is supposed to be a rededication to the rule of law in the affairs of men and nations. Deeply rooted in the American concept of freedom under law is the role of government as protector of the individual citizen. At the heart of this concept is the system of justice, epitomized by the trial before a jury of one's peers.

The jury system has become embroiled in controversy in recent years. In a decision handed down June 22, 1970, the U. S. Supreme Court upheld the right of states to use juries of less than 12 members -- a number traceable to the Magna Carta -- in felony trials. Then, on May 22, 1972, the court held that verdicts against defendants in state criminal courts need not be unanimous. At the time, only 14 states allowed juries of smaller size and only two, Louisiana and Oregon, allowed split verdicts in felony cases.

In neither decision did the court specify how small a jury could be or how closely the verdict could be split and still meet the constitutional guarantee of proof of guilt beyond a reasonable doubt before conviction. The unanimous verdict was retained for trials in federal court. Now it is a question for the individual states to decide whether they will retain existing jury requirements or change them. The Supreme Court probably will have to decide eventually whether the most drastic state jury trial reforms meet the constitutional tests.

If any clear pattern emerges from the current activity to re-examine and change the American jury system, it is that of making the administration of justice speedier, less costly, and more protective toward a society increasingly menaced by criminal acts. What is less clear is whether the changes will be gained at the price of eroding protection for the accused.

WHO IS TO BLAME FOR DRUG ABUSE?

Is it parent's fault that many young people choose drugs as their "thing" in life? Is it the times? The generation gap? Something, surely, is causing the drug cult, with its accompanying death, crime, and misery.

Professor Alvin Toffler in Future Shock (Bantam Books) charges that "Allan Ginsberg and Timothy Leary (are) the two men most responsible for creating the hippie life style, with heavy accent on drug use" and that the drug cultists promote their merchandise with high-powered promotional efforts "like any good corporation."

Toffler cites a letter from Ginsberg to Leary, in which Ginsberg wrote:

"Yesterday got on tv with N. Mailer and Ashley Montagu and gave a big speech ... recommending that everybody get high ... Got in touch with all the liberal pro-dope people I know to have [a certain pro-drug report] publicized and circulated ... I wrote a five - page summary of the situation to this friend Kenny Love on The New York Times and he said he'd perhaps do a story (newswise) ... which could then be picked up by U.P. friend on national wire. Also gave copy to Al Aronowitz on New York Post and Rosaline Constable at Time and Bob Silvers on Harper's..."

To this hard evidence that the liberal media, knowingly or not, collaborated with drug pushers, Toffler comments:

"No wonder LSD and the whole hippie phenomenon received the mass media publicity it did. This partial of Ginsberg's energetic air press agentry, complete with the Madison Avenue suffix 'wise' (as in newswise) reads precisely like an internal memo from Hill and Knowlton or any of the other giant public relations corporations whom hippies love to flagellate for 'manipulating' public opinion. The successful 'sale' of the hippie life style model to young people is one of the classic merchandizing stories of our time."

Drugs and the drug cult did not, therefore, arise because parents, or teachers, or clergymen, or the police of this generation are any less dedicated than those of past generations. We are burdened with a runaway drug problem because it is being sold as a way of life to a young by the "liberal pro-dope people" and "mass media publicity."

THIS MIGHT WORK TO TAXPAYER ADVANTAGE

As previously mentioned, Legislators at Jefferson City are moving to increase their daily expense allowance while at Jefferson City from the present $10 to $25. That means about $1,035.00 per regular session for the average Legislator, who usually spends three days weekly at the capital.

Those who know anything about costs realize that $10 per day will not pay expenses while living at Jefferson City.

One Monroe County taxpayer has suggested a plan which would be a penalty for not attending a session, instead of a reward for doing so.

It is to raise the annual salary from $8,500 to $10,500, then deduct $30 per day for every day the Legislator fails to be there.

It might increase attendance.

Most Monroe Countians agree that Legislators should operate like almost everyone else who is employed — pay their expenses out of their salaries. They wonder what would be the effect on the average business if it paid a salary, then added a daily amount for living expenses. That isn't the way business operates. It should not be the way for the Legislature to operate.

SPENDERS IN CONGRESS AND NIXON SQUARE OFF

Finally, people are waking up to the fact that government does not have the godlike ability or financial resources to deliver personal integrity and the good life to us on a silver platter.

President Nixon has set out to lead what he believes to be the majority public opinion in a massive turn toward personal responsibility and away from the welfare state philosophy which has dominated American politics for the past 40 years. In presenting his budget to the American people, the President said, "it is time to get big government off your back and out of your pocket." He pointed out that without the spending cuts which he has proposed, 1975 expenditures would rise to approximately $312 billion ... leading to a huge, inflationary deficit.

As the Wall Street Journal sums it up, "The budget outlines a do-less formula for the federal government: fewer programs, fewer bureaucrats, no new or higher taxes, and strict limits on future spending that will allow very little room for any big legislative initiatives by either Congress or the administration."

In all this, it should be remembered that the budget is still increasing at the rate of 7.5 per cent if the President's prescription of $250 billion this year and $268.7 billion for 1974 is followed. The average increase for the past 12 years has been 8.1 per cent. That's a good deal more than the economy grows each year. No one is really talking about austerity, merely about the degree of control that will achieve a tolerable level of inflation, avoid a regimented economy and eliminate the threat of actual collapse of the federal government's ability to meet its obligations.

We believe the American people back the President in his plan, and it is time we let Congress know it.

While most of us living out in the boondocks are puzzled about the dollar crisis, there are many reasons behind a decline in confidence in the dollar. One of the most important factors was summarized by columnist Bill Buckley. He stated, "People of the world have said in effect: American products are overpriced. But Americans are not finding other countries products overpriced."

A look at the figures for world shipbuilding will give a good indication of how the U. S. has priced its goods out of world markets. Last year, shipbuilding in the U. S., spurred by new Government subsidies, increased by 21 per cent to a total of 611,000 tons. Last year, Japan's tonnage increased only 7 per cent, to a total of 12,865,000 tons. In other words, Japan's shipbuilding production was 21 times the tonnage produced by U. S. yards. And perhaps even more significant is the fact that only 9,000 tons of U. S. production was sold outside of the country. This export record was the worst among the 16 main shipbuilding countries.

U. S. manufacturers of many goods are being hit by a double whammy. They are losing markets abroad at the same time that imports are making serious inroads in domestic markets. Today, for example, imports account for 18 per cent of total steel sales and almost one- quarter of automobile sales. The United States imports better than 50 per cent of its black - and - white TV sets, 60 per cent of its phonographs, and 86 per cent of all radios sold. Virtually every tape recorder sold in America is foreign made. Approximately 60 per cent of all sewing machines, 80 per cent of electronic microscopes and 60 per cent of all calcualtors are imported. Baseball is a uniquely American sports; it is played in very few countries other than the U. S. Yet, fully 95 per cent of all baseball mits sold in the U. S. are imports.

If foreign producers can penetrate U. S. markets to such an extent, you can imagine what has happened to the U. S. share of the market where we compete against these producers. Frankly, we have gotten clobbered. During the past decade, only the United Kingdom among the major trading nations, has had less export growth than the United States.

The examples cited are not isolated instances where some individual industries have taken a beating. The overall U. S. trade figures show the same picture. The U. S. ran a merchandise trade deficit of $6.82 billion in 1972. This was up sharply from a deficit of $2.69 billion in 1971 and a trade surplus of $2.16 billion in 1970. (As a matter of fact, until 1971, we had a trade surplus every year going all the way back to 1888.) The publicaton of the 1972 trade deficit figures was an important factor in triggering the February dollar devaluation.

Of course, there have been many other contributing factors such as the costs of maintaining a global army police force on top of the expenditures associated with the Vietnam war.

Perhaps the straw that broke the dollar's back was introduction of Phase III in the wage - price control program. The new Nixon - labor alliance may be good domestic politics, but it does little to restore confidence in the dollar. In fact, European money traders are convinced that another wage- price spiral is in the cards -- and they know what they will do to the value of the dollar in the long run.

Neither Congress nor the Nixon administration have faced up to our dollar problem, except to fight over reduced spending in programs that have gotten out of hand. And our labor costs are too high to be competitive in the world markets.

SKINNING THE CAT

In these inflationary times, it apparently takes more than money to create incentive. A lot of companies are now looking for new ways to encourage greater production. An article in "cars & trucks" touches on some of the incentive programs that are being developed in the auto industry. The publication observes, "Incentive programs can be based on just about any award system that could be imagined. But the most successful plans have three things in common: 1. They utilize awards of merchandise or travel rather than money. 2. They are broad based. They are designed to produce many winners ... 3. They are planned, promoted and administered by a company specializing in sales incentives."

Among the most popular incentive programs are those developed by a major trading stamp company. They are based on the accumulation of prize points or award certificates which are equivalent to books of trading stamps that can be redeemed for merchandise in special catalogs. In some cases, the results of this kind of program have been phenomenal. It is not unusual, according to the automotive trade journal, for a good producer in the auto sales business to collect 200 books of stamps redeemable in merchandise at the rate of $3 per book. Trading stamp incentive programs are far more popular with people than cash awards which slip through the fingers of the winner all too easily. One auto company has broadened the program to include accountants and bookkeepers with the results that bookkeeping efficiency has increased as much as 150 per cent.

The old adage that there is more than one way to skin a cat is still true. And, the smart businessman, instead of waiting for the government to take a hand, is going ahead on his own intitiative to increase efficiency and productivity.

"I've been a widower long enough," he said. "I've picked me out another wife."

"But who are you going to marry?" asked his brother.

"Lem Hawkins' daughter."

"But she's only 18 years old," protested the brother. "Think of a man your age — 93 — marrying a girl of 18!"

"What's wrong with that?" inquired the old man placidly. "She's exactly the same age as my first wife was when I marrier her."

FREEDOM PAYS

Nineteen states now have right to work laws. It simply means that an individual has the right to join a union and also a right to refrain from joining a union without losing his job. It would seem that this is a basic civil and human right.

We hear a great deal about freedom, civil rights and the curbing of discriminatory acts against U. S. citizens, regardless of race, creed or color. Yet, what could be more fundamental than the right to work without paying tribute to any coercive agency. Apparently, because of its political explosiveness, this fundamental right and the issue it involves is avoided by most politicians. It is interesting to note, however, that in states that have right to work laws the rate of increase in jobs per capita, personal income, hourly earnings and industrial development outstrip such development in states permitting compulsory unionism.

For example, new manufacturing jobs between 1957 and 1967 in right to work states increased 37.2 per cent against a rise of 7.3 per cent in states permitting compulsory unionism. Hourly earnings by manufacturing workers increased 39 per cent. Average weekly earnings of production workers in right to work states rose 41.6 per cent compared to 35.3 per cent in states permitting compulsory unionism. These figures, published by The National Right To Work Committee, make a strong case for the right to work principle.

A primary reason cited for the steady rise in per capita garbage production is the proliferation of products such as one-way containers that replace returnable bottles, and paper products used as substitutes for towels, plates, cups and napkins.

As invironmental and health pressures mount against open dumping, communities are turning to new techniques, but solid- waste experts point out what may work well for one city might be a disaster elsewhere.

There is no doubt that eventually something will have to be worked out to recycle our solid - waste. The EPA report suggests providing "a positive economic incentive to the potential user of the waste materials by investment- tax credits, tax credits for use of secondary materials, subsidy payments or bounties, subsidy of plant and equipment for processing secondary materials, and combinations of these."

Until the reclaimed materials become price competitive, however, the bulk of the vast resources hidden in America's junk heaps are not likely to be used.

PRESERVING THE REPUBLIC

PRESERVING THE REPUBLIC

The United States is the symbol of freedom to many people in many parts of the world. Its awessome power has represented a shield for many of the weaker nations and the Bill of Rights has attracted many immigrants who fled the persecution of their homelands. That shield of the U. S. was especially formidable during the few years that we had exclusive knowledge of atomic weaponry. The passage of time and a combination of lethargy and indecision in leadership seem to have eroded some of the glitter that once brought us the admiration of the world.

We still are an affluent society with the potential to overcome all odds. Communism can never overtake us nor overwhelm us unless we let it. It is true that we are now in an inflationary period in our economics, but the market place -- not controls -- will correct that if we let it. The Japanese and the German factories cannot outproduce us unless we let them. Russia cannot outstrip us in space and in military might unless we let her do it. So it is up to us. The very soundness of our Constitution provides the basis for a government that serves the people. The amendments, especially the 22nd which limits the length of Presidential service, add to the safe-guards.

We have our strenghts and our weaknesses. Young and old alike can muster the strength and minimize the weaknesses to preserve the Republic and all the wonderful things for which it stands. The lines against the main enemy, communism, are not fully manned yet. A discussion of the communist challange and how we can defeat it should be the first order of business for all of us. HLH.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: 'Small Arsenal'

WASHINGTON -- G. Gordon Liddy flashed his White House pass in an effort to buy a "small arsenal" of pistols a year ago apparently for arming his Watergate burglary- wiretap team.

Unfortunately for Liddy, the Virginia gun dealer to whom he nervously showed his credentials had recently been in trouble for selling antitank guns to a man who used one to stick up a Brink's vault.

So the dealer turned Liddy down and called up the Treasury Department's gun-control unit to report the visit. There an official verified that Liddy held a White House pass. But Liddy never came back for the five to 10 pistols he had sought.

If he had, the Watergate might have erupted in gunfire on the morning of June 17 when Liddy's team was trapped inside Democratic national headquarters. On the other hand, if Treasury had pursued the case of Liddy's attempted purchases, the White House or the Nixon campaign committee might have become sufficiently alarmed to fire him.

Instead, it was left to the sleuths of Rep. John Murphy, D— N.Y., a strong advocate of gun controls, to turn up Liddy's mysterious Virginia mission. The gun dealer, who had provided Murphy with leads on his gun bill, quietly notified the congressman's aides of the Liddy visit a few weeks ago.

'Something Wrong'

The dealer, exacting a vow of silence on his name, told the Murphy gumshoes that Liddy came to his shop about a year ago, shortly after leaving his White House job to join the Nixon campaign staff as general counsel.

"There was something wrong about him," recalled the dealer "You know, he acted a little flaky." Liddy, said the dealer, wanted to buy "a small arsenal" of pistols.

As the dealer remembered it, Liddy gave the strong impression that the guns were not just for himself, but also for associates involved in a mutual venture.

Liddy has a large collection of guns. He is so fanatical about firearms that he was regarded as the gun lobby's "man in the White House." While at the White House, he tried to kill the very statutes which permitted the dealer to refuse to sell him the pistols.

Murphy has quietly turned over his findings to sen. Sam Ervin, D— N.C., whose special committee is investigating the Watergate break- in and related political sabotage and espionage.

Footnote: Liddy's wife rented a safety deposit box at the Marine Midland Bank of Southeastern New York in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., last August 7th. At the same time, she left a padlocked trunk valued at $2,500 in the bank's "silver storage room." Mrs. Liddy confirmed to us she made the rentals, but insisted it was for "personal" effects. When we asked whether she wanted to say anything about the trunk, she snapped, "What I would like to tell you is unprintable." Liddy reportedly has been paid large sums of hush money to keep his mouth shut about the Watergate case.

PHONY REPORT? The Social and Rehabilitation Service has been accused by one of its own division chiefs of presenting "fictitious figures" to Congress.

The figures were offered by Associate Administrator F.D. DeGeorge to the House Appropriations Committee. Eager to prove how the SRS is saving money, he reported that in Texas the cost per welfare recipient "was reduced by $111.45." This added up to a total savings for the 1973 fiscal year, he claimed, of $65,992,462.

These figures have now been challenged by Jim Rice, chief of the Program Monitoring Division, in a blistering internal memo. He charged that the DeGeorge report "is primarily cosmetic in nature having little substance" and objected that "The phony Texas figures remain in the report despite the strong efforts...to change it."

Rice suggested that a staff member sit down with DeGeorge "to clarify for him the fact that fictitious figures of this sort are often self-defeating and certainly would not appeal to a (Certified Public Accountant) who would be sophisticated in examining reports of this nature. (DeGeorge) would be in a vulnerable position if critically questioned by Congress on the validity of this document."

Asked for comment, DeGeorge told us Rice "had no association with the report" and called the complaint a "case of pique."

Footnote: The pressure to cut back social programs has become so intense that investigators, dispatched to check into local programs, have been told not to come back unless they could report substantial "cost avoidance."

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — You can't go home again — with one exception.

The exception is memory.

In memory you can go home again anytime by a thought.

In fact, you are at home there all the time. Memory is man's chief home actually. He dwells there longer than he does in any hut of wood or mansion of marble or brick.

And your own memory house has a lot of rooms in it if you can look back and remember when —

Nothing was longer or lovelier than a nice summer day.

You could get to work quicker on a 1920 streetcar than you can drive through traffic and find a place to park now.

When you saw someone walking fast, you figured he must have a real emergency. The normal pace of life was slower.

A policeman could spend his whole career on the force and retire without ever having given out a traffic ticket.

No matter how big your family was, you were expected to know who all your cousins were — and keep track of what happened to them. Blood was a lot thicker than water and kinfolk felt more responsible for each other.

A gang of boys felt cheated if they caught and killed some innocent snake and found it had no rattles at the end of its tail. But they still thought they had done the world a favor. There was to them no such thing as a guiltless snake.

But children themselves never felt entirely guiltless either. There were so many precepts to guide them that they always were in violation of some. Even when they had to go to the dentist they felt it must be because they had unconsciously done something wrong.

You could tell a grandmother by the way she looked and dressed.

If the head of a family could afford to buy a new suit every two years, he was doing pretty well.

When a man died, his clothing wasn't sent to the Salvation Army. It was passed on to his son or divided among his "poor relations."

A man with $100,000 was a kind of magnate, and he could live well off the income from it the rest of his life without working. And raise a family on it, too.

Women weren't formally liberated, but they were more admired, respected and deferred to than perhaps they are now.

Those were the days — remember?

Shumate held over in sodomy case

NEW MADRID— Ozell Shumate, 45, of New Madrid, charged with sodomy, was ordered held for Circuit Court action under $10,000 bond, following a preliminary hearing Monday before Magistrate Judge Leo Hedgepeth.

Witnesses appearing were the 11 year- old boy upon whom Shumate allegedly committed unnatural sex acts and the arresting officer Deputy sheriff Elgie (Shorty) Price.

The alleged offense occurred on March 4 when Shumate got the youth to go to his home after offering him $2 to clean his bathroom.

William C. Suchman, a Sikeston building contractor, waived preliminary hearing on two counts of forgery and a cheat and defraud charge. He was bound over to circuit court under $15,000 bond on each forgery charge and $5,000 bond on the cheat and defraud charge.

Also, he is accused of fraudulently forging a waiver and release of lien from Steward Steel Supply of Sikeston in the amount of $4,308.69, and a release of lien in the amount of $2,044.72 from Kasten Masonry Sales of Cape Girardeau and then collecting the money from Sam Purser.

John Askew was fined $125 for driving while intoxicated. He was given six months suspended jail sentence and put on probation for one year and his driver's license was suspended for one year.

Charge of operating a disorderly place of business against James I. West, operator of the Hide- A- Way Club at the east edge of Malden on Route 62, was dismissed by Prosecuting Attorney Hal E. Hunter Jr. upon payment of $25 court costs. The charge was filed against West following a drug raid at the club on Feb. 9 in which several persons were arrested.

Assessed $20 fines each on misdemeanor charges were William Charles Moncrief, operating vehicle with no operator license and John Sweat Jr., failure to register or transfer license.

Ex-patient lavishes nurse with gifts

Dear Ann Landers: I am a registered nurse working in a first- class hospital. Several months ago I tended an 84-year- old man who had major surgery. I never felt that I gave him more attention than any other patient.

Since he checked out, I have received four boxes of candy from him, a gold fountain pen and a hand-written invitation to have dinner at his home. (I respectfully declined.)

Last week he sent a beautiful friendship ring with my birthstone set in a platinum mounting. I was floored by this gift and phoned him at once to say I couldn't accept it. He insisted that I had helped him through a serious crisis and said I should not deny him the pleasure of repaying me in a small way. He spoke for fifteen minutes and I decided to keep the ring.

This morning I received a beautiful bouquet of carnations from "An Admirer." I called the florist to make sure my hunch was correct and it was, of course, from the old gentleman.

What am I to do? I can't continue to accept these gifts, yet I am afraid of hurting his feelings. Please advise.--- Just Did My Job

Dear Just: Write a note explaining that you enjoy flowers and if he wishes to send a bouquet occasionally, fine, but that you cannot accept any other gifts from him. Remember, dear, he's 84. I see no harm in overlooking the fact that the old gent doesn't follow the etiquette book.

Dear Ann Landers: I was married 24 years ago and had five children in seven years. I worked hard under trying circumstances, including the last six years when my husband and I agreed on a separation. We were divorced last May.

Our children are all launched and I am now involved in a fascinating career. My work puts me in contact with many men, most of whom I find chauvinistic, dull, a little sick, and painfully boring.

Last fall I met the man I wish I had met 25 years ago. He is everything I've ever wanted in a husband. I think about him at least three dozen times a day. I tried ignoring him but it didn't work. He is 36 years old, beautifully attentive, and insists I'm going to be his wife.

When I asked him why he never married he said, "I've been waiting for you, angel."

I adore being free and am thoroughly immersed in my career. I've had the marriage and family bit and I don't believe a woman can do justice to both at the same time. But the guy is a gem. I don't know what to do. What's your best hunch?-- Lone Star Louise

Dear Louise: My huncher is on the bum but my computer is in good working order. According to my figures, 25 years ago "The Gem" was 11 years old. If this doesn't make any difference to you, and it doesn't matter to him, it's all right with me.

Dear Ann Landers: What do you think of parents who will not allow a boy who is nearly 14 to be alone in the house for an evening? I am his 18- year-old sister and I had to cancel a date because the sitter didn't show up. Thanks for your opinion.--- Thoroughly Disgusted.

Dear T.G.: Unless the boy is ill or retarded he should not need a sitter at his age. If your parents don't treat him as an adult soon they will have a serious problem on their hands.

A no- nonsense approach to how to deal with life's most difficult and most rewarding arrangement. Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage-- What To Expect," will prepare you for better or for worse. Traveling concerts go to people

CAPE GIRARDEAU — If the people can't come to the concert, take the concert to the people.

That's what Robert E. Restemyer, assistant professor of music at Southeast Missouri State University, will do today and tomorrow when he takes the university's symphony band on a two- day swing south of here.

The 55- member band performs at the Matthews, East Prairie and New Madrid high schools today. On Thursday, the musicians will play at Holcomb, Clarkton and Gideon high schools.

According to Restemyer, the program to be presented at each of the schools will be similar to the concert planned by the band May 3 in the auditorium of Academic Hall at Southeast Missouri State.

A major work will be a band arrangement of Carl Orff's "Carmina Burana." It is based on poems and songs of the 13th century and reflects the immense gusto and color of this era, Restemyer said.

The tour will also include a percussion ensemble under the direction of Dan Dunaven, instructor of music at the university.

A featured soloist, playing Murice Whitney's "Introduction and Samba" for alto saxophone, will be Larry Bond, a senior music major from Sikeston.

Industrial prospects visit area

MALDEN — Pat Lea of Sikeston, chairman of the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission, stated Thursday night that the industrial program initiated by the commission is beginning to show results as an increasing number of industrial prospects are indicating interest in locating in the Bootheel area.

The commission has made a concentrated effort, in the form of a direct mail- out campaign, toward several types of industries. Manufacturers were mailed personal letters explaining the availability of buildings, labor force, transportation, utilities and equipment.

Lea went on to state that the mail- out campaign last month generated 15 prospects, and to date said six industrialists have visited the area. Lea said the next effort will be directed toward mailing 300 personal letters to plastic industries across the United States. Lea said the planning commission has several thousand dollars to devote to promoting industrial growth during the next few years.

Philip Shelton, director of Bootheel Regional Planning Commission, reported that during the past three months, about 40 industrial prospects have visited the area because of the commission's activities, and that prospects look good for the future.

Shelton went on to say that communities should do all they can to make their cities more conducive to industrial growth by making sure they have adequate utilities and good livability within the town. He also urged communities to join the Community Betterment Program.

MANCHESTER, England (AP) — Teacher Godfrey Allen, 41, came up with the answer to the problem of "reluctant writers" at Miles Platting Secondary Modern School. He got the 11 and 12 year olds to write to their pop idols instead of doing essays.

Said Allen: "Writing to someone like Donny Osmond is much more exciting for them than being given a conventional school subject to work on."

Most of the youngsters addressed their letters to Donny.

Seyer receives award

Paul Seyer of Richfield, Minn., left, formerly of Oran, receives the international "Volare Award" for outstanding contributions in maintenance for the benefit of the entire avionics industry. The presentation was made by Don Hamister of Goleta, Calif., president of Airline Avionics Institute.

Former Oran man receives award

MINNEAPOLIS— Paul J. Seyer, assistant manager of electronics for North Central Airlines of Minneapolis, has received the international "Volare Award" presented at the Avionics Maintenance Conference in San Francisco.

Seyer, a former Oran, Mo., resident, was selected for outstanding contributions in maintenance for the benefit of the total industry. His philosophy and dedication in improving reliability in the areas of cooling, meter movements and long lead transistors have resulted in benefits for everyone.

He is also credited with instituting many other improvements within North Central Airlines that were passed on to the industry, dealing with electronic communications, navigations and flight guidance systems in aircraft.

More than 200 entries were considered for the airline award and another for product support, presented to Edwin S. Lawrence, Mid-Ami based representative of Sperry Flight Systems Division. Attending the conference in San Francisco were 385 persons from 18 different countries, representing 51 airlines and 75 manufacturers. Volare which means ("to fly" in Latin) awards for airline avionics maintenance were initiated in 1967 by the Airlines Avionics Institute and are presented annually.

Seyer, a 24- year North Central employe, accepted a job as a ground radio mechanic one year after the airline started operations in 1948. He later became an electronic line maintenance mechanic and then lead mechanic in avionics, before assuming his present position.

Seyer and his family live in Richfield, Minn. His mother, Mrs. Philip Seyer, lives in Oran. His brother, Lawrence L. Seyer, is the Missouri Pacific Railroad agent in Sikeston, Mo.

Hayti murder victim's widow gives birth to son

HAYTI — The 18- year- old widow of a young Hayti man who was fatally beaten to death Saturday night gave birth Tuesday to a 10- pound, two- ounce son at Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Mike (Betty) Deweese said she had chosen the name Herbert William Clark Deweese for her first child, the name derived from her late husband's name and the child's grandfather. The Deweeses would have celebrated their first wedding anniversary a month from Tuesday.

The child was born at 8:45 a.m., several hours before funeral services for the baby's slain father. Mrs. Deweese was unable to attend the services.

Deweese, 20, was brutally beaten to death Saturday night after he followed an ambulance to the home of James Edward Lewis, 22, who had wounded his wife in a stabbing.

Mrs. Lewis is in the Hayti hospital suffering from knife wounds to the back and thumb. Authorities later arrested Lewis after Deweese's body was found around 11 p.m., two hours after he had followed the ambulance to the Lewis home.

Lewis, released from the Army last week, had reportedly worked with Deweese in the shipyards at Caruthersville in previous years. Lewis was arraigned Monday in Pemiscot County Magistrate Court on first degree murder charges.

Haggai address to highlight event

CAPE GIRARDEAU — An address by Dr. Tom Haggai, nationally- known radio personality, author and speaker, will highlight the closing session of the annual conference of Rotary District 609 to be held April 27-28 at Southeast Missouri State University.

Dr. Haggai, whose radio program is heard daily from coast to coast, will speak at the governor's banquet which will begin at 6:30 p.m. April 28 in Memorial Hall on the Southeast Missouri State campus.

The banquet will also include organ music by Dr. Dan Cotner, a Cape Girardeau dentist and member of hthe Cape Girardeau Rotary Club, and songs by Mr. and Mrs. Czeslaw Zielinski, who have performed with the Atlanta and Nashville symphony orchestras and many other groups, both in this country and abroad.

Mrs. Zielinski is an instructor of voice at Southeast Missouri State.

The conference is expected to attract 300 Rotarians and wives. Hosting the annual meeting is the Cape Girardeau West Rotary Club, younger of the two clubs in the city.

Beginning with registration in Memorial Hall at noon April 27, the conference will continue that afternoon and evening with general sessions in Kent Library, a buffet dinner in Memorial Hall, a program in the auditorium of Academic Hall and open houses in the home of Cape Girardeau Rotarians.

The after- dinner program on April 27 in Academic Hall will feature the choir of Southeast Missouri State, directed by Doyle Dumas, as well as student soloists from "Man of La Mancha," a musical which was produced by the university earlier this year.

The agenda for April 28 calls for additional general sessions, a luncheon and the closing banquet.

A separate program planned for Rotarians' wives on April 28 will include a morning coffee at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Wilferth on Cape Lacroix Road, a historical tour of Cape Girardeau and a luncheon and style show at 1 p.m. at the Flaming Pit.

Purpose of the annual conference is to further the objectives of Rotary which are best summed up by the motto, "Service Above Self."

Rotary District 609 consists of 40 clubs and covers an area in Missouri from Jefferson County on the north to the Arkansas sstate line on the south and west from the Mississippi River as far as Rolla and West Plains.

Dr. Haggai, a Baptist minister who quit the pulpit but still delivers his basic message of ',patriotism through religion" to hundreds of audiences each year, was born in 1931 in Kalamazoo, Mich., of Syrian- English heritage. He spent his formative years in Pennsylvania and preached his first sermon at age 12 in Boston.

A political science and history major at Furman University in Greenville, S.C., Dr. Haggai held his first pastorate in Rock Hill, S.C. In 1956 he became pastor of Emerywood Baptist Church in High Point, N.C. He resigned this position in 1963 after a group of 120 business and professional men joined to form Tom Haggai and Associates Foundation.

The foundation underwrites about 100 of the minister's speeches to youth groups each year. In addition, it provides scholarships for young men planning careers in scouting and other non- governmental youth training services.

Two years before the formation of the foundation, Dr. Haggai began his daily five-minute radio show, "Values for Living." Non- religious in nature, the program is designed to give the audience a good daily thought through an anecdote, interview, or observation. More than 200 stations broadcast it.

Dr. Haggai is vice president of the American Humanics Foundation, a member- at - large of the National Boy Scouts of America Council, a member of the National Exploring Council and a Rotarian. He also holds lifetime membership in the Optimist Club.

He has received the highest honor bestowed by the Boy Scouts of America, the Silver Buffalo. He has also received honorary doctorates from High Point, N.C., College and Salem, W. Va., College.

Date set for murder hearing

KENNETT — A preliminary hearing for Oscar Sampson Jaynes of Holcomb, formerly of Malden, was set for Friday, May 11, following arraignment on first degree murder charge Tuesday in Dunklin County Magistrate Court.

Jaynes, 61, former operator of Chez Paree Club in Malden, has been accused in felony charges filed by Prosecuting Attorney Charles Baker of fatally shooting Gilbert Mitchell Arrington, 24, of Malden, at Campbell Saturday night.

The murder suspect had reportedly gone to Campbell to see a girl friend, Jewell Kilwin, and while he talked to her in front of her house, Arrington drove up, got out of the car and the two men began to argue.

Baker said Arrington reportedly took a bicycle chain to Jaynes just prior to the fatal shooting. When officers arrived at the Campbell address (322 Bailey) they said two cars were parked in the middle of the street, one belonging to Jaynes and the other to Arrington. Arrington was lying across the back rest of the front seat of Jaynes' car. He was shot five times with a small caliber gun.

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The Kentucky Fish and Wildlife Resources Commission has banned the use of commercial fishing nets in the coves of Kentucky and Barkley lakes in Western Kentucky. Sport fishing interests and tourists had urged the ban

Camp approved

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Senate Gubernatorial Appointments Committee Tuesday approved the nomination of 34-year-old George Camp to head the Missouri Department of Corrections.

Camp will replace William G. Miller who has served in the position for about a year.

Camp will come to Missouri from New York City where he is assistant commissioner of corrections.

Camp's resume shows he has risen rapidly in federal and state penal work holding nine jobs in the past 10 years.

He was nominated several weeks ago by Gov. Christopher S. Bond to head the state's prison system.

Camp told the Senate committee he was in favor of setting up training programs for guards and correctional officers. He also told committee members he was opposed to the death penalty.

The committee gave him unanimous approval indicating he would be confirmed without difficulty by the Senate.

The appointments committee also approved the nomination of Robert L. Morrison, 48, Lee's Summit fire chief, as state fire marshall.

Morrison also is vice president of the Missouri Fire Fighters Association.

Gobler youth drowns

GOBLER— A 17 year- old Gobler youth drowned late Monday while he was wading a rain- swollen ditch gigging for fish, Dunklin County authorities reported.

Drowned was Harvey Agee, 17, Gobler, son of Mrs. Lela Agee. Dunklin County Deputy Sheriff Radford Raines said the youth, accompanied by his 16-year- old brother Leon and three other youths, was gigging for fish in a drainage ditch two miles southwest of Gobler on Route ZZ at the time of the accident.

Agee apparently stepped off into a deep hole as he waded up to the bridge around 5:30 p.m. About 45 minutes later, the youth's body was recovered in about nine feet of water 60 feet south of the bridge. His body was found by Robert Crouch, Harold Rushing and Bud Greenfield of Gobler Star Route.

The youth's body was taken to the John W. German Funeral Home in Hayti.

THE CITY OF SIKESTON
MISSOURI
Resolution

A resolution declaring the necessity for the construction of one and one- half inch hotmix asphaltic pavement on six inch soil cement base with concrete curb and gutter on and along East Gladys Street from Selma to dead end in the City of Sikeston, Missouri; stating the nature of the improvement; the estimated cost and providing that payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills levied and assessed against the abutting property. Be it resolved by the Council of the City of Sikeston, State of Missouri, as follows: Section 1: That the Council of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, deems and declares the construction of said Street necessary to the welfare and improvement of the City of Sikeston. Section 2: That the nature and scope of the improvement shall consist of furnishing all cost, including labor, materials and transportation necessary for the complete construction of the improvement. Section 3: That the estimated cost of the improvement is $5.85 per lineal foot of abutting property, to be charged against the lots and tracts of land abutting the improvement. Section 4: That payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills evidencing special assessments against the abutting property in the manner specified by the statutes of the State of Missouri and the ordinances of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, because in the opinion of the City Council the General Revenue fund of the City of Sikeston is not in a condition to warrant an expenditure therefrom to pay for the improvement. Section 5: That any work performed on construction of the improvement shall be in compliance with the provisions of the prevailing wage laws of the State of Missouri, such prevailing wage rates having been established by the Industrial Commission of Missouri. Section 6: That the City Clerk is hereby authorized and directed to furnish a copy of this Resolution to a daily newspaper of general circulation in the City of Sikeston, so that it shall be published for seven consecutive insertions. Read the first, second and third times and passed and approved this 3rd day of April, 1973. Approved: FRANK FERRELL, Mayor; Attest: John W. Vaughn, City Clerk.

The life of a clown

"Laugh and the world laughs with you," is more than an old cliche to King Bros. Circus; it is a way of life. The comic cut-ups and elephants are just a part of the many acts which will be presented in the three- ring circus appearing in Sikeston Thursday for performances at 4 and 8 p.m. at the rodeo ground.

Circus coming

King Bros. Circus, with three rings, is coming to Sikeston Thursday for two performances starting at 4 and 8 p.m. on the Jaycee Bootheel Rodeo grounds. The circus is sponsored by the Sikeston Lions Club.

Everyone is invited to visit the circus grounds Thursday when the circus arrives to watch the circus city in the making. Animals will be unloaded, fed and watered, and people can watch Maude, one of the elephants, and her pals help set up the big tent.

The show will include trapeze artists, acrobats, wire walkers, jugglers, clowns and trained animals with entertainment for the whole family.

Proceeds from the circus will go to Lions Club charity projects.

Merit system draws criticism

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri's merit system is "archaic" and should be completely revamped, a Republican state senator said today.

Sen. Richard M. Webster, R-Charthage,said in a news conference that the controversy over the appointment of Edward Haynes of Moberly as head of the state personnel system showed that the system should be brought more closely in line with U. S. Civil Service standards.

Haynes was nominated by Gov. Christopher S. Bond after placing fifth in examinations. The governor refused to pick from the top three and asked for letters of waiver from two of the top three, so Haynes could be eligible.

One of those who waived, Edward Godar, also waived 20 years ago when the retiring head of the merit system, Norris F. Steenberger, was appointed. Steenberger announced his retirement last fall.

During Steenberger's tenure, Webster said, written examinations were dropped and the written examination score now is based only on a written application. Applications also were graded on a 20-minute interview.

Applicants from private industry were automatically weeded out, Webster said. Thirty-five applicants were eliminated, leaving 12, all associated in some way with state government, vying for the $18,000-ayear job.

The personnel director is in chanrge of the state's merit system, under which more than 10,000 state workers are employed.

Abandoning of the written exam is the "greatest weakness" in the method of selecting the director, Webster said.

The Senate Gubernatorial Appointments Committee is likely to reject Haynes, Webster said, although committee members have nothing against him.

"There has been criticism of too much advice and consent required by the Senate," Webster said. "If we had not required advice and consent, we would have gone rocking along with an archaic system without knowing it was an archaic system."

He said Bond "did what he had to do under the system" by seeking letters of waiver to try and get something he felt was qualified.

Webster said he could find nothing in the law permitting waivers for the position.

Bond has said there was no politics involved in his selection of Haynes.

Betterment officials tour E. Prairie area

EAST PRAIRIE — Guy Park Krause of Jefferson City, state director of the Community Betterment Program, said Tuesday, "Involvement is the key word for a successful Community Betterment Program. It is important that 100 years from now people can look back and see what the people in 1973 cared about their town."

Krause, along with Jerry Shirley, also with the Community Betterment Program of the Division of Commerce and Industrial Development and Jerry Halsell of Blytheville, Ark., Community Betterment representative for Arkansas-Missouri Power Co. and Associated Natural Gas Co., met in the community building with local CB members and representatives of the City Council, Chamber of Commerce and various youth groups.

The purpose of the meeting was to acquaint the state officials with local members and to inform them of various projects now being undertaken or recently completed.

Mrs. Ellouise Melton, chairman of the local Community Betterment Committee, and co- chairman James Barnhill both stressed the fact that this year's program has been youth-oriented and spoke highly of the number of youths involved in the projects.

Included in the youth projects this year are shuttle service for the elderly at the public housing units, erection of "Welcome to East Prairie" signs, glass pickups for the sheltered workship in Sikeston, animal clinic, art displays, houses of the month, trash pickup, tree planting, roadblock for the cancer fund drive, park decorations during Christmas, sandbagging of levees, refreshment stands for evacuees and work on the new Grace Bright Campbell Memorial Park.

Those present were asked by Krause to name one thing which, in their opinion, is needed to improve their town. Listed among the needed improvements were street and water projects, (now under way), recreation program, further beautification and the alteration of public opinion of East Prairie.

Projects which have the most involvement and which received the highest degree of accomplishment during the past year were the purchase of park property and the renovation of the old VFW building, which will be completed by September for scouts to use a scout cabin.

The Community Betterment Committee was complimented by the state team for the number of projects completed or in progress.

In conclusion, Shirley said, "You are doing a good job and we use you as an example. East Prairie won first prize in its population category at last year's awards banquet in Jefferson City.

said. He said the extended forecast was for continued rain today giving way to drier conditions for the remainder of the week.

The Missouri River, which inundated farmland and forced evacuations Monday, was nearing crest at most points Tuesday and is expected to reach 37 feet at St. Charles Friday, 12 feet above flood stage.

The predicted surge of the Mississippi at St. Louis was not expected to cause serious flooding in the city, which is protected by a flood wall designed to withstand a 52-foot river level. All 38 city flood gates were closed Tuesday.

Low cost loans will be made available to those whose property has been damaged, they said, but not until after the water recedes and accurate damage estimates can be made.

Underclassmen star

A couple of underclassmen teamed up on a rainy afternoon to give the Sikeston Bulldogs a 4-0 victory over previously unbeaten Charleston. Strong efforts by sophomore pitcher Kenny Stokes and junior second baseman Bill Shatzley enabled the Bulldogs to even their record at 2-2 and defeat another opponent --- the weatherman. Despite threatening conditions and a light rain through most of the contest, the Bulldogs were able to get in their fourth game after suffering through 12 rainouts.

Stokes fanned a dozen Blue Jay batters with a good fastball while hurling the four hitter. It was the first Sikeston shutout of the year. The sophomore righthander was threatened in just one inning, the fourth as he pushed his record to 1-1.

Shatzley sparkled at second was involved in two doubleplays. He also collected three of Sikeston's five hits and stole two bases.

The defense was solid for both teams in the game. A dropped fly ball surprisingly accounted for the only error, despite the fact that the game was played under less-then favorable conditions.

It was the bottom part of the order that did the damage for SHS. The 7-8-9 men in the order accounted for three runs and all five hits. Danny Nelson had two R-B-I's and Donnie Taylor added another.

Sikeston threatened in the first and broke loose against losing pitcher Junior Delay in the second. Rick Eisenbach opened the inning by being hit by a pitched ball. Following a strikeout, Shatzley contributed his first safety and Taylor followed with a run- scoring single. Nelson stroked a single to score a couple and minutes later stole home to cap the rally.

Stokes was wild high, but gave Charleston little hope throughout the game. The sophomore worried his teammates and coaches by throwing the ball too high all game, but the young hurler proved to be too quick for the CHS batters. The only time Charleston threatned was the fourth when the first two singled. But a double play on a pop up took Charleston right out of the inning.

Sikeston tries to go over the 500-mark in a 4 o'clock contest the afternoon at Cape Central. Cape Central is one of the area's top teams and is seeded number one in the district tournament for the big schools next week. Slated to start the contest for Sikeston is Mitchell Walker, a winner the last time out over Notre Dame.

Clayton stars in spring game

MURRAY, Ky.,-- The annual Blue- Gold game last weekend which ended spring football practice at Murray State University got a plus rating from Coach Bill Furgerson.

"Although the kicking game was probably the outstanding facet of the game, I thought we did several other things well," Furgerson said. "I thought the game was marked by fine, aggressive play by both sides, which points up the competition we have had for positions all spring, and I was impressed with the spirit and attitude of the squad.

"We were hampered by bad weather all spring and had trouble putting a few days practice together until last week. But when we finally got some continuity in our practice I thought we made lots of progress.

"The muddy field the night of the game hurt the ball carriers but despite the poor conditions, I thought they showed promise."

The Blue team, composed of the first offensive and defensive units beat the White team, made up of the rest of the squad, 23- 0 in the game. Don Clayton, of Malden, Mo., tailback for the Blues, was the game's leading rusher with 90 yards, 47 of which came on a touchdown gallop on the last play of the game. Tom Pandolfi quarterbacked the Blues and completed 11 of 31 passes for 167 yards. Ken Galtney was his leading receiver with 4 catches for 84 yards.

Steve Martin punted for both teams and averaged 37.2 yards on 11 kicks. He had one 64- yarder.

The Blue defense held the Whites ton only 17 yards rushing and 99 passing. White quarterback Mike Hobbie completed 6 of 23 passes and had 3 intercepted. Linebacker Tom Johnson had one of the interceptions and returned it 45 yards for a touchdown. Cornerbacks Paul Coltharp and Mark Hickman had the others.

Tackle Jay Waddle had 9 tackles and 2 assists for the Blues. End Jim McPeake had 4 and 1, Coltharp 4 and 2, and Linebacker Bruce Farris of Sikeston, Mo., had 3 and 5. Matt Schappert and Chuck Wempe each had 4 tackles and 1 assist for the Whites.

'Jethro' masters hitters

BENTON — Coach Jim Thornsberry's Kelly Hawks are finding that sand can be a real blessing when it comes to playing baseball as their diamond has been the only one playable in the last few weeks due to the consistent rains which have drenched southeast Missouri.

Kelly can be extra thankful as all their competition has to come to their back yard to play which gives the Hawks the home field advantage.

Kelly ran their season record to 7-2 Tuesday afternoon by turning back the East Prairie Eagles 6-3 in Scott- Mississippi conference play Kelly is 3-1 in league action.

Jeff "Jethro" Jackson was the winning pitcher for the Hawks, giving up three unearned runs in the top of the third inning. The big righthander has allowed only one earned run in 42 innings and sports a ERA of 0.167. Jackson fanned 13 Eagles in the contest and has whiffed 74 in the 42 innings pitched.

The game was scoreless until the Hawks started making a few throwing errors allowing three runs to cross the plate.

Tim Bard handled the Hawks with ease until the bottom of the fifth when Kelly rallied for two runs.

Jackson kept the Eagles at bay until the Hawks rallied for the winning runs in the bottom of the sixth inning as Bob Cresno and Bob Jackson batted in the tying and winning runs.

Shortstop Richard Urhahn was the hitting star for the Hawks with three for three at the plate and two runs batted in. Brasher as the only other Hawk to get more than one safety, smacking two singles in three at bats.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Carlos Reynoso scored goals in the eighth and 24th minutes of the first half Tuesday night to lead America of Mexico to a 2-1 victory over the New York Cosmos of the North American Soccer League.

New Eagles Coach Mike McCormick, who announced the action Tuesday, said he felt it was a good opportunity for 32-year-old Ballman because AllAmerican tight end Charles Young of USC was a top Eagle draft choice, and "Ballman did not fit into our plans."

Ballman, acquired from Pittsburgh in 1967, caught 320 passes for 37 touchdowns and 5,328 yards in his 11-season NFL career.

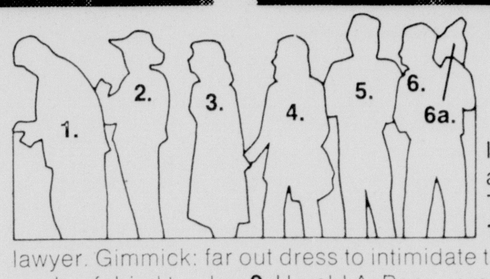
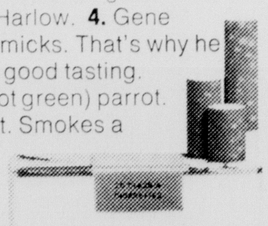
Can you spot the Camel Filters smoker?

©1972 R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.



In this picture everybody has a gimmick . . . almost everybody. Try picking the one who doesn't go along. 1. Nope. He's Alfonso Cliggitt, divorce lawyer. Gimmick: far out dress to intimidate the opposition. Smokes cigarettes made of dried tundra. 2. Harold A. Baer, rare book expert. ("Books Old and Rare from Harry Baer.") Thinks rolling his own makes him look younger. A real dingbat. 3. If she's the Camel Filters smoker, the guy with the beard is Jean Harlow. 4. Gene Harlow. 5. Right! He's just himself. And he sees through all the gimmicks. That's why he smokes an honest, no-nonsense cigarette. Camel Filters. Easy and good tasting. Made from fine tobacco. 6. A. Boswell Farquar. Gimmick: a white (not green) parrot. Hasn't seen a movie in years. They won't let his parrot in. 6a. Parrot. Smokes a meerchaum pipe but has trouble keeping it lit.



Camel Filters. They're not for everybody (but they could be for you).

Cards win 2nd

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals, victims of a seven-game losing streak, took the first step Tuesday night in reversing that trend as they shutout the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-0 here for their second win of the season.

"I feel like we ought to break out the champagne," said Redbird Coach George Kissell. "This is like winning the seventh game of the World Series."

Cardinal Manager Red Schoendienst was equally pleased with the results of the contest, especially after withstanding 12 losses in the club's first 13 games.

"It's good to see a shutout, especially when you've been losing and losing and losing," Schoendienst said, but he added that he still wanted to see more action from St. Louis bats as the Cardinals managed only eight hits off Dodger starte Claude Osteen and reliefer Pete Richert while stranding nine.

"We've got a shutout. Now we need a couple of big innings," he said.

Right-hander Rick Wise went the distance for the Redbirds, scattering only six hits on his way to his second victory against one defeat, to be the only Cardinal pitcher with a victory this year.

"I had good location on my pitches," said Wise, who tossed the ball only 104 times in his nine-inning performance. "I was making them hit my pitch."

The Cardinals got on the scoreboard in the second when Joe Torre singled to left, advanced to second on a walk to Ted Simmons and scored on a one-out single to right by Jose Cruz. Simmons moved to third on Cruz's safety and the bases were loaded after Osteen passed shortstop Ray Busse.

Then the lack of Redbird hitting struck as Osteen fanned Wise and got Lou Brock to force Busse at second.

The Cardinals scored their other run in the fifth on back-to-back doubles by Brock and Ted Sizemore. Sizemore's run-scoring double kicked up chalk on the left-field foul line.

"It hit the outside part of the line," said Vern Benson, third base coach. "Psychologically, you don't know what winning a game like this can mean to us."

Foucault stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's not how many hits you get, a baseball observer once observed. It's what you do with them.

The Texas Rangers did lots more with their meager four hits than Detroit did with its seven Tuesday night and that's why that Tigers came out on the short end of a 2-1 American League decision.

That, and Steve Foucault.

Foucault, a 23-year-old rookie, handled a pressurepacked ninth inning like a veteran to save the victory for the Rangers. He got power-hitting Willie Horton to rap into a rally-killing double play and then stranded the tying run on third base by retiring Aurelio Rodriguez on a grounder.

Thank you, Mr. Foucault.

Elsewhere in the American League Tuesday, Chicago trimmed the New York Yankees 8-4, Minnesota beat Boston 6-4, Milwaukee defeated Kansas City 9-1, Oakland shut out Cleveland 4-0 and California topped Baltimore 6-5 in 10 innings with ex-Oriole Frank Robinson smashing a key threerun homer against his old team.

In the National League, San Francisco beat Chicago 4-2 in 10 innings, Atlanta whipped Philadelphia 11-2, Montreal defeated Cincinnati 7-2, San Diego downed Pittsburgh 7-5, St. Louis shut out Los Angeles 2-0 and Houston beat the New York Mets 4-2.

The Rangers, accustomed to only a few hits per game, made them count against the Tigers. Dave Nelson singled, stole second, was sacrificed to third and scored on Rico Carty's high bouncer in the first inning against Mickey Lolich. One hit, one run

In the seventh, Carty reached on a fielder's choice, moved up on a wild pitch and scored on Rich Billings. Another hit, another run.

Robinson supplied a touch of drama to his first meeting with his old Baltimore teammates. He slugged a three-run homer that helped California wipe out an early five-run Baltimore lead.

The Angels tied the score in the bottom of the ninth on Bob Oliver's pinch single and then won it in the 10th when Jim Spencer delivered his third hit of the game, a bases-loaded single.

Kansas City proved that getting less hits than the other guys doesn't necessarily mean you're going to win the ball game The Royals managed just three against Milwaukee's Jerry Bell and came up losers against the Brewers.

Chicago rocked the Yankees with a five-run fourth inning ignited by Bill Melton's fifth homer of the year. Eddie Leon and Carlos May also homered for the White Sox, which goes to prove that Dick Allen isn't the only home run threat on that club.

Larry Hisle, a National retread, clubbed his fourth homer of the American League season, touching off a five-run Minnesota rally that carried the Twins past Boston.

Ken Holtzman and Horacio Pina combined for Oakland's shut out against Cleveland, limiting the Indians to six hits. Ted Kubiak homered for the A's, who beat Gaylord Perry for the fifth straight time over two seasons.

Dexter golfers set meet record

Coach Jim Hall's Dexter Bearcat clubbers set a school meet record Tuesday as they shot a team score of 157 to defeat the visiting Sikeston Bulldog golfers who shot 176. This marked the fourth time this season that a Sikeston opponent has set a meet record while battling a winless SHS squad.

Vancil of Dexter took medalist honors for the match with a nine hole total of 36. Useted and Southerland each shot 40 while Ulen rounded out the top four with a round of 41.

For Sikeston, Dennis Meyer was low shooter with a round of 41 on the Dexter course. Galen Kruger had a 44, Mark Shw a 45, and Bill Wake a 46 to complete the varsity with a score of 176.

Bulldogs' junior varsity captured its first victory of the season as they dropped the Bearcats in a three- man match, 149- 164. Chris Alberts took medalist honors for the jayvees with a 44. Ron Priday and Lance Hesselrode turned in scores of 51 and 54 respectively for SHS.

Sikeston was slated to host the Poplar Bluff Mule golf team this afternoon at the Sikeston country club, but at last report there was some doubt as to whether the course had been made unplayable by the rains this week.

Colonels make it

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — The Kentucky Colonels made it decisive, leading all the way as they finished off the Carolina Cougars to join Indiana in the American Basketball Association's championship finals.

Dan Issel paced the 107-96 victory with a game-high 31 points and he added 17 rebounds to his scoring barrage Tuesday night as the Colonels won the best-of-seven East Division playoff series four games to three.

Kentucky and Indiana will meet in a nationally televised opener at Louisville Saturday to open their series for the ABA championship. The defendingchampion Pacers won the West title over Utah in six games.

"I was delighted with the win," said Colonels' Coach Joe Mullaney. "It was a tough game against a good team away from home and I'm very proud of our guys."

Carl Scheer, president and general manager of the Cougars, said it was "a great season abruptly ended." But he added, "I suppose on reflection it was an outstanding season," one in which Carolina jumped to a division lead right at the start and never relinquished it.

Meanwhile, only one game stands in the way of settling both the Eastern and the Western Conference playoffs in the National Basketball Association.

The New York Knicks lead 31 going into tonight's Eastern game with the Celtics at Boston Garden and the Los Angeles Lakers lead by the same margin as they play host to the Golden State Warriors at the Forum.

Whether Boston captain John Havlicek will be able to play awaits a final decision by the team physician, Dr. Thomas Silva. Havlicek suffered a painful shoulder bruise last Friday and missed Sunday's game, a double-overtime loss.

In the West, the defendingchampion Lakers also have injuries to surmount for tonight's game, with two key players hobbling. Starting forward Jim McMillian has a knee injury and No. 1 reserve Keith Erickson has a bad ankle.

Walton among ABA draftees

By TED MEIER Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Now it's the turn of the "Lively League", the slogan of the American Basketball Association when it came into existence six years ago, to hold its draft of college players today.

The ABA has twice postponed its draft in order to follow that of the rival National Basketball Association and, while its session likely will not be as lively as the NBA's on Tuesday, it will be interesting to note if many of the same players are chosen.

Particularly interesting is what player will be the No. 1 choice. Doug Collins of Illinois State was the NBA's No. 1, taken by Philadelphia.

Before the start of this socalled "public" draft, ABA Commissioner Bob Carlson is expected to release the names of players selected in its secret, or "private" draft, as the ABA terms it, last January.

The San Diego Conquistadors pick first in the ABA and, even though he has said he will finish his career next season at UCLA, they are expected to select All-American Bill Walton of the national collegiate champion Bruins.

Memphis will pick second after San Diego, followed by San Antonio, New York, Virginia, Denver, Indiana, Utah, Kentucky and Carolina.

Collins no. 1 NBA draften

NEW YORK (AP) — The 1973 National Basketball Association's college draft is over but the bitter taste of the Brisker affair remains.

Philadelphia, foiled in a lastminute attempt to delay the already twice-postponed draft, announced before making the first pick Tuesday that it planned further action to get a first-round choice it feels it should have because of Seattle's signing of John Brisker.

The 76ers then opened the draft by picking Olympian Doug Collins of Illinois State, whom some pro scouts describe as having "the quickest hands and feet in college" basketball.

Three All-Americans also were first-round selections—guard Ernie DiGregorio of Providence, by Buffalo; Kermit Washington of American University, by Los Angeles, and guard Ed Ratleff of Long Beach State, by Houston.

It was a day of apprehension and annoyance for NBA commissioner Walter Kennedy.

At 10:30 a.m., EST, famed trial lawyer Louis Nizer, representing the 76ers, went before a judge in the Second U.S. Court of Appeals here asking for a temporary restraining order that would stay the draft.

The 76ers sought the injunction so that they could initate action in an attempt to restore a ruling made by Kennedy last November that awarded Philadelphia Seattle's firstround draft pick as a payment for signing Brisker, a former American Basketball Association player who was the NBA property of the 76ers. Seattle, picking fourth, took Mike Green of Louisiana Tech.

At 11:30 a.m., the NBA announced that a judge had refused to issue a restraining order and that the draft would start as scheduled at noon. At noon, Kennedy had to fret for 65 minutes because of difficulty in hooking up a telephone conference call, the means by which the draft was conducted.

Then came the first pick of the draft, which Philadelphia earned by having the worst record in the Eastern Conference and by winning a coin toss with Portland, which had the worst mark in the West.

But before picking Collins, Philadelphia General Manager Don DeJardin announced, "We exercise this pick under protest before these proceedings commence. He also said that an effort would be made to get a reversal of a U.S. District Court ruling overturning a decision made by Kennedy last November when Brisker signed with Seattle after having played with the now defunct Pittsburgh club of the ABA.

For a time it looked as if Philadelphia might give up the right of picking first. However, a trade that would have sent the draft pick to Chicago for veteran guard Bob Weiss and center Cliff Ray fell through when Ray, who had a knee injury this past season, failed to pass a 76ers' physical.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Just a few lines about the talk and bickering over high meat prices and farm products. In the past 20 years we have had a surplus of grain and other farm products, and we had cheap prices.

In the year 1968 Orville Freeman then Secretary of Agriculture was in Sikeston and his reason was the surplus; for our cheap prices; at that time we were getting $2.50 for beans, 85 cents to 90 cents a bushel for corn; 15 cents to 18 cents for hogs and 25 cents to 28 cents for cattle. Now we have gotten rid of a surplus and we have better prices so what does the government do, they take 13 million acres out of set- aside and ask us to produce another surplus for cheap prices for the consumer; while we continue to pay high prices for shoes, clothing, farm equipment, and automobiles.

If we can put a ceiling on these meat prices or farm products, why can't it be done on all items.

If food prices did rise as rapidly as other cost's then the consumer would have something to howl about. If farm and food prices had increased at the same rate as other important items in the Nation's economy we would have something like this; in 1950 steers in Kansas City were bringing $31.50 per dundred weight — compared with the rise in medical care today they would be $72.34 per hundred weight, or the average hourly wage rates; $80.69 per hundred weight on cattle.

As a farmer I can't understand how and why they can fuss so much when some of these very people who are on the Boycott, their husbands or families are making an average of $6.80 per hour in the processing plants, and the Union Truck driver hauling this meat to the store $4.50 or more per hour, and the local supermarket butcher getting another $3.50 to $4.50 per hour wage; and then they think the farmer is the one to cut down.

These people who have howled so loud about the price of meat, continue to buy $5000 to $9000 cars, expensive boats, stereo equipment, and other non food items; I would gladly help them boycott these things.

As an irrated farmer who has waded the mud and snow to feed all winter I feel I am speaking out for some of the other farmers, by writing and expressing my opinion; But being a farmer we are to set back and not speak out.

Sincerely,
Paul Joe Witt

Dear Charles,

Enclosed please find some pictures from the Steele, and Bloomfield papers. These pictures show the respective mayors signing the Girl Scout proclamation during the Week of March. I went to a lot of trouble to get a picture or our mayor signing the same proclamation here in Sikeston, but was told by your office that your paper doesn't print proclamations anymore. Fine, but why wouldn't they print the picture? It's not news that over 1000 girls in Sikeston and over 4 million across the nation are celebrating their birthday!!! I guess the editors of those papers think anything concerning their town is news. On the other hand maybe you had too much advertisement that day to be able to print it.

You will also find a picture I clipped from last nights paper, (April 11, 1973) of the new schools ground breaking. Could you please identify these men???? I'm really teasing, I know who they are, but I would like to point out to you that I have brought many a picture in and was told that they could not be printed unless they could be identified.

I want to say in closing that I really enjoy your paper and look forward to it each evening (even the advertising, it helps me to find bargains) and wouldn't want to do without it, but how about a little bit more cooperation with the Girl Scouts of Sikeston.!!!!

Sincerely,
Bonnie Dyer

Dear Editor:

On February 27, 1973, some 200 gun- toting supporters of the American Indian Movement (AIM) seized the hamlet of Wounded Knee, on the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation in South Dakota.

Clearly still savoring the triumph of the AIM- led occupation and destruction of the headquarters of the Bureau of Indian Affairs in Washington, D. C., (November 2-8, 1972), AIM leaders declared the 40 acre area around Wounded Knee "an independent sovereign nation." Meanwhile, a group of Indians conferred with U.N. Undersecretary, General Chakravarthi Narasihman of India, demanding that "the Indian nation" be admitted to the UN as an independent state.

Vernon Bellecourt, an AIM leader, said that the Indian nation had the right to apply for such membership.

The American Indian Movement was founded in Minneapolis, Minnesota in July 1968. It has since become a national organization and boasts some 65 chapters throughout the country.

A remarkably candid story on the curious events at Wounded Knee in TIME magazine of March 26 pointed out that:

Wounded Knee had become a kind of trap, particularly for television. It was obviously a major event that demanded thorough coverage. AIM leaders were so successful in getting their side of the story across, and so enthralled by the attention they were receiving, that they seemed willing to prolong the deadlock for the sake of still more publicity. Most newsmen watched helplessly as the thin line between covering and creating news wavered.

To add to the strange series of events at Wounded Knee, a number of leftwing individuals and groups have been taking an active part.

Among the "civil rights" notables who showed up at Wounded Knee to affirm — in one way or another — their solidarity with the AIM takeover were comedian Dick Gregory, and apostle of non-violence the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy. Also on the scene and taking an active part was militant "civil rights" lawyer Willaim Kunstler.

The March 17 issue of the communist newspaper DAILY WORLD reported that "organizations like the National Lawyers Guild and the National Council of Churches, both on the scene, have been giving the beseiged Indians legal and material aid."

The National Lawyers Guild was described by the House Committee on Un-American Activities in its report on this organization as "the foremost legal bulwark of the Communist Party."

The same article also revealed that "Lonnie Healey, secretary of the Communist Party's Commission of Indian Liberation" was on the scene.

A UPI dispatch of March 17 reported that Bureau of Indian Affairs police, armed with a blanket summons issued by the Oglala Sioux Tribal Council, ordered about 20 NCC representatives to leave Wounded Knee as "undesirables" for aiding and abetting the militant Indians. The NCC representatives, however, ignored the summons.

A statement issued by Secretary of the Interior Rogers C. B. Morton, asserted that:

". . . there has grown up in the wake of the black militant movement in this country a revolutionary Indian movement. Dramatic violence is its pattern. Some are renegades, some youthful adventurers, some have criminal records."

AIM has received a significant amount of financial support from religious denominations and church related groups. According to news reports:

 The American Lutheran Church's Division of Social Service is credited with having provided AIM with $37,000 since 1969.

 AIM's original office was provided by the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of St. Paul- Minneapolis. The Archdiocese is also credited with giving $15,650 to the Minneapolis chapter of AIM and $14,200 to the St. Paul AIM chapter.

 In 1971 the Roman Catholic Campaign for Human Development (CHD) gave a reported $40,000 to help develop AIM chapters across the country. In 1972, $40,000 was given by CHD to AIM's Indian Survival School in Minneapolis.

 The United Methodist Board of Global Ministries' National Division gave some $4,000 to the AIM- led "Trail of Broken Treaties Caravan" which culminated in the physical destruction of the Bureau of Indian Affairs headquarters in Washington, D.C.

 The Episcopal Church provided $10,000 to the "Trail of Broken Treaties."

 The November-December 1972 issue of IFCO NEWS reported that the Interreligious Foundation for Community Organization, with headquarters at 475 Riverside Drive in New York City, the same address as the National Council of Churches, reported that "The AIM mission has been facilitated by $30,000 of IFCO funds over the past four years."

 On January 22 the World Council of Churches (WCC) announced that its controversial Special Fund to Combat Racism had granted $6,000 to AIM.

We doubt that many church members who contributed to any of the above religious groups would be pleased that their money has been used to finance this sort of "Red Power."

The above report was published April 1, 1973 by the Church League of America, Wheaton,Ill. This organization has dedicated 37 years to exposing the "activities" of the National Council of Churches. Therfore, the Church League of America is well qualified in making these statements that are re- searched. They offer information that seldom filters down from the NCC Headquarters in New York City to the local church member. Since the local church member helps to finance the NCC "activities", is he not entitled to have this information?

Mrs. Clifford LaPlant

Dear Mr. B—
Thanks to Sam Harbin, our superintendant of schools, for the informative talk he gave at the last meeting of Sikeston Junior Woman's Club. We want to share some of his comments with your readers, since his discussion centered on the 'raw material aspect' of education. And this involves everyone in our community who knows a child.

The real estate value of our school system is above 17 million dollars. This includes the equipment, buildings and facilities with which the school system prepares our youngsters (the 'raw material' of our community) for their futures.

The school system needs more in-put from parents by way of understanding:

1)"school age parents" formerly called the pregnant school girl; one out of 10 women becomes pregnant before whe is 18 and, if progressing with the average, her child will enter school at the age of five. It is the responsibility of the school system to keep the school age parent in school and continue her education to prepare her for a future in the job world. In this way, she will be less likely to raise a disadvantaged, under- stimulated child.

2) drug traffic probably exists in our school system. According to national narcotics bureau statistics, there is all probability of this traffic, although efforts of our staff and administration to learn sources and trafficking systems have not yet succeeded. There is, therefore, no conclusive proof of drug traffic. However, if a person of school age is involved in a questionable situation, the first information given about the person is usually 'a high school student' or a 'student at — high school'

3) quality staff: our staff is not perfect, but Harbin would be happy to compare it with any other staff in the area; parents, as greater per centages of our population become relatively well educated, demand higher quality staff and create a discussion issue that did not exist a few years ago.

4) and last, ATTORNEY GENERAL OPINION NUMBER 66: re free education in the State of Missouri, capsuled to say any school system must furnish all the materials used in any class offered (including band, football, and even the shorts and shirts for the physical education classes). If the attorney general is allowed to make this ruling, much of the money which goes now to hiring the more qualified people will go instead for supplies which private citizens have long been responsible. Write your congressman and senator.

Harbin will be happy to discuss any facet of the school system with any public and gladly answer questions.

Thank you for letting us share this with others involved with the school system, directly and indirectly. Donna Koch

Dear Editor:

The irate housewives, who should be irate, have taken dead aim on the price of meat by boycott. Unfortunately, they are going to make a large number of people suffer and lose their jobs who don't deserve to since they had nothing whatsoever to do with the high price of meat.

The real culprits are the free- spending Congressmen and the Administrations who have spent billions beyond tax income and have eroded and ruined the value of the dollar. They are the real offenders who have created inflation and high taxes by Congressional spending for pet projects. Two prime examples are $22,432,117.71 PER DAY for Foreign Aid and $416,681.48 PER DAY for the United Nations.

All right ladies — more power to you, but let's all of us take a point on the high-rolling "Big Spenders" in Congress -- the REAL CULPRITS who have caused high wages and prices!

Dear Mr. Blanton,

Sikeston Junior Woman's Club would like to thank the area merchants for their support in the advertising booklet for the Big River Appaloosa Horse Club show to be held at Sikeston Jaycee Bootheel Rodeo grounds April 28. The funds JWC receives from this project go into our community improvement fund to be used in purchasing equipment for pediatrics ward of Missouri Delta Community hospital.

Our objective is to assist in equipping our local hospital to attend cases which now must be referred to large, complex hospitals in St. Louis or Memphis. Sikeston merchants' support is helping us attain this goal. Our hospital is a community effort, and JWC just wished to thank those who took an extra step in community involvement.

Thank you,

Dear Mr. Blanton:

I want to take this opportunity to thank your newspaper and especially Mary Nolen, for the fine article in Tuesday's edition. The article was well written and I had several comments from individuals who stated that the article provided them with information regarding the duties of a probation officer that they did not know. Our department is appreciateive of any newspaper coverage that informs the public about our duties.

I had approached Miss Nolen about such an article and was happy that she agreed to do one. I have watched her in her duties covering court news and feel that she represents your paper in a splendid manner.

Again, accept my personal thanks for the article.

Dear Mr. Blanton,

Sunday, I drove around our city to see all the spring beauty we have here. Instead of letting this weather dampen our spirits, perhaps we would all get a lift to our spirits if we would load up the family in the car and take a drive through our own city. I was reminded of a plaque I saw in Bellingraph Gardens in Mobile, Alabama years ago which reads — "If The Garden of Eden Could Be Any Prettier Than This."

In addition to the flowering beauty to be seen in our newer residential sections and down Kingshighway, there are 2 smaller homes that everyone should see. One is at 306 Edmondson near the tennis courts with pink azaleas in full bloom all around it now — and later on when we get a couple sunny days there is one at 317 Helen Ave. near the shopping center; a white house with Red Azaleas around it.

Appreciatively,
Mary Anna Sapp

What's the law?

The case of the drinking glass

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Rocky owned a cocktail lounge and decided to add a dab of artistic culture to its operation. He obtained a county license for a model studio and set aside a portion of his gin mill where his customers could paint, sketch and photograph live nude models.

While the venture failed to produce any Rembrandts or Picassos, it did produce the police, who charged Rocky with violating a county ordinance that prohibited the consumption of booze on the same premises as a licensed model studio.

"When we walked in," the officers testified in court, "Rocky's studio was loaded with bar flies who couldn't even draw files. It was a clear violation of the ordinance."

"Maybe so," was Rocky's answer, "but the ordinance is about as valid as a three- dollar bill. It not only deprives drinking people of equal treatment under the law, it also deprives them of their constitutional right of freedom of expression. Since the drinking class are entitled to the same privileges as anyone else, the ordinance is discriminatory and can't be enforced against me."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you invalidate the ordinance as being discriminatory against the drinking class?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that the ordinance was reasonable in permitting abstaining, sober persons to attend model studios while prohibiting drinking and nonabstaining persons from doing so. Considering that the models were nude and would often assume many provocative poses, noted the judge, and considering further that inhibitions are loosened by alcohol, the possibility of lewd hanky- panky between drinker and the model would be great, thereby adversely affecting the general welfare.

Postal system investigated

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — The Independent Postal System of America, an Oklahoma Citybased firm competing with the U. S. Postal Service for the junk mail business, is being investigated by the consumer fraud division of the Illinois attorney general's office in the area.

At least four complaints from metro-east residents have been received by the attorney general's East St. Louis office. They charge the firm misrepresented income potential for postal carriers. Each carrier is required to pay a $1,000 franchise fee for his route.

A federal grand jury in Oklahoma City also is investigating the multistate firm.

There are more than 150 IPSA routes operated by at least 100 carriers in this area. Many routes are owned by retired persons seeking supplemental income and by persons moonlighting as IPSA carriers to make more money.

One unemployed Belleville man complained that he was promised an income of $40 to $50 a day for his $1,000 investment.

One of the novel attractions on display by Sol's Liberty Shows, Inc., this week at the Sikeston Baseball Park, Highway 61, is the "Gangster Car" owned and managed by Eddie Moore, said to be the armoured Cadillac sedan used by Al Capone, Chicago's notorious gangster. Ordinarily weighting 450 pounds, the Capone car, by reason of its additional armoured plates, bulletproof glass, iron encased gas tank, and other embellishments tips the scales at slightly over 800 pounds.

The glass in all doors and windows is one inch thick; the tires are bullet- proof with tubes that cost $20 each. Special carburation allows the heavy sedan to move at top speed of 105 miles per hour.

Requests staff enlargement

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth says he needs additional lawyers on his staff to handle the increased number of cases filed against the state by prison inmates and others convicted of crimes.

Danforth said he sent a letter to Sen. Norman Merrell, D-Monticello, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, saying that money for his office cut from a House bill should be restored by the Senate.

The House cut Danforth's request of an additional $79,000 for six more assistants.

The Interstate Highway System, begun in 1956, was designed to be the nation's key highway network, serving both civilian and defense needs. When completed it will form a 42,500-mile web of rural and urban superhighways spanning the nation and connecting 93 per cent of all cities over 50,000 population. The World Almanac says. Routes with odd numbers run north and south, even-numbered routes run east and west.

Bargaining is opposed

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A group called Missourians for Right to Work, Inc., began a campaign Thursday against Missouri Senate passage of a bill to allow collective bargaining for public employes.

The bill is expected to be considered by the Senate in the next two weeks.

Gene Mittelberg, executive vice president of the Columbia group, said in a letter to senators that the bill would require payment of dues or fees to a private organization as a condition of employment.

He called it "extortion by legislation."

The bill would apply to employes of the state, cities or counties and would set up a Missouri Employes Relations Board.

The bill provides for elections supervised by the employe relations board, provides for mediation of disputes and for a check-off system of paying dues.

Mittelberg's group has supported a bill in the House to prohibit mandatory union membership as a condition of employment.

KC Board of Trade under investigation

Farmer issues conduct code

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Insurance Commissioner Edward Farmer made public today a code of conduct for his employes.

"It should never be necessary for the general citizen to know someone or have influence with someone to get a response from the division," Farmer said. "We will act on all inquiries from all persons with equal diligence."

No employe will be allowed to receive a gift or gratuity from any insurance company, he said. The restriction will not apply to gifts or favors of a "nominal intrinsic value."

No employe can have an outside job which may result in a conflict of interest, he said.

Also, no employe can, within two years after his job with the insurance division is ended, represent any insurance company in proceedings involving the division of insurance.

Violation of the standards of conduct would bring dismissal, Farmer said.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A charge that the Kansas City Board of Trade manipulated wheat futures prices has been under investigation by the U.S. Commodity Exchange Authority (CEA) since last July, a CEA spokesman said here Tuesday.

The allegation was made last summer by the American Bakers Association, which contended the Board of Trade manipulated the prices during the Russian wheat negotiations in order to increase government subsidies to major U.S. exporters.

Sam Gordon, regional director of the CEA office here, said, "We hope to have our investigation concluded by the end of this month or the first part of next month." Gordon said the results will be sent to Alex Caldwell, head of the CEA in Washington, and then released by Caldwell.

Recent published reports indicated the bakers' charge was turned over to a Board of Trade committee for investigation. The reports apparently prompted Rep. John Melcher, D-Mont., to suggest in Congress that CEA, the regulatory agency for commodity exchanges, be "completely reformed or abolished and replaced."

Melcher said, "There can be no justification for letting the Kansas City Board of Trade handle the investigation made to the CEA about occurrences at the Kansas City Board of Trade."

The allegation was filed with the CEA in Washington, Gordon said, "and we (in the Kansas City office) started making our investigation and then referred it to the Kansas City Board of Trade."

The CEA investigation continued independent of the marekt's own probe, he said.

The Board of Trade investigation, which ended in a finding that the bakers' charge was unfounded, cannot be released, said Walter Vernon III, the Board of Trade secretary, for the following reasons:

—"This is a matter which, as far as CEA is concerned, is still open."

—"We are hesitant to open raw date to the inexperienced press or anyone who doesn't understand it."

—The Board of Trade's counsel advised against releasing the findings because of financial statements and facts which are of private concern.

Gordon said the alleged price manipulations were referred to the Board of Trade because of a provision in the Commodity Exchange Act requiring contract markets to keep their houses clean.

As the demand by the Soviet Union and dwindling wheat supplies drove the price of American winter wheat from $1.64 to $2.15 a bushel last summer, bakers were rebuffed at least twice by the federal Price Commission in their efforts to gain approval for an additional cent on every one-pound loaf of bread.

On July 26, in a letter to the CEA, Joseph Creed, general counsel of the American Bakers Association, which represents 70 per cent of the market's dollar volume, noted the membership's concern with sharp sudden increases of prices domestically "despite the large surplus of wehat."

He said on at least two days in July final purchases of September wheat futures were made at prices "higher than levels which prevailed during the day," thus having "the effect of raising the subsidy payment on exports for the following day (and) beenfiting wheat exporters."

Wheat export subsidies — essentially the difference between world market and domestic wheat prices — jumped from less than 10 cents a bushel in July to a high of 47 cents a bushel on Aug. 25, 1972.

None of the major traders has reported prices they paid on the domestic market or when they registered for subsidies — thus giving no indications of profits they may have made in the Russian deal. There is nothing requiring them to make such reports public.

The bakers' charge was referred by the Board of Trade to its business conduct committee, a five-man body which in 1972 included a representative of Continental Grain Co., whose 189-million bushel sale to the Soviet Union was the largest among the exporters.

Neither Vernon nor Horace W. Johnston, the board's president last year, saw any possibility that a conflict of interest could sway the committee in its findings.

The 12-man board of directors has to approve the committee's report, Vernon said. "No one has more interest in the sanctity of the (Board of Trade) than ourselves."

Forbids discrimination

ST. LOUIS (AP)--A federal court here ruled Wednesday that girls cannot be prohibited from competing with boys on public school athletic teams.

The Eighth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals struck down a rule of the Minnesota State High School League that bars girls from taking part in boys' athletics. Judge Gerald Heany, writing for a three-judge panel, rejected a league argument that the physiological differences between boys and girls makes it impossible for girls to compete equitably with males in sports.

The ruling said the league argument was susceptible to discrimination based on sterotyped notions about the nature of the sexes. The judge said no objective evidence had been brought forth to compare boys and girls in co-ordination, agility and timing.

The court ruling specifically allows two Minnesota high school girls to participate in non-contact interscholastic sports with boys.

The judge said, however, that the court was not ruling on whether schools could provide separate but equal athletic opportunities for boys and girls-or whether discrimination might be justified in contact sports such as football.

'Nixon has made no decision'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House says President Nixon has made "no decision at all" on whether to fire top-level aides as a result of the Watergate affair.

Nixon spokesmen deny reports that Secretary of State William P.Rogers has been asked to head a post- Watergate shakeup of the White House staff and that the President was in any way involved in a reported offer of executive clemency to conspirators already convicted.

The chief spokesman for the Nixon re- election drive, DeVan L. Shumway, said he was not told the whole truth at the time he was issuing blanket denials of high- level knowledge of political-espionage plans.

And Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., past chairman of the Republican National Committee, said that, from his observation of "the players involved," it is entirely conceivable the Watergate plot could have been hatched without Nixon's knowledge.

The Washington Post reported, meanwhile, that the Nixon campaign committee spent $8,400 — mostly in $100 bills — on a publicity drive aimed at fabricating bipartisan support for the President's decision last spring to mine Haiphong harbor.

It said $4,400 was spent on a "deceptive, apparently illegal" advertisement in The New York Times rebutting that paper's editorial position. The Post said that, although the half- page ad appeared to have been prepared and purchased by a nonpolitical citizens' group, it actually was paid for with Nixon campaign funds.

Stating the expenditures never were reported to the General Accounting Office as required by law, the Post said the campaign also included writing and paying for telegrams of support sent to Nixon as well as for rallies and an organized telephone campaign supporting the decision to mine North Vietnamese harbors.

The Post said the expenses were authorized by Nixon's deputy campaign manager, Jeb Stuart Magruder. It quoted an unnamed former Nixon campaign official as saying the Committee for the Re- election of the President was "totally mobilized for the biggest piece of deception — we never do anything honestly."

"Imagine the President sending himself telegrams, patting himself on the back," the Post quoted the official as saying.

As the President flew back to Washington Tuesday night after a secluded four- day Florida holiday, White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told newsmen aboard Air Force One that, although Nixon had conferred by telephone with Rogers, the two had not discussed Rogers' spearheading an effort to revamp the White House staff.

ABC News had reported that Nixon had asked Rogers, a former attorney general and longtime presidential friend, to restore an "impeccable integrity" to the White House staff. State Department sources also denied that report.

Ziegler said Nixon has kept in daily contact with Watergate developments and added: "There are all sorts of rumors, but the President has made no decision at all regarding staff resignations."

He has asked specifically if Nixon is considering seeking such resignations as one course of action, but declined to comment further.

Earlier, Deputy Press Secretary Gerald Warren said there was no involvement by the President in an alleged offer of executive clemency to convicted Watergate burglar James W. McCord Jr. and others who pleaded guilty or were convicted in the case.

McCord's account came in an apparent transcript of his secret testimony before the federal Watergate grand jury furnished The Associated Press by columnist Jack Anderson.

Kissinger to meet Tho

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho are expected to meet in Paris in mid-May to discuss implementation of the Paris peace accords, White House sources said today.

This was disclosed after press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler made a formal announcement that Asst. Secretary of State William L. Sullivan and a North Vietnamese official will meet in Paris on Friday "to prepare a review of the implementation of the Paris agreements and appropriate measures to bring about the strict implementation of the agreements."

Sullivan, assistant secretary for East Asian affairs, will meet at 10 a.m. Paris time, with Hanoi's vice minister of foreign affairs, Nguyen Co Thach.

Just Tuesday the United States, in a formal note, accused North Vietnam of direct and inexcusable violations of the January Paris agreements on ending the war in Vietnam.

Sources said Sullivan and Thach would prepare a review as a prelude to a meeting between Kissinger, President Nixon's top foreign policy adviser, and Tho, a member of the North Vietnamese Politburo in Paris, around the middle of May.

Ziegler said the Sullivan Thach session was to seek full adherence by all parties to the peace accord and an end to the fighting throughout Indochina.

The United States, he said, "was doing everything possible" to achieve these ends. But he noted that Washington has complained "on many occasions" about violations attributed to Hanoi.

Friday's meeting was announced simultaneously by the White House and North Vietnam. In response to a question, Ziegler said the two parties had not adopted identical language for the announcement but that he anticipated Hanoi would say much the same thing in substance.

Ozark to resume talks

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Representatives of Ozark Air Lines and the striking Aircraft Mechanics Fraternal Association agreed to resume contract negotiations Tuesday at the request of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

Neither side, however, gave any indication that its position on wages, the main issue in the dispute, would be different when talks resume Thursday in Washington, D.C.

"Meeting will be difficult," said Charles Mounts, an Ozark vice president, "in view of the association's continued demands for wages and benefits exceeding those of the industry."

O. Delle Femine, national director of the AMFA, noted the union's position. "All of the issues involved are now the subject of negotiation," he said, "but the association has not changed its position on the issues. We feel the same way we did when we went on strike."

The 560 union members walked off the job last Thursday night following 13 months of fruitless negotiations with the carrier. They are seeking a 5.5 per cent pay boost plus 15 and 30-cent premiums for mechanics who hold airframe and power plant licenses. Top wage for Ozark mechanics is currently $6.02 an hour.

The company has offered a 2.7 per cent increase and a package it says is "the best in the industry" but does not include the premiums.

The walkout has halted Ozark operations in 62 cities and idled some 1,800 employes not directly involved in the strike.

The Illinois Airport Association asked Gov. Daniel Walker Tuesday to seek a settlement of the dispute because it is seriously affecting the economy of several Illinois communities served only by Ozark.

Emergency offices locations named

ST. LOUIS— Boyd Carder, manager of the Small Business Administration's eastern Missouri disaster branch office, today announced the locations of eight emergency offices where eastern Missouri disaster victims may apply for SBA's long- term low interest loans to repair or replace damaged homes, personal property, businesses, churches, and charitable institutions.

"Victims who live in any of the 21 eastern Missouri counties and the city of St. Louis which have been declared disaster areas by President Richard M. Nixon may apply for SBA disaster loans at one of the offices," Carder said.

The locations include: SBA disaster branch office, No. 5 American Industrial Drive, Maryland Heights, 63043 (hours Monday through Saturday from 8 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. and Sunday from noon to 6:30 p.m.

Hours for the following offices will be from 7 a.m. until the need is met each day: American Red Cross, 817 East High, Jefferson City; Ste. Peter's Church, Third and Jackson, St. Charles; Immaculate Conception Catholic Church, 2277 Church Road, Arnold; old high school, 1020 Broadway, Hannibal; Knights of Columbus, 600 Market St. Ste. Genevieve; armory in Charleston; and armory in Caruthersville.

In addition to the city of St. Louis, the affected Eastern Missouri counties are Scotland, Marion, Ralls, Pike, Lincoln, Callaway, Gasconade, St. Charles, Franklin, St. Louis, Jefferson, Ste. Genevieve, Perry, Cape Girardeau, Scott, Stoddard, Butler, Mississippi, New Madrid, Dunklin, and Pemiscot.

Carder explained that "SBA's disaster loans may be made for a period of up to 30 years and bear an interest rate of one per cent." In addition, the first $5,000 of each loan is forgiven by the government and does not have to be repaid.

Disaster victims may obtain direct home repair and replacement loans of up to $50,000 and loans of up to $10,000 for damaged or destroyed personal property. However, Carder noted, the maximum SBA can lend one borrower for both purposes may not exceed $55,000.

"Business men in the affected counties may receive direct SBA disaster loans of up to $500,000 to restore real property, machinery, equipment, fixtures and inventory," he added.

Carder emphasized that the SBA loans will be made available to qualified applicants only to the extend that the damage exceeds the applicant's insurance coverage.

The SBA disaster branch manager noted that, in contrast to most other recent major disasters, the Missouri flood disaster is still occurring after declaration.

He explained that this factor may slightly extend SBA's loan processing time on individual applications.

"Until the flood waters recede, our loan verifiers will not be able to get to and assess much of the damaged property," he explained.

"But we will get to all applicants' homes and businesses as soon as it is humanly possible, and we will provide disaster loans where they are needed," he stated.

"The first thing disaster victims should do is make a list of the kind and dollar amount of the damage sustained. They should then bring this list with them to one of our eight disaster loan processing offices, and we will do our very best to help them," Carder concluded.

Income loss expected to welfare recipients

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — No one knows exactly what effect proposed federal welfare legislation will have on Missouri, but it is expected to result in some loss of income to 85,000 old age, blind and disabled recipients.

Bert Shulimson, director of the Missouri Division of Welfare, told a Senate committee Tuesday night the state must act now to supplement the incomes of those 85,000 before Jan. 1, 1974.

Shulimson testified before the Senate Public Health, Welfare and Environment Committee wich took no action on a package of welfare bills made necessary by federal action.

In January, the federal government is scheduled to take over assistance programs for about 117,000 aged, blind and disabled persons now on Missouri welfare roles.

Shulimson told the committee the proposed federal income limits are now $130 a month for a single person or $150 a month if that person receives Social Security.

Shulimson said while it is hoped those income limits will eventually be raised, 85,000 of the 117,000 will suffer income losses unless the state passes legislation to supplement their incomes.

Shulimson appeared as welfare director and for Gov. Christopher S. Bond who has endorsed the welfare bills.

Bond delivered a $26.8 million welfare program to the legislature Monday which would supplement losses of income and services as a result of the proposed federal legislation.

Bond's program is an attempt to eliminate the need for a special legislative session to appropriate the welfare funds later this year if the federal legislation takes effect as scheduled in January.

Shulimson also presented three other welfare bills necessary to allow Missouri to comply with federal regulations and a recent U.S. Supreme Court decision.

Shulimson also asked the committee to provide funds for services to the aged, blind and disabled even though they will become federal recipients next year.

He said Missouri maintains 114 county welfare offices and one in the city of St. Louis. The federal program will maintain only 17 offices in the state, primarily for distribution of welfare checks, Shulimson said.

COOKING-UP with judy

The Irish were the first in Europe to recognize the value of the potato. The United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association tells us that the potato was introduced into Ireland between 1586 and 1588, and it soon became that country's main crop.

So let us salute the Irish fondness for the potato with some wonderful dishes in the Irish mood. In fact we can serve a whole meal in this spirit. The people of Erin love corned beef simmered to succulent perfection. We include a recipe for cooking this cut of meat since new cooks may need a little help with it.

Once you've had a meal of corned beef and cabbage with boiled potato — practically the national specialty of Ireland — you'll have leftovers for making delectable corned beef hash. Complete the meal with hot cabbage slaw, a different way to cook cabbage, and feature a fabulous loaf of homemade potato garlic bread. This meal is a noble celebration of the potato, and there are plenty of fine, fresh potatoes at your market now to make this delicious dinner.

The secret of good, homemade corned beef hash is to use plenty of potatoes cut in cubes and boiled only until just tender. The corned beef should also be cut in cubes so that the meat and potatoes keep a separate identity and don't cook down to a mushy consistency. This is a dish to set before a king when perfectly prepared as in the accompanying recipe.

Garlic potato bread has wonderful, earthy flavor and a robust texture. There is a real garlicky gusto to this bread, topped off, if you desire, with a sprinkle of coarse salt. Try this for great pleasure in eating.

It's a good idea to be sure potatoes are in your diet because they are basic. Contrary to rumor, potatoes are not fattening since there are only 105 calories in a cupful. It's the foods we add to potatoes that send up the calories, but potatoes by themselves are not a high calorie food.

CORNED BEEF

To corn beef:

1 4-pound brisket of beef
2 cups coarse salt or curing salt
2 cups packed dark brown sugar
1½ teaspoons bicarbonate of soda (baking soda)
4 teaspoons saltpeter (available at most drugstores as sodium nitrate)
1 clove garlic, minced
1 teaspoon whole cloves
1 teaspoon whole allspice
1 teaspoon whole peppercorns.
1 gallon water

Wash beef, pierce with a heavy fork and place in a procelain or earthenware pot (never unlined metal). Add salt, sugar, bicarbonate of soda, saltpeter, garlic, cloves, allspice and peppercorns. Add one quart lukewarm water and mix well; add remaining 3 quarts water to cover beef by 1½ inches. Refrigerate for 8 days. Each day turn meat. Discard the brine on the eighth day when ready to cook.

To cook beef:

1 onion, sliced
2 celery tops
1 rib celery
2 bay leaves
3 sprigs parsley

Rinse meat in cold water, place in a large kettle with cold water to cover. Bring to a boil; reduce heat and simmer for 1 hour. Pour off the water and add boiling water to cover. Add onion, celery tops and celery rib, bay leaves and parsley. Cover, bring to a boil, reduce heat and simmer for 3 to 3½ hours, until tender. Serve half sliced warm for dinner and reserve remaining corned beef for hash.

CORNED BEEF HASH

3 cups cubed pared potatoes
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup chopped fresh onion
1/3 cup chopped celery
¼ pound fresh mushrooms, chopped (1 cup)
2 teaspoons salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
3 cups cubed corned beef
1/2 cup milk

Boil potatoes in water to cover in a medium saucepan until tender, about 20 minutes. Ia large skillet, melt butter. Add onion, celery and mushrooms; cook until tender. Add salt, pepper, corned beef, drained potatoes and milk. Heat. Turn into flameproof baking dish and place under broiler for a few minutes until crusty and golden brown. Makes: 8 servings.

HOT CABBAGE SLAW

1 large cabbage (8 cups shredded)
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup chopped fresh onion
¼ cup vinegar
1/3 cup water
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon dried leaf basil
1 teaspoon caraway seeds

To prepare cabbage, remove coarse outer leaves and discard. Cut into quarters, cut out core and then cut into thin shreds. Melt butter in a large skillet. Add oinon and cook until tender. Add vinegar, water, salt, pepper, basil and caraway seeds. Mix well. Add cabbage and mix well. cook, covered for 10 to 15 minutes, until cabbage is crisp- tender.

Makes: 6 servings.

POTATO GARLIC BREAD

1 large potato
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup water
½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup sugar
½ cup dry milk powder
3 eggs
2 packages active dry yeast
¼ cup warm water
2 cloves garlic, crushed
5½ to 6 cups unsifted all-purpose flour

Pare and dice the potato. Place in a medium saucepan with salt and water. Cover and boil until tender. Remove from heat; add butter and sugar. Beat with electric mixer until potato is mashed and mixture is smooth.

Add milk powder and eggs, and beat until well blended. Dissolve the yeast in the warm water. Add to potato mixture with garlic and stir in enough flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out onto floured surface and knead until smooth and elastic. Place in a greased clean bowl, cover and let rise until doubled, about 1 hour. Punch down, cover and refrigerate overnight.

The next day remove from refrigerator and let rise at room temperature for 2 hours. Shape into one loaf and 8 rolls or two loaves. Place loaf in greased 9 x 5 x 3- inch baking pan; place rolls on greased baking sheet. Sprinkle, if desired, with coarse salt. Bake rolls in a 375- degree oven for 35 to 40 minutes. Bake loaf in 375- degree oven for 50 to 60 minutes or until loaf sounds hollow when tapped.

Makes: One 9- inch loaf and 8 large rolls.

We don't have any trouble making ends meet—it's getting the middle together that's the problem.

Considering all the criticism being aimed at the Administration in some quarters, perhaps they should change the name of the edifice to the "Why? House."

Flying would be lots more fun if they could eliminate take-offs and landings.

A man with time on his hands should tighten his wrist watch strap.

Coffee Corner by Cherie

The main differences I've found between little boys and little girls are that little boys feel definitely ...

that actions speak louder than words
that water is for fishing and soap is for nothing that loving comes at bedtime only that hair is for growing - and growing - and growing that clothes do not make the man
that loud noises and violent eruptions make a happy home
that dogs are preferable to sweethearts
that mothers are for teasing - and teasing- and teasing
that work is to be avoided
that unmade beds and messy rooms are equal to a suite at the Waldorf that mud is for squishing
that homework is for idiots
that trees are for climbing
that bugs are for keeping
that brothers are for fighting that food is for eating — constantly that grass is for laying in that mothers are for fathers — except when little boys need them; and I wouldn't have it any other way — would you?

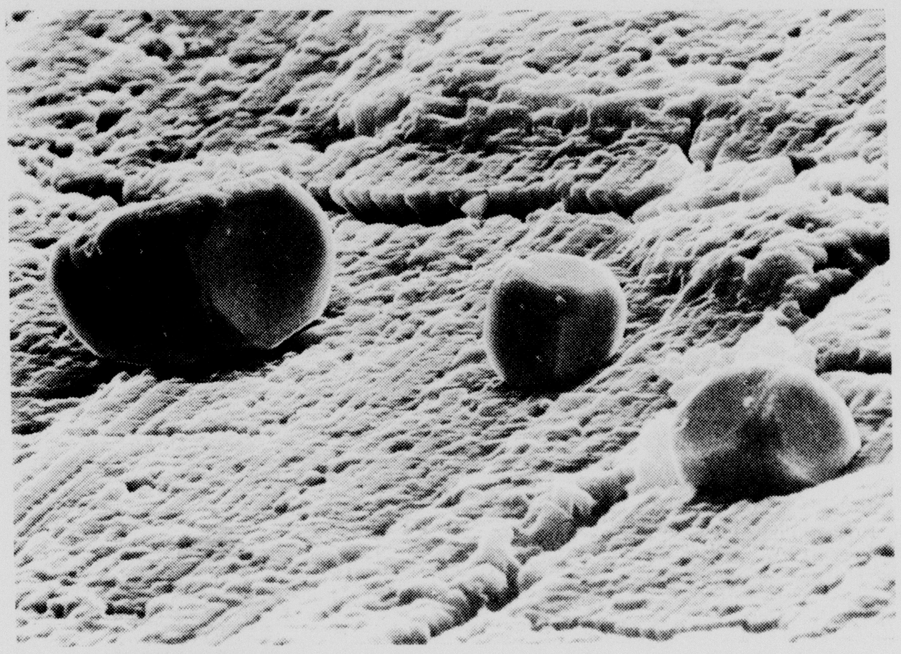
Moon Rocks may be old stuff even on earth these days, but not even astronauts have seen anything quite like this. Looking almost like the real thing scattered across the desolate lunar surface, these "rocks" are actually tiny iron crystals in specimens brought back from the Hadley-Apennine region landing site by the Apollo 15 mission. They are so small that 1,000 crystals would fit on the edge of a sheet of paper.



Congress extends OAA

WASHINGTON — Congress Friday repassed Missouri Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton's bill to revise and extend for three years the provisions of the Older Americans Act of 1965.

The unanimous passage in both the Senate and House came after Eagleton announced that he, House managers of the bill and the White House had reached a compromise on the once- vetoed legislation.

Eagleton, chairman of the Subcommittee on Aging of the Labor and Public Welfare Committee and author of the bill, noted that it was substantially similar to legislation passed last October, but pocket- vetoed by President Richard Nixon after Congress adjourned.

The agreement was reached, Eagleton stated, after representatives of the Senate and House agreed to delete fixed- dollar authorizations for a number of programs in the bill and substitute instead an open- ended authorization permitting the appropriations committees to appropriate such sums as may be necessary to carry out the programs.

"Frankly, these changes are largely cosmetic and I have no difficulty in agreeing to them," Eagleton said. "I am delighted that almost every program that we included in the bill will now be enacted into law, except for one Manpower title which the House itself refused to accept.

"The only real difference is that some of the dollar authorization figures have been reduced and, in other cases, we have used open- ended authorizations rather than dollar figures."

Briefly, the bill would upgrade the Administration on Aging (AOA) in the Department of Health, Ecucation and Welfare by transferring it from the welfare- oriented Social and Rehabilitation Service to the office of the HEW secretary; authorize the establishment of comprehensive and co-ordinated systems for the delivery of social services to the aging at the level and provide improved recreation, educational and voluntary service opportunities for the elderly.

It would also expand research in aging and the training of needed personnel in the field of gerontology; establish a community service employment program in the Department of Labor for middle- aged and older persons and authorize grants for the acquisition, remodeling and renovation of facilities for use as multipurpose senior centers and provide for mortgage insurance, interest subsidies and initial staffing grants for such centers.

"At the time we enacted this bill on Feb. 20," Eagleton said, "I stated, 'I do not seek a confrontation with the President.' I have pursued that course in striving to reach this agreement because I think the welfare of 21 million older Americans is much more important than any political gain that could have been obtained from overriding a presidential veto. And I think this is one veto that could have been overridden.

"We have met what we consider to be our responsibilities, and the result is a bill containing a number of excellent programs and virtually the same ones we first enacted last October.

"The President, I am sure, feels that he has met his responsibility by obtaining an overall lower authorization figure for the bill. While these figures do not represent real spending unless the funds should actually be appropriated, the President apparently feels that they are of significance in the fight against inflation."

"Man is the only animal that blushes. Or needs to." (Mark Twain)

Pentagon releases survey

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon has released results of a government-sponsored study that dispute what a spokesman called "the frightening estimates" that up to 200,000 Vietnam enlisted returnees are drug addicts.

Dr. Richard S. Wilbur, the Defense Department's health chief, said Monday a projection of results from a sample of about 900 former soldiers indicates that only between 2,000 and 3,000 Army returnees who served in Vietnam during the 1970-71 heroin epidemic still are dependent on drugs.

The health official said the study was limited to Army enlisted men because the problem was concentrated among that group. Wilbur said the figures represent 1.3 per cent of the returnees, about the same as the 1.2 per cent rate of drug abusers identified before entering military service.

Rampaging Mississippi breaks dikes

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The rampaging Mississippi River broke through water-logged dikes and levees near Elsberry, Mo., and topped others Tuesday adding 30,000 acres of land to the tens of thousands already underwater and affecting some 4,000 persons.

The Army Corps of Engineers ordered parts of the city of Elsberry evacuated as the river continued rising toward the worst flooding in 200 years. The American Red Cross estimated that at least 6,000 families have been affected since the Mississippi, Missouri, Illinois and Meramec rivers began rising in early March.

Francis Tobin, regional director of the Office of Emergency Preparedness, said Tuesday damage caused by flooding throughout Missouri could exceed $50 million but added that any estimate of damage was difficult because of the high waters.

The City of St. Louis was bracing for the highest crest of the Mississippi there in history—43.5 feet Thursday—but the Corps said the river was not rising as fast as expected.

The river stood at 39.9 feet at St. Louis at 11 p.m. Tuesday and a spokesman said it appeared likely the 42-foot stage forecast for today would not be reached. He said it was too soon to speculate why the river had stopped rising as fast as it had been but noted that spilling over levees to the north of St. Louis could be a factor.

"Its still too early to say we won't reach the 43.5-foot crest," he said, "but you tend to become optimistic if we're short of Wednesday's prediction."

Col. H. A. Myers of the Missouri National Guard said 1,700 guardsmen have been activated for flood duty from Hannibal in northeast Missouri to New Madrid in the Missouri Bootheel and estimated some 2,000 would be on duty before the flood waters subside.

The guardsmen were joined Tuesday by 75 Coast Guard reservists, activated for the second time this month, and a Coast Guard spokesman said 75 more reservists will be on duty by tonight.

The lives of at least eight persons have been claimed by the flood currents since last week and hundreds of persons have been forced from their homes.

The Corps said the situation was most critical Tuesday night at Chouteau Island, near Granite City, Ill., and near St. Charles, Mo., at the confluence of the Mississippi and Missouri. A spokesman said levees protecting the island and the area east of St. Charles were expected to be topped by the rising rivers. both areas were evacuated Tuesday.

The Mississippi, Missouri and Illinois rivers were closed to commercial barge traffic, and only bridges across the Mississippi at St. Louis and Cairo, Ill., remained open. The Missouri Highway Patrol said 35 state and county highways were closed because of high water.

Although much of eastern Missouri experienced light rain Tuesday night and today, flood control officials said the rain would have no significant affect on river conditions.

SeMo residents eligible for disaster unemployment aid

JEFFERSON CITY—Persons who live or were employed in designated flood disaster counties throughout Missouri may be eligible for disaster unemployment assistance, Gov. Christopher S. Bond announced Tuesday.

Included in the 38 counties designated as disaster areas are Scott, Stoddard, Mississippi, New Madrid, Pemiscot, Dunklin, Cape Girardeau and Butler counties.

The assistance will be administered by the Missouri Division of Employment Security through all 38 offices of the division, plus seven special offices set up by the Office of Emergency Preparedness in areas of greatest need.

To be eligible for the payments, an individual must have become unemployed as a direct result of severe storms or flooding on or after March 6, 1973, the date established in the President's declaration as the beginning of the Missouri disaster.

Persons who have been employed, including self-employed, in agricultural as well as nonagricultural jobs, may be eligible. Payments will range from $52 to $63 per week.

Application for these payments must be made within 30 days from Tuesday.

Two of the seven special offices set up by the Office of Emergency Preparedness are in the armories at Charleston and Caruthersville.

Offices of the Missouri Division of Employment Security in this area and their addresses and phone numbers are:

Cape Girardeau, 231 N. Main St., 335- 6666; Caruthersville, 300 Ward St., 333- 2416; Sikeston, 202 S. Kingshighway, 471- 2731; Kennett, 311 Kennett St., 888- 4518; Poplar Bluff, 942 Pine St., 785- 9606.

Other counties designated as disaster areas are:

Andrew, Atchison, Buchanan, Caldwell, Callaway, Clay, Clinton, Cole, Cooper, Daviess, DeKalb, Franklin, Gasconade, Gentry, Harrison, Holt, Howard, Jefferson, Lincoln, Marion, Miller, Nodaway, Perry, Pike, Ralls, St. Charles, Ste. Genevieve, St. Louis, Scotland and Worth.

The other five special offices have been set up in Jefferson City, St. Charles, Arnold, Hannibal and Ste. Genevieve.

Classes may resume at New Madrid

NEW MADRID-- Classes may resume Thursday at New Madrid High School which has been closed since Tuesday due to failure of sewer facilities, according to City Administrator Don Lloyd.

Excessive surface water on Kingshighway where a major sewage lift station collapsed Friday has been pumped off and city employes today are clearing water from manholes to determine the extent of damage to sewer lines to the school.

Lloyd said there are two contingent plans to bypass the blocked area. If either of the plans are feasible, depending on the damage found, the facilities could be restored later today.

Permanent repairs will not be made to the extensively damaged area until the Mississippi River recedes, Lloyd said.

Some of the pumps, which have been operating around the clock for a week to eliminate flooded streets and low areas, were able to shut off today. However, Lloyd said, they are being left in place should they be needed again before the river falls.

Time set

The Missouri State Highway Department's public Action Plan session has been scheduled for 2 p.m. May 4 at the Security National Bank community room, 625 N. Main St.

The meeting is one of 10 across the state that day aimed at giving state residents greater say in the development of the state highway system.

Farmers need to plant, but rain keeps coming

By PAT GROJEAN

If it had not been raining since October, Bootheel farmers would currently be planting corn and some cotton and preparing their land for all crops.

But since it has been raining the farmlands are saturated with water and farmers cannot get into their fields. So they must just sit and wait. Some farmers are working on their equipment, others are jogging around their farms and still others have gone turkey hunting.

Even if it would stop raining today, it would take two weeks for the ground to dry out enough to get crops planted. Land that is underwater would take even longer to dry out.

The weather has been the main topic of discussion among Bootheel farmers since October. John Garrett, area agronomy specialist, said that this is the worst year for farmers in his 11 years of experience in the Bootheel.

He added that he had talked to one farmer who remembered a bad year, 1957, when over 100 inches of rain was recorded in Sikeston. That farmer remarked that this spring is worse than the spring of 1957.

Other "old- timers" in the farming business have said that it is the worst they have ever seen.

Garrett said that very little farm work has been done this year because of the heavy rainfall. He estimated that 10 per cent of the work usually done by farmers in the fields has been done in comparison with the same time last year.

Farmers in the area are beginning to be hurt by the weather, if they haven't already been. "A farmer's whole life is wrapped around getting a crop planted," Louis Watkins, a Vanduser farmer said. He added that if a farmer can get a crop planted, he will have something, but if a crop is not planted, he will have nothing.

The three main crops in the area are corn, soybeans and cotton. It is getting awfully late for crops not to be planted, especially corn and cotton, Kenny Uswals of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Staff in Benton said.

Garrett says that the only farmers who will still plant corn this year will be those who need it for livestock.

Leonard Hand, meteorologist for the Agricultural Weather Service at the Delta Center in Portageville, explained that the insect problem makes it risky to plant much later than the last part of April. There is still a growing season for corn, after that but corn borers will destroy the crop if planted too late in the season.

Watkins said that he would have planted 100 more acres of corn if it hadn't rained so much. He did get some corn planted during one of the short dry spells. If the weather were to clear, he would probably plant mostly cotton now. "If all else fails, I will go to soybeans," Watkins said.

He explained that the corn already in the fields is okay now "but will begin to rot if it doesn't dry out soon."

Small acreages of corn have been planted in New Madrid, Scott and Mississippi counties. Garrett said some corn is up and looks like it is doing fairly well, but he added that some is rotting in the soil. He explained that in two or three more days the farmers will know what the corn is going to do.

"The corn that has been planted is not in very good shape," Garrett said. "We were in pretty good shape as far as the corn was concerned until the weekend." Over the weekend heavy rain packed the ground.

Garrett says most of the ground that was to be planted in corn will now go to soybeans, and some to cotton.

Cotton planting is not in as much trouble as the corn crop is. The planting season for cotton runs from approximately May to May 15, Garrett said. But, before the cotton can be planted, the ground must be prepared with fertilizers, and other preparation work must be done.

"With the wet weather, farmers cannot get into their fields to prepare for planting, and that is what is hurting the crop presently. The government cutoff date for planting cotton is May 18. If it is not planted by then, we don't recommend they plant it," Garrett said.

"We are recommending this year that farmers do as little preparation as possible to get the crops in," Garrett said. The fact was backed up by several area farmers who are mainly interested in getting the crop planted as soon as possible.

If a dry spell comes along, many fields could be ready for equipment in two weeks but, as stated before, the fields must first be prepared. However, the farmers could prepare a lot of ground in a week's time, Garrett said.

The soybean crop, so far, is not in the danger of the other two crops. Soybeans have a longer planting season. "This year we may be basically producing soybeans," Harry Littleton, district supervisor for Farmers Home Administration in Sikeston, said.

Some soybeans are planted as late as the middle and end of June. Garrett said "it looks like we will have a tremendous acreage of soybeans."

Much of the ground that cannot be planted now due to the saturated fields will be planted later in soybeans.

Hand said it would be extremely unusual if farmers couldn't get soybeans planted.

Another crop that enters lightly into the agriculture of the Bootheel is wheat. Some wheat was planted in the Bootheel during one of the short dry spells. The wheat is starting to come up now, and the main damage to the wheat crop is the loss of a good percentage of nitrogen from the soil because of all the water. The loss of nitrogen will cause the wheat yield to be lower, Garrett said.

In many of the fields planted in wheat, there are potholes where water is standing. This has killed wheat in that area. Garrett explained that some fields will have four and five acres completely dead due to standing water.

Garrett estimated that the wheat yield will be about 10 bushels lower per acre than in other years.

The main problem with the crop situation is the land. "The grounds are saturated" Hand explained, "and both drainage and evaporation will be required." The problem depends on how fast the channels can carry the backwaters off, he said.

Mrs. Robert Scherer of Bell City said they have fields under water and water all around the house. She added that "if it will dry up in the next two weeks, we will get a crop in." The Schererers are planning to plant mostly cotton.

The water has taken nitrogen from the soil which will have to be added to the ground for other crops.

The fields were already in bad condition to begin with because of the harvest during wet weather last year, Garrett explained. The fields have ruts and it will take time to prepare them for a crop.

It is questionable about when ground bordering the river, under water now, will dry out, Garrett said. He added that it is even questionable right now as to whether crops will be planted there at all.

The extended out look calls for possible sunshine by Friday and into Saturday. Since the weather is unpredictable, there is no way of even estimating when the farmers can get back into their fields; but, unless the rain stops soon, the outlook for crops this year does not seem to be very good.

Conscience bill okayed by House

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri House has given tentative approval to a bill allowing doctors, nurses and hospitals to be exempt from performing abortions if it is against their religious or moral principles.

The so-called "conscience bill" was approved in a special session Tuesday night.

A bill to regulate abortion procedures was to be considered in the session, but the House adjurned when the debate on the conscience bill ran longer than expected.

The bill to regulate abortions is a committee substitute for two other bills which provided strict regulation of abortion procedures.

The conscienence bill was adopted after the defeat of a series of amendments to require hospitals receiving public funds to perform the abortions.

"This bill merely recognizes the other side to the abortion question," said Rep. Bob Griffin, D-Cameron. "It recognizes the right of those who do not want to perticipate."

Rep. Harold Hollidsay, D-Kansas City, said "there was no way in the world" the bill could stand a constitutional test, because hospitals receiving public funds are required to perform any operation that is legal under the equal rights protection of the U.S. Constitution.

However, another representative said exemptions from other state laws were given to certain religious groups because of their beliefs, and added, the U.S. Supreme Court might overturn the bill if it infringed on the individual rights of those who agreed with abortions.

Rep. William O'Toole, D-St. Louis, said the U.S. Senate had just recently passed a similar law, "and they are aware of the constitutional questions involved."

The House also gave tentative approval to a bill to allow the state to provide direct grants to aid in forming or developing public water and sewer districts.

The bill would allow up to $600 per connection for Houses added to the sewer or water lines.

Earlier the House approved a measure to let voters decide on a constitutional change saying the death penalty should not be considered cruel and unusual punishment.

The change would alter wording in the state Constitution to say that "in no event shall the imposition or execution of the death penalty be deemed cruel and unusual punishment."

The measure now goes to the Senate. If approved, it will be submitted to a vote of the people at the next general election.

Tentative approval was given to a proposed constitutional change to bring the state in line with recent U.S. Supreme Court decision to let 18-year-olds vote.

LAW DAY, 1973

May Day means different things to different people. Throughout much of the world, it's a holiday commemorating the international solidarity of workingmen. In the United States, May 1 is widely observed each year as Law Day. In essence, Law Day is supposed to be a rededication to the rule of law in the affairs of men and nations. Deeply rooted in the American concept of freedom under law is the role of government as protector of the individual citizen. At the heart of this concept is the system of justice, epitomized by the trial before a jury of one's peers.

The jury system has become embroiled in controversy in recent years. In a decision handed down June 22, 1970, the U. S. Supreme Court upheld the right of states to use juries of less than 12 members -- a number traceable to the Magna Carta -- in felony trials. Then, on May 22, 1972, the court held that verdicts against defendants in state criminal courts need not be unanimous. At the time, only 14 states allowed juries of smaller size and only two, Louisiana and Oregon, allowed split verdicts in felony cases.

In neither decision did the court specify how small a jury could be or how closely the verdict could be split and still meet the constitutional guarantee of proof of guilt beyond a reasonable doubt before conviction. The unanimous verdict was retained for trials in federal court. Now it is a question for the individual states to decide whether they will retain existing jury requirements or change them. The Supreme Court probably will have to decide eventually whether the most drastic state jury trial reforms meet the constitutional tests.

If any clear pattern emerges from the current activity to re-examine and change the American jury system, it is that of making the administration of justice speedier, less costly, and more protective toward a society increasingly menaced by criminal acts. What is less clear is whether the changes will be gained at the price of eroding protection for the accused.

WHO IS TO BLAME FOR DRUG ABUSE?

Is it parent's fault that many young people choose drugs as their "thing" in life? Is it the times? The generation gap? Something, surely, is causing the drug cult, with its accompanying death, crime, and misery.

Professor Alvin Toffler in Future Shock (Bantam Books) charges that "Allan Ginsberg and Timothy Leary (are) the two men most responsible for creating the hippie life style, with heavy accent on drug use" and that the drug cultists promote their merchandise with high-powered promotional efforts "like any good corporation."

Toffler cites a letter from Ginsberg to Leary, in which Ginsberg wrote:

"Yesterday got on tv with N. Mailer and Ashley Montagu and gave a big speech ... recommending that everybody get high ... Got in touch with all the liberal pro-dope people I know to have [a certain pro-drug report] publicized and circulated ... I wrote a five - page summary of the situation to this friend Kenny Love on The New York Times and he said he'd perhaps do a story (newswise) ... which could then be picked up by U.P. friend on national wire. Also gave copy to Al Aronowitz on New York Post and Rosaline Constable at Time and Bob Silvers on Harper's..."

To this hard evidence that the liberal media, knowingly or not, collaborated with drug pushers, Toffler comments:

"No wonder LSD and the whole hippie phenomenon received the mass media publicity it did. This partial of Ginsberg's energetic air press agentry, complete with the Madison Avenue suffix 'wise' (as in newswise) reads precisely like an internal memo from Hill and Knowlton or any of the other giant public relations corporations whom hippies love to flagellate for 'manipulating' public opinion. The successful 'sale' of the hippie life style model to young people is one of the classic merchandizing stories of our time."

Drugs and the drug cult did not, therefore, arise because parents, or teachers, or clergymen, or the police of this generation are any less dedicated than those of past generations. We are burdened with a runaway drug problem because it is being sold as a way of life to a young by the "liberal pro-dope people" and "mass media publicity."

THIS MIGHT WORK TO TAXPAYER ADVANTAGE

As previously mentioned, Legislators at Jefferson City are moving to increase their daily expense allowance while at Jefferson City from the present $10 to $25. That means about $1,035.00 per regular session for the average Legislator, who usually spends three days weekly at the capital.

Those who know anything about costs realize that $10 per day will not pay expenses while living at Jefferson City.

One Monroe County taxpayer has suggested a plan which would be a penalty for not attending a session, instead of a reward for doing so.

It is to raise the annual salary from $8,500 to $10,500, then deduct $30 per day for every day the Legislator fails to be there.

It might increase attendance.

Most Monroe Countians agree that Legislators should operate like almost everyone else who is employed — pay their expenses out of their salaries. They wonder what would be the effect on the average business if it paid a salary, then added a daily amount for living expenses. That isn't the way business operates. It should not be the way for the Legislature to operate.

SPENDERS IN CONGRESS AND NIXON SQUARE OFF

Finally, people are waking up to the fact that government does not have the godlike ability or financial resources to deliver personal integrity and the good life to us on a silver platter.

President Nixon has set out to lead what he believes to be the majority public opinion in a massive turn toward personal responsibility and away from the welfare state philosophy which has dominated American politics for the past 40 years. In presenting his budget to the American people, the President said, "it is time to get big government off your back and out of your pocket." He pointed out that without the spending cuts which he has proposed, 1975 expenditures would rise to approximately $312 billion ... leading to a huge, inflationary deficit.

As the Wall Street Journal sums it up, "The budget outlines a do-less formula for the federal government: fewer programs, fewer bureaucrats, no new or higher taxes, and strict limits on future spending that will allow very little room for any big legislative initiatives by either Congress or the administration."

In all this, it should be remembered that the budget is still increasing at the rate of 7.5 per cent if the President's prescription of $250 billion this year and $268.7 billion for 1974 is followed. The average increase for the past 12 years has been 8.1 per cent. That's a good deal more than the economy grows each year. No one is really talking about austerity, merely about the degree of control that will achieve a tolerable level of inflation, avoid a regimented economy and eliminate the threat of actual collapse of the federal government's ability to meet its obligations.

We believe the American people back the President in his plan, and it is time we let Congress know it.

While most of us living out in the boondocks are puzzled about the dollar crisis, there are many reasons behind a decline in confidence in the dollar. One of the most important factors was summarized by columnist Bill Buckley. He stated, "People of the world have said in effect: American products are overpriced. But Americans are not finding other countries products overpriced."

A look at the figures for world shipbuilding will give a good indication of how the U. S. has priced its goods out of world markets. Last year, shipbuilding in the U. S., spurred by new Government subsidies, increased by 21 per cent to a total of 611,000 tons. Last year, Japan's tonnage increased only 7 per cent, to a total of 12,865,000 tons. In other words, Japan's shipbuilding production was 21 times the tonnage produced by U. S. yards. And perhaps even more significant is the fact that only 9,000 tons of U. S. production was sold outside of the country. This export record was the worst among the 16 main shipbuilding countries.

U. S. manufacturers of many goods are being hit by a double whammy. They are losing markets abroad at the same time that imports are making serious inroads in domestic markets. Today, for example, imports account for 18 per cent of total steel sales and almost one- quarter of automobile sales. The United States imports better than 50 per cent of its black - and - white TV sets, 60 per cent of its phonographs, and 86 per cent of all radios sold. Virtually every tape recorder sold in America is foreign made. Approximately 60 per cent of all sewing machines, 80 per cent of electronic microscopes and 60 per cent of all calcualtors are imported. Baseball is a uniquely American sports; it is played in very few countries other than the U. S. Yet, fully 95 per cent of all baseball mits sold in the U. S. are imports.

If foreign producers can penetrate U. S. markets to such an extent, you can imagine what has happened to the U. S. share of the market where we compete against these producers. Frankly, we have gotten clobbered. During the past decade, only the United Kingdom among the major trading nations, has had less export growth than the United States.

The examples cited are not isolated instances where some individual industries have taken a beating. The overall U. S. trade figures show the same picture. The U. S. ran a merchandise trade deficit of $6.82 billion in 1972. This was up sharply from a deficit of $2.69 billion in 1971 and a trade surplus of $2.16 billion in 1970. (As a matter of fact, until 1971, we had a trade surplus every year going all the way back to 1888.) The publicaton of the 1972 trade deficit figures was an important factor in triggering the February dollar devaluation.

Of course, there have been many other contributing factors such as the costs of maintaining a global army police force on top of the expenditures associated with the Vietnam war.

Perhaps the straw that broke the dollar's back was introduction of Phase III in the wage - price control program. The new Nixon - labor alliance may be good domestic politics, but it does little to restore confidence in the dollar. In fact, European money traders are convinced that another wage- price spiral is in the cards -- and they know what they will do to the value of the dollar in the long run.

Neither Congress nor the Nixon administration have faced up to our dollar problem, except to fight over reduced spending in programs that have gotten out of hand. And our labor costs are too high to be competitive in the world markets.

SKINNING THE CAT

In these inflationary times, it apparently takes more than money to create incentive. A lot of companies are now looking for new ways to encourage greater production. An article in "cars & trucks" touches on some of the incentive programs that are being developed in the auto industry. The publication observes, "Incentive programs can be based on just about any award system that could be imagined. But the most successful plans have three things in common: 1. They utilize awards of merchandise or travel rather than money. 2. They are broad based. They are designed to produce many winners ... 3. They are planned, promoted and administered by a company specializing in sales incentives."

Among the most popular incentive programs are those developed by a major trading stamp company. They are based on the accumulation of prize points or award certificates which are equivalent to books of trading stamps that can be redeemed for merchandise in special catalogs. In some cases, the results of this kind of program have been phenomenal. It is not unusual, according to the automotive trade journal, for a good producer in the auto sales business to collect 200 books of stamps redeemable in merchandise at the rate of $3 per book. Trading stamp incentive programs are far more popular with people than cash awards which slip through the fingers of the winner all too easily. One auto company has broadened the program to include accountants and bookkeepers with the results that bookkeeping efficiency has increased as much as 150 per cent.

The old adage that there is more than one way to skin a cat is still true. And, the smart businessman, instead of waiting for the government to take a hand, is going ahead on his own intitiative to increase efficiency and productivity.

RIGHT AGE TO WED

An old man from a remote section of the country announced one day to relatives that he was going to get married again.

"I've been a widower long enough," he said. "I've picked me out another wife."

"But who are you going to marry?" asked his brother.

"Lem Hawkins' daughter."

"But she's only 18 years old," protested the brother. "Think of a man your age — 93 — marrying a girl of 18!"

"What's wrong with that?" inquired the old man placidly. "She's exactly the same age as my first wife was when I marrier her."

FREEDOM PAYS

Nineteen states now have right to work laws. It simply means that an individual has the right to join a union and also a right to refrain from joining a union without losing his job. It would seem that this is a basic civil and human right.

We hear a great deal about freedom, civil rights and the curbing of discriminatory acts against U. S. citizens, regardless of race, creed or color. Yet, what could be more fundamental than the right to work without paying tribute to any coercive agency. Apparently, because of its political explosiveness, this fundamental right and the issue it involves is avoided by most politicians. It is interesting to note, however, that in states that have right to work laws the rate of increase in jobs per capita, personal income, hourly earnings and industrial development outstrip such development in states permitting compulsory unionism.

For example, new manufacturing jobs between 1957 and 1967 in right to work states increased 37.2 per cent against a rise of 7.3 per cent in states permitting compulsory unionism. Hourly earnings by manufacturing workers increased 39 per cent. Average weekly earnings of production workers in right to work states rose 41.6 per cent compared to 35.3 per cent in states permitting compulsory unionism. These figures, published by The National Right To Work Committee, make a strong case for the right to work principle.

A primary reason cited for the steady rise in per capita garbage production is the proliferation of products such as one-way containers that replace returnable bottles, and paper products used as substitutes for towels, plates, cups and napkins.

As invironmental and health pressures mount against open dumping, communities are turning to new techniques, but solid- waste experts point out what may work well for one city might be a disaster elsewhere.

There is no doubt that eventually something will have to be worked out to recycle our solid - waste. The EPA report suggests providing "a positive economic incentive to the potential user of the waste materials by investment- tax credits, tax credits for use of secondary materials, subsidy payments or bounties, subsidy of plant and equipment for processing secondary materials, and combinations of these."

Until the reclaimed materials become price competitive, however, the bulk of the vast resources hidden in America's junk heaps are not likely to be used.

PRESERVING THE REPUBLIC

PRESERVING THE REPUBLIC

The United States is the symbol of freedom to many people in many parts of the world. Its awessome power has represented a shield for many of the weaker nations and the Bill of Rights has attracted many immigrants who fled the persecution of their homelands. That shield of the U. S. was especially formidable during the few years that we had exclusive knowledge of atomic weaponry. The passage of time and a combination of lethargy and indecision in leadership seem to have eroded some of the glitter that once brought us the admiration of the world.

We still are an affluent society with the potential to overcome all odds. Communism can never overtake us nor overwhelm us unless we let it. It is true that we are now in an inflationary period in our economics, but the market place -- not controls -- will correct that if we let it. The Japanese and the German factories cannot outproduce us unless we let them. Russia cannot outstrip us in space and in military might unless we let her do it. So it is up to us. The very soundness of our Constitution provides the basis for a government that serves the people. The amendments, especially the 22nd which limits the length of Presidential service, add to the safe-guards.

We have our strenghts and our weaknesses. Young and old alike can muster the strength and minimize the weaknesses to preserve the Republic and all the wonderful things for which it stands. The lines against the main enemy, communism, are not fully manned yet. A discussion of the communist challange and how we can defeat it should be the first order of business for all of us. HLH.

NEW YORK (AP) — You can't go home again — with one exception.

The exception is memory.

In memory you can go home again anytime by a thought.

In fact, you are at home there all the time. Memory is man's chief home actually. He dwells there longer than he does in any hut of wood or mansion of marble or brick.

And your own memory house has a lot of rooms in it if you can look back and remember when —

Nothing was longer or lovelier than a nice summer day.

You could get to work quicker on a 1920 streetcar than you can drive through traffic and find a place to park now.

When you saw someone walking fast, you figured he must have a real emergency. The normal pace of life was slower.

A policeman could spend his whole career on the force and retire without ever having given out a traffic ticket.

No matter how big your family was, you were expected to know who all your cousins were — and keep track of what happened to them. Blood was a lot thicker than water and kinfolk felt more responsible for each other.

A gang of boys felt cheated if they caught and killed some innocent snake and found it had no rattles at the end of its tail. But they still thought they had done the world a favor. There was to them no such thing as a guiltless snake.

But children themselves never felt entirely guiltless either. There were so many precepts to guide them that they always were in violation of some. Even when they had to go to the dentist they felt it must be because they had unconsciously done something wrong.

You could tell a grandmother by the way she looked and dressed.

If the head of a family could afford to buy a new suit every two years, he was doing pretty well.

When a man died, his clothing wasn't sent to the Salvation Army. It was passed on to his son or divided among his "poor relations."

A man with $100,000 was a kind of magnate, and he could live well off the income from it the rest of his life without working. And raise a family on it, too.

Women weren't formally liberated, but they were more admired, respected and deferred to than perhaps they are now.

Those were the days — remember?

Washington Merry - Go - Round

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:

'Small Arsenal'

WASHINGTON -- G. Gordon Liddy flashed his White House pass in an effort to buy a "small arsenal" of pistols a year ago apparently for arming his Watergate burglary- wiretap team.

Unfortunately for Liddy, the Virginia gun dealer to whom he nervously showed his credentials had recently been in trouble for selling antitank guns to a man who used one to stick up a Brink's vault.

So the dealer turned Liddy down and called up the Treasury Department's gun-control unit to report the visit. There an official verified that Liddy held a White House pass. But Liddy never came back for the five to 10 pistols he had sought.

If he had, the Watergate might have erupted in gunfire on the morning of June 17 when Liddy's team was trapped inside Democratic national headquarters. On the other hand, if Treasury had pursued the case of Liddy's attempted purchases, the White House or the Nixon campaign committee might have become sufficiently alarmed to fire him.

Instead, it was left to the sleuths of Rep. John Murphy, D— N.Y., a strong advocate of gun controls, to turn up Liddy's mysterious Virginia mission. The gun dealer, who had provided Murphy with leads on his gun bill, quietly notified the congressman's aides of the Liddy visit a few weeks ago.

'Something Wrong'

The dealer, exacting a vow of silence on his name, told the Murphy gumshoes that Liddy came to his shop about a year ago, shortly after leaving his White House job to join the Nixon campaign staff as general counsel.

"There was something wrong about him," recalled the dealer "You know, he acted a little flaky." Liddy, said the dealer, wanted to buy "a small arsenal" of pistols.

As the dealer remembered it, Liddy gave the strong impression that the guns were not just for himself, but also for associates involved in a mutual venture.

Liddy has a large collection of guns. He is so fanatical about firearms that he was regarded as the gun lobby's "man in the White House." While at the White House, he tried to kill the very statutes which permitted the dealer to refuse to sell him the pistols.

Murphy has quietly turned over his findings to sen. Sam Ervin, D— N.C., whose special committee is investigating the Watergate break- in and related political sabotage and espionage.

Footnote: Liddy's wife rented a safety deposit box at the Marine Midland Bank of Southeastern New York in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., last August 7th. At the same time, she left a padlocked trunk valued at $2,500 in the bank's "silver storage room." Mrs. Liddy confirmed to us she made the rentals, but insisted it was for "personal" effects. When we asked whether she wanted to say anything about the trunk, she snapped, "What I would like to tell you is unprintable." Liddy reportedly has been paid large sums of hush money to keep his mouth shut about the Watergate case.

PHONY REPORT? The Social and Rehabilitation Service has been accused by one of its own division chiefs of presenting "fictitious figures" to Congress.

The figures were offered by Associate Administrator F.D. DeGeorge to the House Appropriations Committee. Eager to prove how the SRS is saving money, he reported that in Texas the cost per welfare recipient "was reduced by $111.45." This added up to a total savings for the 1973 fiscal year, he claimed, of $65,992,462.

These figures have now been challenged by Jim Rice, chief of the Program Monitoring Division, in a blistering internal memo. He charged that the DeGeorge report "is primarily cosmetic in nature having little substance" and objected that "The phony Texas figures remain in the report despite the strong efforts...to change it."

Rice suggested that a staff member sit down with DeGeorge "to clarify for him the fact that fictitious figures of this sort are often self-defeating and certainly would not appeal to a (Certified Public Accountant) who would be sophisticated in examining reports of this nature. (DeGeorge) would be in a vulnerable position if critically questioned by Congress on the validity of this document."

Asked for comment, DeGeorge told us Rice "had no association with the report" and called the complaint a "case of pique."

Footnote: The pressure to cut back social programs has become so intense that investigators, dispatched to check into local programs, have been told not to come back unless they could report substantial "cost avoidance."

Shumate held over in sodomy case

NEW MADRID— Ozell Shumate, 45, of New Madrid, charged with sodomy, was ordered held for Circuit Court action under $10,000 bond, following a preliminary hearing Monday before Magistrate Judge Leo Hedgepeth.

Witnesses appearing were the 11 year- old boy upon whom Shumate allegedly committed unnatural sex acts and the arresting officer Deputy sheriff Elgie (Shorty) Price.

The alleged offense occurred on March 4 when Shumate got the youth to go to his home after offering him $2 to clean his bathroom.

William C. Suchman, a Sikeston building contractor, waived preliminary hearing on two counts of forgery and a cheat and defraud charge. He was bound over to circuit court under $15,000 bond on each forgery charge and $5,000 bond on the cheat and defraud charge.

Suchman, who was the building contractor for construction of Sam's Big Star Supermarket on Route U in New Madrid, is charged with issuing an insufficient funds check of $4,700 to Al Hendricks Plumbing Company for work and materials. John Askew was fined $125 for driving while intoxicated. He was given six months suspended jail sentence and put on probation for one year and his driver's license was suspended for one year.

Charge of operating a disorderly place of business against James I. West, operator of the Hide- A- Way Club at the east edge of Malden on Route 62, was dismissed by Prosecuting Attorney Hal E. Hunter Jr. upon payment of $25 court costs. The charge was filed against West following a drug raid at the club on Feb. 9 in which several persons were arrested.

Ex-patient lavishes nurse with gifts

Dear Ann Landers: I am a registered nurse working in a first- class hospital. Several months ago I tended an 84-year- old man who had major surgery. I never felt that I gave him more attention than any other patient.

Since he checked out, I have received four boxes of candy from him, a gold fountain pen and a hand-written invitation to have dinner at his home. (I respectfully declined.)

Last week he sent a beautiful friendship ring with my birthstone set in a platinum mounting. I was floored by this gift and phoned him at once to say I couldn't accept it. He insisted that I had helped him through a serious crisis and said I should not deny him the pleasure of repaying me in a small way. He spoke for fifteen minutes and I decided to keep the ring.

This morning I received a beautiful bouquet of carnations from "An Admirer." I called the florist to make sure my hunch was correct and it was, of course, from the old gentleman.

What am I to do? I can't continue to accept these gifts, yet I am afraid of hurting his feelings. Please advise.--- Just Did My Job

Dear Just: Write a note explaining that you enjoy flowers and if he wishes to send a bouquet occasionally, fine, but that you cannot accept any other gifts from him. Remember, dear, he's 84. I see no harm in overlooking the fact that the old gent doesn't follow the etiquette book.

Dear Ann Landers: I was married 24 years ago and had five children in seven years. I worked hard under trying circumstances, including the last six years when my husband and I agreed on a separation. We were divorced last May.

Our children are all launched and I am now involved in a fascinating career. My work puts me in contact with many men, most of whom I find chauvinistic, dull, a little sick, and painfully boring.

Last fall I met the man I wish I had met 25 years ago. He is everything I've ever wanted in a husband. I think about him at least three dozen times a day. I tried ignoring him but it didn't work. He is 36 years old, beautifully attentive, and insists I'm going to be his wife.

When I asked him why he never married he said, "I've been waiting for you, angel."

I adore being free and am thoroughly immersed in my career. I've had the marriage and family bit and I don't believe a woman can do justice to both at the same time. But the guy is a gem. I don't know what to do. What's your best hunch?-- Lone Star Louise

Dear Louise: My huncher is on the bum but my computer is in good working order. According to my figures, 25 years ago "The Gem" was 11 years old. If this doesn't make any difference to you, and it doesn't matter to him, it's all right with me.

Dear Ann Landers: What do you think of parents who will not allow a boy who is nearly 14 to be alone in the house for an evening? I am his 18- year-old sister and I had to cancel a date because the sitter didn't show up. Thanks for your opinion.--- Thoroughly Disgusted.

Dear T.G.: Unless the boy is ill or retarded he should not need a sitter at his age. If your parents don't treat him as an adult soon they will have a serious problem on their hands.

A no- nonsense approach to how to deal with life's most difficult and most rewarding arrangement. Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage-- What To Expect," will prepare you for better or for worse. Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50c in coin and a long, stamped, self- addressed envelope.

Traveling concerts go to people

CAPE GIRARDEAU — If the people can't come to the concert, take the concert to the people.

That's what Robert E. Restemyer, assistant professor of music at Southeast Missouri State University, will do today and tomorrow when he takes the university's symphony band on a two- day swing south of here.

The 55- member band performs at the Matthews, East Prairie and New Madrid high schools today. On Thursday, the musicians will play at Holcomb, Clarkton and Gideon high schools.

According to Restemyer, the program to be presented at each of the schools will be similar to the concert planned by the band May 3 in the auditorium of Academic Hall at Southeast Missouri State.

A major work will be a band arrangement of Carl Orff's "Carmina Burana." It is based on poems and songs of the 13th century and reflects the immense gusto and color of this era, Restemyer said.

The tour will also include a percussion ensemble under the direction of Dan Dunaven, instructor of music at the university.

A featured soloist, playing Murice Whitney's "Introduction and Samba" for alto saxophone, will be Larry Bond, a senior music major from Sikeston.

Women teachers earn less than men

WASHINGTON (AP) — Women working full-time on the faculties of the nation's universities are earning an average of $3,500 less than their male counterparts, the Department of Health Education and Welfare said today.

The salary differential at two-year colleges was smaller, but HEW said less than male staff members.

The figures were contained in a study of university and college faculties done for HEW's Office of Education. The survey provided estimates for the 1972-73 school year, and dealt with full-time college and university faculty members on nine-and 10-month contracts in all 50 states and the District of Columbia.

Industrial prospects visit area

MALDEN — Pat Lea of Sikeston, chairman of the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission, stated Thursday night that the industrial program initiated by the commission is beginning to show results as an increasing number of industiral prospects are indicating interest in locating in the Bootheel area.

The commission has made a concentrated effort, in the form of a direct mail- out campaign, toward several types of industries. Manufacturers were mailed personal letters explaining the availability of buildings, labor force, transportation, utilities and equipment.

Lea went on to state that the mail- out campaign last month generated 15 prospects, and to date said six industrialists have visited the area. Lea said the next effort will be directed toward mailing 300 personal letters to plastic industries across the United States. Lea said the planning commission has several thousand dollars to devote to promoting industrial growth during the next few years.

Philip Shelton, director of Bootheel Regional Planning Commission, reported that during the past three months, about 40 industrial prospects have visited the area because of the commission's activities, and that prospects look good for the future.

Shelton went on to say that communities should do all they can to make their cities more conducive to industrial growth by making sure they have adequate utilities and good livability within the town. He also urged communities to join the Community Betterment Program.

MANCHESTER, England (AP) — Teacher Godfrey Allen, 41, came up with the answer to the problem of "reluctant writers" at Miles Platting Secondary Modern School. He got the 11 and 12 year olds to write to their pop idols instead of doing essays.

Said Allen: "Writing to someone like Donny Osmond is much more exciting for them than being given a conventional school subject to work on."

Most of the youngsters addressed their letters to Donny.

Seyer receives award

Paul Seyer of Richfield, Minn., left, formerly of Oran, receives the international "Volare Award" for outstanding contributions in maintenance for the benefit of the entire avionics industry. The presentation was made by Don Hamister of Goleta, Calif., president of Airline Avionics Institute.

Former Oran man receives award

MINNEAPOLIS— Paul J. Seyer, assistant manager of electronics for North Central Airlines of Minneapolis, has received the international "Volare Award" presented at the Avionics Maintenance Conference in San Francisco.

Seyer, a former Oran, Mo., resident, was selected for outstanding contributions in maintenance for the benefit of the total industry. His philosophy and dedication in improving reliability in the areas of cooling, meter movements and long lead transistors have resulted in benefits for everyone.

He is also credited with instituting many other improvements within North Central Airlines that were passed on to the industry, dealing with electronic communications, navigations and flight guidance systems in aircraft.

More than 200 entries were considered for the airline award and another for product support, presented to Edwin S. Lawrence, Miami- based representative of Sperry Flight Systems Division. Attending the conference in San Francisco were 385 persons from 18 different countries, representing 51 airlines and 75 manufacturers. Volare which means ("to fly" in Latin) awards for airline avionics maintenance were initiated in 1967 by the Airlines Avioncis Institute and are presented annually.

Seyer, a 24- year North Central employe, accepted a job as a ground radio mechanic one year after the airline started operations in 1948. He later became an electronic line maintenance mechanic and then lead mechanic in avionics, before assuming his present position.

Seyer and his family live in Richfield, Minn. His mother, Mrs. Philip Seyer, lives in Oran. His brother, Lawrence L. Seyer, is the Missouri Pacific Railroad agent in Sikeston, Mo.

Improved telephone service

LILBOURN — Improved telephone service will be available immediately to many Lilbourn customers with the elimination of eight- party lines according to Dave Schmieg, Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. manager.

"Added facilities here make it possible to offer customers throughout the Lilbourn exchange lines that will have no more than four parties per line," Schmieg said. 'I'm sure this is good news for our eight-party customers."

He also observed that the improvement will benefit all Lilbourn customers since persons calling former eight-party numbers are less likely to encounter busy signals.

Schmieg stated that in most cases the added cost of better service will be nominal compared with the improvement and added privacy the change in service offers.

Basic monthly charge for four- party service in Lilbourn is $4.15 plus tax and mileage if applicable, Schmieg said.

The manager stated that each customer in Lilbourn which currently has an eight-party line will be contacted personally by a Southwestern Bell representative to discuss the change in detail.

The family's belongings were salvaged.

Hayti murder victim's widow gives birth to son

HAYTI — The 18- year- old widow of a young Hayti man who was fatally beaten to death Saturday night gave birth Tuesday to a 10- pound, two- ounce son at Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Mike (Betty) Deweese said she had chosen the name Herbert William Clark Deweese for her first child, the name derived from her late husband's name and the child's grandfather. The Deweeses would have celebrated their first wedding anniversary a month from Tuesday.

The child was born at 8:45 a.m., several hours before funeral services for the baby's slain father. Mrs. Deweese was unable to attend the services.

Deweese, 20, was brutally beaten to death Saturday night after he followed an ambulance to the home of James Edward Lewis, 22, who had wounded his wife in a stabbing.

Mrs. Lewis is in the Hayti hospital suffering from knife wounds to the back and thumb. Authorities later arrested Lewis after Deweese's body was found around 11 p.m., two hours after he had followed the ambulance to the Lewis home.

Lewis, released from the Army last week, had reportedly worked with Deweese in the shipyards at Caruthersville in previous years. Lewis was arraigned Monday in Pemiscot County Magistrate Court on first degree murder charges.

Haggai address to highlight event

CAPE GIRARDEAU — An address by Dr. Tom Haggai, nationally- known radio personality, author and speaker, will highlight the closing session of the annual conference of Rotary District 609 to be held April 27-28 at Southeast Missouri State University.

Dr. Haggai, whose radio program is heard daily from coast to coast, will speak at the governor's banquet which will begin at 6:30 p.m. April 28 in Memorial Hall on the Southeast Missouri State campus.

The banquet will also include organ music by Dr. Dan Cotner, a Cape Girardeau dentist and member of hthe Cape Girardeau Rotary Club, and songs by Mr. and Mrs. Czeslaw Zielinski, who have performed with the Atlanta and Nashville symphony orchestras and many other groups, both in this country and abroad.

Mrs. Zielinski is an instructor of voice at Southeast Missouri State.

The conference is expected to attract 300 Rotarians and wives. Hosting the annual meeting is the Cape Girardeau West Rotary Club, younger of the two clubs in the city.

Beginning with registration in Memorial Hall at noon April 27, the conference will continue that afternoon and evening with general sessions in Kent Library, a buffet dinner in Memorial Hall, a program in the auditorium of Academic Hall and open houses in the home of Cape Girardeau Rotarians.

The after- dinner program on April 27 in Academic Hall will feature the choir of Southeast Missouri State, directed by Doyle Dumas, as well as student soloists from "Man of La Mancha," a musical which was produced by the university earlier this year.

The agenda for April 28 calls for additional general sessions, a luncheon and the closing banquet.

A separate program planned for Rotarians' wives on April 28 will include a morning coffee at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Wilferth on Cape Lacroix Road, a historical tour of Cape Girardeau and a luncheon and style show at 1 p.m. at the Flaming Pit.

Purpose of the annual conference is to further the objectives of Rotary which are best summed up by the motto, "Service Above Self."

Rotary District 609 consists of 40 clubs and covers an area in Missouri from Jefferson County on the north to the Arkansas sstate line on the south and west from the Mississippi River as far as Rolla and West Plains.

Dr. Haggai, a Baptist minister who quit the pulpit but still delivers his basic message of ',patriotism through religion" to hundreds of audiences each year, was born in 1931 in Kalamazoo, Mich., of Syrian- English heritage. He spent his formative years in Pennsylvania and preached his first sermon at age 12 in Boston.

A political science and history major at Furman University in Greenville, S.C., Dr. Haggai held his first pastorate in Rock Hill, S.C. In 1956 he became pastor of Emerywood Baptist Church in High Point, N.C. He resigned this position in 1963 after a group of 120 business and professional men joined to form Tom Haggai and Associates Foundation.

The foundation underwrites about 100 of the minister's speeches to youth groups each year. In addition, it provides scholarships for young men planning careers in scouting and other non- governmental youth training services.

Two years before the formation of the foundation, Dr. Haggai began his daily five-minute radio show, "Values for Living." Non- religious in nature, the program is designed to give the audience a good daily thought through an anecdote, interview, or observation. More than 200 stations broadcast it.

Dr. Haggai is vice president of the American Humanics Foundation, a member- at - large of the National Boy Scouts of America Council, a member of the National Exploring Council and a Rotarian. He also holds lifetime membership in the Optimist Club.

He has received the highest honor bestowed by the Boy Scouts of America, the Silver Buffalo. He has also received honorary doctorates from High Point, N.C., College and Salem, W. Va., College.

Date set for murder hearing

KENNETT — A preliminary hearing for Oscar Sampson Jaynes of Holcomb, formerly of Malden, was set for Friday, May 11, following arraignment on first degree murder charge Tuesday in Dunklin County Magistrate Court.

Jaynes, 61, former operator of Chez Paree Club in Malden, has been accused in felony charges filed by Prosecuting Attorney Charles Baker of fatally shooting Gilbert Mitchell Arrington, 24, of Malden, at Campbell Saturday night.

The murder suspect had reportedly gone to Campbell to see a girl friend, Jewell Kilwin, and while he talked to her in front of her house, Arrington drove up, got out of the car and the two men began to argue.

Baker said Arrington reportedly took a bicycle chain to Jaynes just prior to the fatal shooting. When officers arrived at the Campbell address (322 Bailey) they said two cars were parked in the middle of the street, one belonging to Jaynes and the other to Arrington. Arrington was lying across the back rest of the front seat of Jaynes' car. He was shot five times with a small caliber gun.

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The Kentucky Fish and Wildlife Resources Commission has banned the use of commercial fishing nets in the coves of Kentucky and Barkley lakes in Western Kentucky. Sport fishing interests and tourists had urged the ban

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Senate Gubernatorial Appointments Committee Tuesday approved the nomination of 34-year-old George Camp to head the Missouri Department of Corrections.

Camp will replace William G. Miller who has served in the position for about a year.

Camp will come to Missouri from New York City where he is assistant commissioner of corrections.

Camp's resume shows he has risen rapidly in federal and state penal work holding nine jobs in the past 10 years.

He was nominated several weeks ago by Gov. Christopher S. Bond to head the state's prison system.

Camp told the Senate committee he was in favor of setting up training programs for guards and correctional officers. He also told committee members he was opposed to the death penaity.

The committee gave him unanimous approval indicating he would be confirmed without difficulty by the Senate.

The appointments committee also approved the nomination of Robert L. Morrison, 48, Lee's Summit fire chief, as state fire marshall.

Morrison also is vice president of the Missouri Fire Fighters Association.

Gobler youth drowns

GOBLER— A 17 year- old Gobler youth drowned late Monday while he was wading a rain- swollen ditch gigging for fish, Dunklin County authorities reported.

Drowned was Harvey Agee, 17, Gobler, son of Mrs. Lela Agee. Dunklin County Deputy Sheriff Radford Raines said the youth, accompanied by his 16-year- old brother Leon and three other youths, was gigging for fish in a drainage ditch two miles southwest of Gobler on Route ZZ at the time of the accident.

Agee apparently stepped off into a deep hole as he waded up to the bridge around 5:30 p.m. About 45 minutes later, the youth's body was recovered in about nine feet of water 60 feet south of the bridge. His body was found by Robert Crouch, Harold Rushing and Bud Greenfield of Gobler Star Route.

The youth's body was taken to the John W. German Funeral Home in Hayti.

MISSOURI
Resolution

A resolution declaring the necessity for the construction of one and one- half inch hotmix asphaltic pavement on six inch soil cement base with concrete curb and gutter on and along East Gladys Street from Selma to dead end in the City of Sikeston, Missouri; stating the nature of the improvement; the estimated cost and providing that payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills levied and assessed against the abutting property. Be it resolved by the Council of the City of Sikeston, State of Missouri, as follows: Section 1: That the Council of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, deems and declares the construction of said Street necessary to the welfare and improvement of the City of Sikeston. Section 2: That the nature and scope of the improvement shall consist of furnishing all cost, including labor, materials and transportation necessary for the complete construction of the improvement. Section 3: That the estimated cost of the improvement is $5.85 per lineal foot of abutting property, to be charged against the lots and tracts of land abutting the improvement. Section 4: That payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills evidencing special assessments against the abutting property in the manner specified by the statutes of the State of Missouri and the ordinances of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, because in the opinion of the City Council the General Revenue fund of the City of Sikeston is not in a condition to warrant an expenditure therefrom to pay for the improvement. Section 5: That any work performed on construction of the improvement shall be in compliance with the provisions of the prevailing wage laws of the State of Missouri, such prevailing wage rates having been established by the Industrial Commission of Missouri. Section 6: That the City Clerk is hereby authorized and directed to furnish a copy of this Resolution to a daily newspaper of general circulation in the City of Sikeston, so that it shall be published for seven consecutive insertions. Read the first, second and third times and passed and approved this 3rd day of April, 1973. Approved: FRANK FERRELL, Mayor; Attest: John W. Vaughn, City Clerk.

The life of a clown

"Laugh and the world laughs with you," is more than an old cliche to King Bros. Circus; it is a way of life. The comic cut-ups and elephants are just a part of the many acts which will be presented in the three- ring circus appearing in Sikeston Thursday for performances at 4 and 8 p.m. at the rodeo ground.

Circus coming

King Bros. Circus, with three rings, is coming to Sikeston Thursday for two performances starting at 4 and 8 p.m. on the Jaycee Bootheel Rodeo grounds. The circus is sponsored by the Sikeston Lions Club.

Everyone is invited to visit the circus grounds Thursday when the circus arrives to watch the circus city in the making. Animals will be unloaded, fed and watered, and people can watch Maude, one of the elephants, and her pals help set up the big tent.

The show will include trapeze artists, acrobats, wire walkers, jugglers, clowns and trained animals with entertainment for the whole family.

Proceeds from the circus will go to Lions Club charity projects.

Merit system draws criticism

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri's merit system is "archaic" and should be completely revamped, a Republican state senator said today.

Sen. Richard M. Webster, R-Charthage,said in a news conference that the controversy over the appointment of Edward Haynes of Moberly as head of the state personnel system showed that the system should be brought more closely in line with U. S. Civil Service standards.

Haynes was nominated by Gov. Christopher S. Bond after placing fifth in examinations. The governor refused to pick from the top three and asked for letters of waiver from two of the top three, so Haynes could be eligible.

One of those who waived, Edward Godar, also waived 20 years ago when the retiring head of the merit system, Norris F. Steenberger, was appointed. Steenberger announced his retirement last fall.

During Steenberger's tenure, Webster said, written examinations were dropped and the written examination score now is based only on a written application. Applications also were graded on a 20-minute interview.

Applicants from private industry were automatically weeded out, Webster said. Thirty-five applicants were eliminated, leaving 12, all associated in some way with state government, vying for the $18,000-ayear job.

The personnel director is in chanrge of the state's merit system, under which more than 10,000 state workers are employed.

Abandoning of the written exam is the "greatest weakness" in the method of selecting the director, Webster said.

The Senate Gubernatorial Appointments Committee is likely to reject Haynes, Webster said, although committee members have nothing against him.

"There has been criticism of too much advice and consent required by the Senate," Webster said. "If we had not required advice and consent, we would have gone rocking along with an archaic system without knowing it was an archaic system."

He said Bond "did what he had to do under the system" by seeking letters of waiver to try and get something he felt was qualified.

Webster said he could find nothing in the law permitting waivers for the position.

Bond has said there was no politics involved in his selection of Haynes.

Betterment officials tour E. Prairie area

EAST PRAIRIE — Guy Park Krause of Jefferson City, state director of the Community Betterment Program, said Tuesday, "Involvement is the key word for a successful Community Betterment Program. It is important that 100 years from now people can look back and see what the people in 1973 cared about their town."

Krause, along with Jerry Shirley, also with the Community Betterment Program of the Division of Commerce and Industrial Development and Jerry Halsell of Blytheville, Ark., Community Betterment representative for Arkansas-Missouri Power Co. and Associated Natural Gas Co., met in the community building with local CB members and representatives of the City Council, Chamber of Commerce and various youth groups.

The purpose of the meeting was to acquaint the state officials with local members and to inform them of various projects now being undertaken or recently completed.

Mrs. Ellouise Melton, chairman of the local Community Betterment Committee, and co- chairman James Barnhill both stressed the fact that this year's program has been youth-oriented and spoke highly of the number of youths involved in the projects.

Included in the youth projects this year are shuttle service for the elderly at the public housing units, erection of "Welcome to East Prairie" signs, glass pickups for the sheltered workship in Sikeston, animal clinic, art displays, houses of the month, trash pickup, tree planting, roadblock for the cancer fund drive, park decorations during Christmas, sandbagging of levees, refreshment stands for evacuees and work on the new Grace Bright Campbell Memorial Park.

Those present were asked by Krause to name one thing which, in their opinion, is needed to improve their town. Listed among the needed improvements were street and water projects, (now under way), recreation program, further beautification and the alteration of public opinion of East Prairie.

Projects which have the most involvement and which received the highest degree of accomplishment during the past year were the purchase of park property and the renovation of the old VFW building, which will be completed by September for scouts to use a scout cabin.

The Community Betterment Committee was complimented by the state team for the number of projects completed or in progress.

In conclusion, Shirley said, "You are doing a good job and we use you as an example. East Prairie won first prize in its population category at last year's awards banquet in Jefferson City.

said. He said the extended forecast was for continued rain today giving way to drier conditions for the remainder of the week.

The Missouri River, which inundated farmland and forced evacuations Monday, was nearing crest at most points Tuesday and is expected to reach 37 feet at St. Charles Friday, 12 feet above flood stage.

The predicted surge of the Mississippi at St. Louis was not expected to cause serious flooding in the city, which is protected by a flood wall designed to withstand a 52-foot river level. All 38 city flood gates were closed Tuesday.

Low cost loans will be made available to those whose property has been damaged, they said, but not until after the water recedes and accurate damage estimates can be made.

Underclassmen star

A couple of underclassmen teamed up on a rainy afternoon to give the Sikeston Bulldogs a 4-0 victory over previously unbeaten Charleston. Strong efforts by sophomore pitcher Kenny Stokes and junior second baseman Bill Shatzley enabled the Bulldogs to even their record at 2-2 and defeat another opponent --- the weatherman. Despite threatening conditions and a light rain through most of the contest, the Bulldogs were able to get in their fourth game after suffering through 12 rainouts.

Stokes fanned a dozen Blue Jay batters with a good fastball while hurling the four hitter. It was the first Sikeston shutout of the year. The sophomore righthander was threatened in just one inning, the fourth as he pushed his record to 1-1.

Shatzley sparkled at second was involved in two doubleplays. He also collected three of Sikeston's five hits and stole two bases.

The defense was solid for both teams in the game. A dropped fly ball surprisingly accounted for the only error, despite the fact that the game was played under less-then favorable conditions.

It was the bottom part of the order that did the damage for SHS. The 7-8-9 men in the order accounted for three runs and all five hits. Danny Nelson had two R-B-I's and Donnie Taylor added another.

Sikeston threatened in the first and broke loose against losing pitcher Junior Delay in the second. Rick Eisenbach opened the inning by being hit by a pitched ball. Following a strikeout, Shatzley contributed his first safety and Taylor followed with a run- scoring single. Nelson stroked a single to score a couple and minutes later stole home to cap the rally.

Stokes was wild high, but gave Charleston little hope throughout the game. The sophomore worried his teammates and coaches by throwing the ball too high all game, but the young hurler proved to be too quick for the CHS batters. The only time Charleston threatned was the fourth when the first two singled. But a double play on a pop up took Charleston right out of the inning.

Sikeston tries to go over the 500-mark in a 4 o'clock contest the afternoon at Cape Central. Cape Central is one of the area's top teams and is seeded number one in the district tournament for the big schools next week. Slated to start the contest for Sikeston is Mitchell Walker, a winner the last time out over Notre Dame.

Clayton stars in spring game

MURRAY, Ky.,-- The annual Blue- Gold game last weekend which ended spring football practice at Murray State University got a plus rating from Coach Bill Furgerson.

"Although the kicking game was probably the outstanding facet of the game, I thought we did several other things well," Furgerson said. "I thought the game was marked by fine, aggressive play by both sides, which points up the competition we have had for positions all spring, and I was impressed with the spirit and attitude of the squad.

"We were hampered by bad weather all spring and had trouble putting a few days practice together until last week. But when we finally got some continuity in our practice I thought we made lots of progress.

"The muddy field the night of the game hurt the ball carriers but despite the poor conditions, I thought they showed promise."

The Blue team, composed of the first offensive and defensive units beat the White team, made up of the rest of the squad, 23- 0 in the game. Don Clayton, of Malden, Mo., tailback for the Blues, was the game's leading rusher with 90 yards, 47 of which came on a touchdown gallop on the last play of the game. Tom Pandolfi quarterbacked the Blues and completed 11 of 31 passes for 167 yards. Ken Galtney was his leading receiver with 4 catches for 84 yards.

Steve Martin punted for both teams and averaged 37.2 yards on 11 kicks. He had one 64- yarder.

The Blue defense held the Whites ton only 17 yards rushing and 99 passing. White quarterback Mike Hobbie completed 6 of 23 passes and had 3 intercepted. Linebacker Tom Johnson had one of the interceptions and returned it 45 yards for a touchdown. Cornerbacks Paul Coltharp and Mark Hickman had the others.

Tackle Jay Waddle had 9 tackles and 2 assists for the Blues. End Jim McPeake had 4 and 1, Coltharp 4 and 2, and Linebacker Bruce Farris of Sikeston, Mo., had 3 and 5. Matt Schappert and Chuck Wempe each had 4 tackles and 1 assist for the Whites.

'Jethro' masters hitters

BENTON — Coach Jim Thornsberry's Kelly Hawks are finding that sand can be a real blessing when it comes to playing baseball as their diamond has been the only one playable in the last few weeks due to the consistent rains which have drenched southeast Missouri.

Kelly can be extra thankful as all their competition has to come to their back yard to play which gives the Hawks the home field advantage.

Kelly ran their season record to 7-2 Tuesday afternoon by turning back the East Prairie Eagles 6-3 in Scott- Mississippi conference play Kelly is 3-1 in league action.

Jeff "Jethro" Jackson was the winning pitcher for the Hawks, giving up three unearned runs in the top of the third inning. The big righthander has allowed only one earned run in 42 innings and sports a ERA of 0.167. Jackson fanned 13 Eagles in the contest and has whiffed 74 in the 42 innings pitched.

The game was scoreless until the Hawks started making a few throwing errors allowing three runs to cross the plate.

Tim Bard handled the Hawks with ease until the bottom of the fifth when Kelly rallied for two runs.

Jackson kept the Eagles at bay until the Hawks rallied for the winning runs in the bottom of the sixth inning as Bob Crosno and Bob Jackson batted in the tying and winning runs.

Shortstop Richard Urhahn was the hitting star for the Hawks with three for three at the plate and two runs batted in. Brasher as the only other Hawk to get more than one safety, smacking two singles in three at bats.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — That American game called baseball will make its way to Europe this summer when Harvard University's varsity squad plays 18 games from June 17 to July 10 in Italy.

Among the teams that will face the Harvard nine is the Italian National All-Star team, which is in training for the European Championships to be held in Holland later this summer.

Harvard was invited to Italy by the Italian Baseball Federation.

HAMILTON, Ont. (AP) — Fred Summers, a quarterback and defensive back formerly with the Cleveland Browns and New York Giants of the National Football League has been signed by the Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Canadian Football League.

Summers, a 6-foot-1 185 pound starting quarterback at Wake Forest played defensive back for the Browns from 1969 until last season, then was traded to New York. But he was injured before the season started and was released by the Giants.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Carlos Reynoso scored goals in the eighth and 24th minutes of the first half Tuesday night to lead America of Mexico to a 2-1 victory over the New York Cosmos of the North American Soccer League.

Tibor Vigh scored the Cosmos' only goal just one minute after Reynoso booted in what proved to be the winner. Reynoso, a Chilean, was thrown out of the game 23 minutes into the second half for deliberately kicking a New York player.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Edward N. Cole have been named honorary starters for the 57th Indianapolis 500mile race May 28.

Cole is president of General Motors. Also on the honorary race staff are Charles W. Duncan, president of Coca Cola, honorary referee, and Raymond C. Firestone, board chairman of Firestone Tire and Rubber, honorary steward.

Mrs. Cole will be the first woman designated as honorary official since aviatrix Amelia Earhart was named honorary referee in 1935.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The New York Giants have acquired veteran tight end Gary Ballman on waivers from the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League.

New Eagles Coach Mike McCormick, who announced the action Tuesday, said he felt it was a good opportunity for 32-year-old Ballman because AllAmerican tight end Charles Young of USC was a top Eagle draft choice, and "Ballman did not fit into our plans."

Ballman, acquired from Pittsburgh in 1967, caught 320 passes for 37 touchdowns and 5,328 yards in his 11-season NFL career.

Can you spot the Camel Filters smoker?

In this picture everybody has a gimmick... almost everybody. Try picking the one who doesn't go along. 1. Nope. He's Alfonso Cliggitt, divorce lawyer. Gimmick: far out dress to intimidate the opposition. Smokes cigarettes made of dried tundra. 2. Harold A. Baer, rare book expert. ("Books Old and Rare from Harry Baer.") Thinks rolling his own makes him look younger. A real dingbat. 3. If she's the Camel Filters smoker, the guy with the beard is Jean Harlow. 4. Gene Harlow. 5. Right! He's just himself. And he sees through all the gimmicks. That's why he smokes an honest, no-nonsense cigarette. Camel Filters. Easy and good tasting. Made from fine tobacco. 6. A. Boswell Farquar. Gimmick: a white (not green) parrot. Hasn't seen a movie in years. They won't let his parrot in. 6a. Parrot. Smokes a meerchaum pipe but has trouble keeping it lit.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals, victims of a seven-game losing streak, took the first step Tuesday night in reversing that trend as they shutout the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-0 here for their second win of the season.

"I feel like we ought to break out the champagne," said Redbird Coach George Kissell. "This is like winning the seventh game of the World Series."

Cardinal Manager Red Schoendienst was equally pleased with the results of the contest, especially after withstanding 12 losses in the club's first 13 games.

"It's good to see a shutout, especially when you've been losing and losing and losing," Schoendienst said, but he added that he still wanted to see more action from St. Louis bats as the Cardinals managed only eight hits off Dodger starte Claude Osteen and reliefer Pete Richert while stranding nine.

"We've got a shutout. Now we need a couple of big innings," he said.

Right-hander Rick Wise went the distance for the Redbirds, scattering only six hits on his way to his second victory against one defeat, to be the only Cardinal pitcher with a victory this year.

"I had good location on my pitches," said Wise, who tossed the ball only 104 times in his nine-inning performance. "I was making them hit my pitch."

The Cardinals got on the scoreboard in the second when Joe Torre singled to left, advanced to second on a walk to Ted Simmons and scored on a one-out single to right by Jose Cruz. Simmons moved to third on Cruz's safety and the bases were loaded after Osteen passed shortstop Ray Busse.

Then the lack of Redbird hitting struck as Osteen fanned Wise and got Lou Brock to force Busse at second.

"It hit the outside part of the line," said Vern Benson, third base coach. "Psychologically, you don't know what winning a game like this can mean to us."

Dexter golfers set meet record

Coach Jim Hall's Dexter Bearcat clubbers set a school meet record Tuesday as they shot a team score of 157 to defeat the visiting Sikeston Bulldog golfers who shot 176. This marked the fourth time this season that a Sikeston opponent has set a meet record while battling a winless SHS squad.

Vancil of Dexter took medalist honors for the match with a nine hole total of 36. Useted and Southerland each shot 40 while Ulen rounded out the top four with a round of 41.

For Sikeston, Dennis Meyer was low shooter with a round of 41 on the Dexter course. Galen Kruger had a 44, Mark Shw a 45, and Bill Wake a 46 to complete the varsity with a score of 176.

Bulldogs' junior varsity captured its first victory of the season as they dropped the Bearcats in a three- man match, 149- 164. Chris Alberts took medalist honors for the jayvees with a 44. Ron Priday and Lance Hesselrode turned in scores of 51 and 54 respectively for SHS.

Sikeston was slated to host the Poplar Bluff Mule golf team this afternoon at the Sikeston country club, but at last report there was some doubt as to whether the course had been made unplayable by the rains this week.

Foucault stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's not how many hits you get, a baseball observer once observed. It's what you do with them.

The Texas Rangers did lots more with their meager four hits than Detroit did with its seven Tuesday night and that's why that Tigers came out on the short end of a 2-1 American League decision.

That, and Steve Foucault.

Foucault, a 23-year-old rookie, handled a pressurepacked ninth inning like a veteran to save the victory for the Rangers. He got power-hitting Willie Horton to rap into a rally-killing double play and then stranded the tying run on third base by retiring Aurelio Rodriguez on a grounder.

Thank you, Mr. Foucault.

Elsewhere in the American League Tuesday, Chicago trimmed the New York Yankees 8-4, Minnesota beat Boston 6-4, Milwaukee defeated Kansas City 9-1, Oakland shut out Cleveland 4-0 and California topped Baltimore 6-5 in 10 innings with ex-Oriole Frank Robinson smashing a key threerun homer against his old team.

In the National League, San Francisco beat Chicago 4-2 in 10 innings, Atlanta whipped Philadelphia 11-2, Montreal defeated Cincinnati 7-2, San Diego downed Pittsburgh 7-5, St. Louis shut out Los Angeles 2-0 and Houston beat the New York Mets 4-2.

The Rangers, accustomed to only a few hits per game, made them count against the Tigers. Dave Nelson singled, stole second, was sacrificed to third and scored on Rico Carty's high bouncer in the first inning against Mickey Lolich. One hit, one run

In the seventh, Carty reached on a fielder's choice, moved up on a wild pitch and scored on Rich Billings. Another hit, another run.

Robinson supplied a touch of drama to his first meeting with his old Baltimore teammates. He slugged a three-run homer that helped California wipe out an early five-run Baltimore lead.

The Angels tied the score in the bottom of the ninth on Bob Oliver's pinch single and then won it in the 10th when Jim Spencer delivered his third hit of the game, a bases-loaded single.

Kansas City proved that getting less hits than the other guys doesn't necessarily mean you're going to win the ball game The Royals managed just three against Milwaukee's Jerry Bell and came up losers against the Brewers.

Chicago rocked the Yankees with a five-run fourth inning ignited by Bill Melton's fifth homer of the year. Eddie Leon and Carlos May also homered for the White Sox, which goes to prove that Dick Allen isn't the only home run threat on that club.

Larry Hisle, a National retread, clubbed his fourth homer of the American League season, touching off a five-run Minnesota rally that carried the Twins past Boston.

Ken Holtzman and Horacio Pina combined for Oakland's shut out against Cleveland, limiting the Indians to six hits. Ted Kubiak homered for the A's, who beat Gaylord Perry for the fifth straight time over two seasons.

Colonels make it

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — The Kentucky Colonels made it decisive, leading all the way as they finished off the Carolina Cougars to join Indiana in the American Basketball Association's championship finals.

Dan Issel paced the 107-96 victory with a game-high 31 points and he added 17 rebounds to his scoring barrage Tuesday night as the Colonels won the best-of-seven East Division playoff series four games to three.

Kentucky and Indiana will meet in a nationally televised opener at Louisville Saturday to open their series for the ABA championship. The defendingchampion Pacers won the West title over Utah in six games.

"I was delighted with the win," said Colonels' Coach Joe Mullaney. "It was a tough game against a good team away from home and I'm very proud of our guys."

Carl Scheer, president and general manager of the Cougars, said it was "a great season abruptly ended." But he added, "I suppose on reflection it was an outstanding season," one in which Carolina jumped to a division lead right at the start and never relinquished it.

Meanwhile, only one game stands in the way of settling both the Eastern and the Western Conference playoffs in the National Basketball Association.

The New York Knicks lead 31 going into tonight's Eastern game with the Celtics at Boston Garden and the Los Angeles Lakers lead by the same margin as they play host to the Golden State Warriors at the Forum.

Whether Boston captain John Havlicek will be able to play awaits a final decision by the team physician, Dr. Thomas Silva. Havlicek suffered a painful shoulder bruise last Friday and missed Sunday's game, a double-overtime loss.

In the West, the defendingchampion Lakers also have injuries to surmount for tonight's game, with two key players hobbling. Starting forward Jim McMillian has a knee injury and No. 1 reserve Keith Erickson has a bad ankle.

Walton among ABA draftees

By TED MEIER Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Now it's the turn of the "Lively League", the slogan of the American Basketball Association when it came into existence six years ago, to hold its draft of college players today.

The ABA has twice postponed its draft in order to follow that of the rival National Basketball Association and, while its session likely will not be as lively as the NBA's on Tuesday, it will be interesting to note if many of the same players are chosen.

Particularly interesting is what player will be the No. 1 choice. Doug Collins of Illinois State was the NBA's No. 1, taken by Philadelphia.

Before the start of this socalled "public" draft, ABA Commissioner Bob Carlson is expected to release the names of players selected in its secret, or "private" draft, as the ABA terms it, last January.

The San Diego Conquistadors pick first in the ABA and, even though he has said he will finish his career next season at UCLA, they are expected to select All-American Bill Walton of the national collegiate champion Bruins.

Memphis will pick second after San Diego, followed by San Antonio, New York, Virginia, Denver, Indiana, Utah, Kentucky and Carolina.

Collins no. 1 NBA draften

NEW YORK (AP) — The 1973 National Basketball Association's college draft is over but the bitter taste of the Brisker affair remains.

Philadelphia, foiled in a lastminute attempt to delay the already twice-postponed draft, announced before making the first pick Tuesday that it planned further action to get a first-round choice it feels it should have because of Seattle's signing of John Brisker.

The 76ers then opened the draft by picking Olympian Doug Collins of Illinois State, whom some pro scouts describe as having "the quickest hands and feet in college" basketball.

Three All-Americans also were first-round selections—guard Ernie DiGregorio of Providence, by Buffalo; Kermit Washington of American University, by Los Angeles, and guard Ed Ratleff of Long Beach State, by Houston.

It was a day of apprehension and annoyance for NBA commissioner Walter Kennedy.

At 10:30 a.m., EST, famed trial lawyer Louis Nizer, representing the 76ers, went before a judge in the Second U.S. Court of Appeals here asking for a temporary restraining order that would stay the draft.

The 76ers sought the injunction so that they could initate action in an attempt to restore a ruling made by Kennedy last November that awarded Philadelphia Seattle's firstround draft pick as a payment for signing Brisker, a former American Basketball Association player who was the NBA property of the 76ers. Seattle, picking fourth, took Mike Green of Louisiana Tech.

At 11:30 a.m., the NBA announced that a judge had refused to issue a restraining order and that the draft would start as scheduled at noon. At noon, Kennedy had to fret for 65 minutes because of difficulty in hooking up a telephone conference call, the means by which the draft was conducted.

Then came the first pick of the draft, which Philadelphia earned by having the worst record in the Eastern Conference and by winning a coin toss with Portland, which had the worst mark in the West.

But before picking Collins, Philadelphia General Manager Don DeJardin announced, "We exercise this pick under protest before these proceedings commence. He also said that an effort would be made to get a reversal of a U.S. District Court ruling overturning a decision made by Kennedy last November when Brisker signed with Seattle after having played with the now defunct Pittsburgh club of the ABA.

For a time it looked as if Philadelphia might give up the right of picking first. However, a trade that would have sent the draft pick to Chicago for veteran guard Bob Weiss and center Cliff Ray fell through when Ray, who had a knee injury this past season, failed to pass a 76ers' physical.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Just a few lines about the talk and bickering over high meat prices and farm products. In the past 20 years we have had a surplus of grain and other farm products, and we had cheap prices.

In the year 1968 Orville Freeman then Secretary of Agriculture was in Sikeston and his reason was the surplus; for our cheap prices; at that time we were getting $2.50 for beans, 85 cents to 90 cents a bushel for corn; 15 cents to 18 cents for hogs and 25 cents to 28 cents for cattle. Now we have gotten rid of a surplus and we have better prices so what does the government do, they take 13 million acres out of set- aside and ask us to produce another surplus for cheap prices for the consumer; while we continue to pay high prices for shoes, clothing, farm equipment, and automobiles.

If we can put a ceiling on these meat prices or farm products, why can't it be done on all items.

If food prices did rise as rapidly as other cost's then the consumer would have something to howl about. If farm and food prices had increased at the same rate as other important items in the Nation's economy we would have something like this; in 1950 steers in Kansas City were bringing $31.50 per dundred weight — compared with the rise in medical care today they would be $72.34 per hundred weight, or the average hourly wage rates; $80.69 per hundred weight on cattle.

As a farmer I can't understand how and why they can fuss so much when some of these very people who are on the Boycott, their husbands or families are making an average of $6.80 per hour in the processing plants, and the Union Truck driver hauling this meat to the store $4.50 or more per hour, and the local supermarket butcher getting another $3.50 to $4.50 per hour wage; and then they think the farmer is the one to cut down.

These people who have howled so loud about the price of meat, continue to buy $5000 to $9000 cars, expensive boats, stereo equipment, and other non food items; I would gladly help them boycott these things.

As an irrated farmer who has waded the mud and snow to feed all winter I feel I am speaking out for some of the other farmers, by writing and expressing my opinion; But being a farmer we are to set back and not speak out.

Sincerely,
Paul Joe Witt

Dear Charles,

Enclosed please find some pictures from the Steele, and Bloomfield papers. These pictures show the respective mayors signing the Girl Scout proclamation during the Week of March. I went to a lot of trouble to get a picture or our mayor signing the same proclamation here in Sikeston, but was told by your office that your paper doesn't print proclamations anymore. Fine, but why wouldn't they print the picture? It's not news that over 1000 girls in Sikeston and over 4 million across the nation are celebrating their birthday!!! I guess the editors of those papers think anything concerning their town is news. On the other hand maybe you had too much advertisement that day to be able to print it.

You will also find a picture I clipped from last nights paper, (April 11, 1973) of the new schools ground breaking. Could you please identify these men???? I'm really teasing, I know who they are, but I would like to point out to you that I have brought many a picture in and was told that they could not be printed unless they could be identified.

I want to say in closing that I really enjoy your paper and look forward to it each evening (even the advertising, it helps me to find bargains) and wouldn't want to do without it, but how about a little bit more cooperation with the Girl Scouts of Sikeston.!!!!

Sincerely,
Bonnie Dyer

Dear Editor:

On February 27, 1973, some 200 gun- toting supporters of the American Indian Movement (AIM) seized the hamlet of Wounded Knee, on the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation in South Dakota.

Clearly still savoring the triumph of the AIM- led occupation and destruction of the headquarters of the Bureau of Indian Affairs in Washington, D. C., (November 2-8, 1972), AIM leaders declared the 40 acre area around Wounded Knee "an independent sovereign nation." Meanwhile, a group of Indians conferred with U.N. Undersecretary, General Chakravarthi Narasihman of India, demanding that "the Indian nation" be admitted to the UN as an independent state.

Vernon Bellecourt, an AIM leader, said that the Indian nation had the right to apply for such membership.

The American Indian Movement was founded in Minneapolis, Minnesota in July 1968. It has since become a national organization and boasts some 65 chapters throughout the country.

A remarkably candid story on the curious events at Wounded Knee in TIME magazine of March 26 pointed out that:

Wounded Knee had become a kind of trap, particularly for television. It was obviously a major event that demanded thorough coverage. AIM leaders were so successful in getting their side of the story across, and so enthralled by the attention they were receiving, that they seemed willing to prolong the deadlock for the sake of still more publicity. Most newsmen watched helplessly as the thin line between covering and creating news wavered.

To add to the strange series of events at Wounded Knee, a number of leftwing individuals and groups have been taking an active part.

Among the "civil rights" notables who showed up at Wounded Knee to affirm — in one way or another — their solidarity with the AIM takeover were comedian Dick Gregory, and apostle of non-violence the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy. Also on the scene and taking an active part was militant "civil rights" lawyer Willaim Kunstler.

The March 17 issue of the communist newspaper DAILY WORLD reported that "organizations like the National Lawyers Guild and the National Council of Churches, both on the scene, have been giving the beseiged Indians legal and material aid."

The National Lawyers Guild was described by the House Committee on Un-American Activities in its report on this organization as "the foremost legal bulwark of the Communist Party."

The same article also revealed that "Lonnie Healey, secretary of the Communist Party's Commission of Indian Liberation" was on the scene.

A UPI dispatch of March 17 reported that Bureau of Indian Affairs police, armed with a blanket summons issued by the Oglala Sioux Tribal Council, ordered about 20 NCC representatives to leave Wounded Knee as "undesirables" for aiding and abetting the militant Indians. The NCC representatives, however, ignored the summons.

A statement issued by Secretary of the Interior Rogers C. B. Morton, asserted that:

". . . there has grown up in the wake of the black militant movement in this country a revolutionary Indian movement. Dramatic violence is its pattern. Some are renegades, some youthful adventurers, some have criminal records."

AIM has received a significant amount of financial support from religious denominations and church related groups. According to news reports:

 The American Lutheran Church's Division of Social Service is credited with having provided AIM with $37,000 since 1969.

 AIM's original office was provided by the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of St. Paul- Minneapolis. The Archdiocese is also credited with giving $15,650 to the Minneapolis chapter of AIM and $14,200 to the St. Paul AIM chapter.

 In 1971 the Roman Catholic Campaign for Human Development (CHD) gave a reported $40,000 to help develop AIM chapters across the country. In 1972, $40,000 was given by CHD to AIM's Indian Survival School in Minneapolis.

 The United Methodist Board of Global Ministries' National Division gave some $4,000 to the AIM- led "Trail of Broken Treaties Caravan" which culminated in the physical destruction of the Bureau of Indian Affairs headquarters in Washington, D.C.

 The Episcopal Church provided $10,000 to the "Trail of Broken Treaties."

 The November-December 1972 issue of IFCO NEWS reported that the Interreligious Foundation for Community Organization, with headquarters at 475 Riverside Drive in New York City, the same address as the National Council of Churches, reported that "The AIM mission has been facilitated by $30,000 of IFCO funds over the past four years."

 On January 22 the World Council of Churches (WCC) announced that its controversial Special Fund to Combat Racism had granted $6,000 to AIM.

We doubt that many church members who contributed to any of the above religious groups would be pleased that their money has been used to finance this sort of "Red Power."

The above report was published April 1, 1973 by the Church League of America, Wheaton,Ill. This organization has dedicated 37 years to exposing the "activities" of the National Council of Churches. Therfore, the Church League of America is well qualified in making these statements that are re- searched. They offer information that seldom filters down from the NCC Headquarters in New York City to the local church member. Since the local church member helps to finance the NCC "activities", is he not entitled to have this information?

Mrs. Clifford LaPlant

Dear Mr. B—
Thanks to Sam Harbin, our superintendant of schools, for the informative talk he gave at the last meeting of Sikeston Junior Woman's Club. We want to share some of his comments with your readers, since his discussion centered on the 'raw material aspect' of education. And this involves everyone in our community who knows a child.

The real estate value of our school system is above 17 million dollars. This includes the equipment, buildings and facilities with which the school system prepares our youngsters (the 'raw material' of our community) for their futures.

The school system needs more in-put from parents by way of understanding:

1)"school age parents" formerly called the pregnant school girl; one out of 10 women becomes pregnant before whe is 18 and, if progressing with the average, her child will enter school at the age of five. It is the responsibility of the school system to keep the school age parent in school and continue her education to prepare her for a future in the job world. In this way, she will be less likely to raise a disadvantaged, under- stimulated child.

2) drug traffic probably exists in our school system. According to national narcotics bureau statistics, there is all probability of this traffic, although efforts of our staff and administration to learn sources and trafficking systems have not yet succeeded. There is, therefore, no conclusive proof of drug traffic. However, if a person of school age is involved in a questionable situation, the first information given about the person is usually 'a high school student' or a 'student at — high school'

3) quality staff: our staff is not perfect, but Harbin would be happy to compare it with any other staff in the area; parents, as greater per centages of our population become relatively well educated, demand higher quality staff and create a discussion issue that did not exist a few years ago.

4) and last, ATTORNEY GENERAL OPINION NUMBER 66: re free education in the State of Missouri, capsuled to say any school system must furnish all the materials used in any class offered (including band, football, and even the shorts and shirts for the physical education classes). If the attorney general is allowed to make this ruling, much of the money which goes now to hiring the more qualified people will go instead for supplies which private citizens have long been responsible. Write your congressman and senator.

Harbin will be happy to discuss any facet of the school system with any public and gladly answer questions.

Dear Editor:

The irate housewives, who should be irate, have taken dead aim on the price of meat by boycott. Unfortunately, they are going to make a large number of people suffer and lose their jobs who don't deserve to since they had nothing whatsoever to do with the high price of meat.

The real culprits are the free- spending Congressmen and the Administrations who have spent billions beyond tax income and have eroded and ruined the value of the dollar. They are the real offenders who have created inflation and high taxes by Congressional spending for pet projects. Two prime examples are $22,432,117.71 PER DAY for Foreign Aid and $416,681.48 PER DAY for the United Nations.

All right ladies — more power to you, but let's all of us take a point on the high-rolling "Big Spenders" in Congress -- the REAL CULPRITS who have caused high wages and prices!

Sincerely,
C. C. Moseley

Dear Mr. Blanton,

Sikeston Junior Woman's Club would like to thank the area merchants for their support in the advertising booklet for the Big River Appaloosa Horse Club show to be held at Sikeston Jaycee Bootheel Rodeo grounds April 28. The funds JWC receives from this project go into our community improvement fund to be used in purchasing equipment for pediatrics ward of Missouri Delta Community hospital.

Our objective is to assist in equipping our local hospital to attend cases which now must be referred to large, complex hospitals in St. Louis or Memphis. Sikeston merchants' support is helping us attain this goal. Our hospital is a community effort, and JWC just wished to thank those who took an extra step in community involvement.

Thank you,
Ann Matthews
(Mrs. Clay Matthews)

Dear Mr. Blanton:

I want to take this opportunity to thank your newspaper and especially Mary Nolen, for the fine article in Tuesday's edition. The article was well written and I had several comments from individuals who stated that the article provided them with information regarding the duties of a probation officer that they did not know. Our department is appreciateive of any newspaper coverage that informs the public about our duties.

I had approached Miss Nolen about such an article and was happy that she agreed to do one. I have watched her in her duties covering court news and feel that she represents your paper in a splendid manner.

Again, accept my personal thanks for the article.

Very truly yours,

Dear Mr. Blanton,

Sunday, I drove around our city to see all the spring beauty we have here. Instead of letting this weather dampen our spirits, perhaps we would all get a lift to our spirits if we would load up the family in the car and take a drive through our own city. I was reminded of a plaque I saw in Bellingraph Gardens in Mobile, Alabama years ago which reads — "If The Garden of Eden Could Be Any Prettier Than This."

In addition to the flowering beauty to be seen in our newer residential sections and down Kingshighway, there are 2 smaller homes that everyone should see. One is at 306 Edmondson near the tennis courts with pink azaleas in full bloom all around it now — and later on when we get a couple sunny days there is one at 317 Helen Ave. near the shopping center; a white house with Red Azaleas around it.

Appreciatively,
Mary Anna Sapp

The case of the drinking glass

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Rocky owned a cocktail lounge and decided to add a dab of artistic culture to its operation. He obtained a county license for a model studio and set aside a portion of his gin mill where his customers could paint, sketch and photograph live nude models.

While the venture failed to produce any Rembrandts or Picassos, it did produce the police, who charged Rocky with violating a county ordinance that prohibited the consumption of booze on the same premises as a licensed model studio.

"When we walked in," the officers testified in court, "Rocky's studio was loaded with bar flies who couldn't even draw files. It was a clear violation of the ordinance."

"Maybe so," was Rocky's answer, "but the ordinance is about as valid as a three- dollar bill. It not only deprives drinking people of equal treatment under the law, it also deprives them of their constitutional right of freedom of expression. Since the drinking class are entitled to the same privileges as anyone else, the ordinance is discriminatory and can't be enforced against me."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you invalidate the ordinance as being discriminatory against the drinking class?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that the ordinance was reasonable in permitting abstaining, sober persons to attend model studios while prohibiting drinking and nonabstaining persons from doing so. Considering that the models were nude and would often assume many provocative poses, noted the judge, and considering further that inhibitions are loosened by alcohol, the possibility of lewd hanky- panky between drinker and the model would be great, thereby adversely affecting the general welfare.

Postal system investigated

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — The Independent Postal System of America, an Oklahoma Citybased firm competing with the U. S. Postal Service for the junk mail business, is being investigated by the consumer fraud division of the Illinois attorney general's office in the area.

At least four complaints from metro-east residents have been received by the attorney general's East St. Louis office. They charge the firm misrepresented income potential for postal carriers. Each carrier is required to pay a $1,500 franchise fee for his route.

A federal grand jury in Oklahoma City also is investigating the multistate firm.

There are more than 150 IPSA routes operated by at least 100 carriers in this area. Many routes are owned by retired persons seeking supplemental income and by persons moonlighting as IPSA carriers to make more money.

One unemployed Belleville man complained that he was promised an income of $40 to $50 a day for his $1,000 investment.

One of the novel attractions on display by Sol's Liberty Shows, Inc., this week at the Sikeston Baseball Park, Highway 61, is the "Gangster Car" owned and managed by Eddie Moore, said to be the armoured Cadillac sedan used by Al Capone, Chicago's notorious gangster. Ordinarily weighting 450 pounds, the Capone car, by reason of its additional armoured plates, bulletproof glass, iron encased gas tank, and other embellishments tips the scales at slightly over 800 pounds.

The glass in all doors and windows is one inch thick; the tires are bullet- proof with tubes that cost $20 each. Special carburation allows the heavy sedan to move at top speed of 105 miles per hour.

Claud Fleming, who for the past several months has been employed at the Robinson Lumber Co., here as bookkeeper, left Wednesday for Puxico, where he will serve as manager of the Robinson Lumber Yard of that city.

Requests staff enlargement

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth says he needs additional lawyers on his staff to handle the increased number of cases filed against the state by prison inmates and others convicted of crimes.

Danforth said he sent a letter to Sen. Norman Merrell, D-Monticello, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, saying that money for his office cut from a House bill should be restored by the Senate.

The House cut Danforth's request of an additional $79,000 for six more assistants.

The Interstate Highway System, begun in 1956, was designed to be the nation's key highway network, serving both civilian and defense needs. When completed it will form a 42,500-mile web of rural and urban superhighways spanning the nation and connecting 93 per cent of all cities over 50,000 population. The World Almanac says. Routes with odd numbers run north and south, even-numbered routes run east and west.

Bargaining is opposed

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A group called Missourians for Right to Work, Inc., began a campaign Thursday against Missouri Senate passage of a bill to allow collective bargaining for public employes.

The bill is expected to be considered by the Senate in the next two weeks.

Gene Mittelberg, executive vice president of the Columbia group, said in a letter to senators that the bill would require payment of dues or fees to a private organization as a condition of employment.

He called it "extortion by legislation."

The bill would apply to employes of the state, cities or counties and would set up a Missouri Employes Relations Board.

The bill provides for elections supervised by the employe relations board, provides for mediation of disputes and for a check-off system of paying dues.

Mittelberg's group has supported a bill in the House to prohibit mandatory union membership as a condition of employment.

KC Board of Trade under investigation

Farmer issues conduct code

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Insurance Commissioner Edward Farmer made public today a code of conduct for his employes.

"It should never be necessary for the general citizen to know someone or have influence with someone to get a response from the division," Farmer said. "We will act on all inquiries from all persons with equal diligence."

No employe will be allowed to receive a gift or gratuity from any insurance company, he said. The restriction will not apply to gifts or favors of a "nominal intrinsic value."

No employe can have an outside job which may result in a conflict of interest, he said.

Also, no employe can, within two years after his job with the insurance division is ended, represent any insurance company in proceedings involving the division of insurance.

Violation of the standards of conduct would bring dismissal, Farmer said.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A charge that the Kansas City Board of Trade manipulated wheat futures prices has been under investigation by the U.S. Commodity Exchange Authority (CEA) since last July, a CEA spokesman said here Tuesday.

The allegation was made last summer by the American Bakers Association, which contended the Board of Trade manipulated the prices during the Russian wheat negotiations in order to increase government subsidies to major U.S. exporters.

Sam Gordon, regional director of the CEA office here, said, "We hope to have our investigation concluded by the end of this month or the first part of next month." Gordon said the results will be sent to Alex Caldwell, head of the CEA in Washington, and then released by Caldwell.

Recent published reports indicated the bakers' charge was turned over to a Board of Trade committee for investigation. The reports apparently prompted Rep. John Melcher, D-Mont., to suggest in Congress that CEA, the regulatory agency for commodity exchanges, be "completely reformed or abolished and replaced."

Melcher said, "There can be no justification for letting the Kansas City Board of Trade handle the investigation made to the CEA about occurrences at the Kansas City Board of Trade."

The allegation was filed with the CEA in Washington, Gordon said, "and we (in the Kansas City office) started making our investigation and then referred it to the Kansas City Board of Trade."

The CEA investigation continued independent of the marekt's own probe, he said.

The Board of Trade investigation, which ended in a finding that the bakers' charge was unfounded, cannot be released, said Walter Vernon III, the Board of Trade secretary, for the following reasons:

—"This is a matter which, as far as CEA is concerned, is still open."

—"We are hesitant to open raw date to the inexperienced press or anyone who doesn't understand it."

—The Board of Trade's counsel advised against releasing the findings because of financial statements and facts which are of private concern.

Gordon said the alleged price manipulations were referred to the Board of Trade because of a provision in the Commodity Exchange Act requiring contract markets to keep their houses clean.

As the demand by the Soviet Union and dwindling wheat supplies drove the price of American winter wheat from $1.64 to $2.15 a bushel last summer, bakers were rebuffed at least twice by the federal Price Commission in their efforts to gain approval for an additional cent on every one-pound loaf of bread.

On July 26, in a letter to the CEA, Joseph Creed, general counsel of the American Bakers Association, which represents 70 per cent of the market's dollar volume, noted the membership's concern with sharp sudden increases of prices domestically "despite the large surplus of wehat."

He said on at least two days in July final purchases of September wheat futures were made at prices "higher than levels which prevailed during the day," thus having "the effect of raising the subsidy payment on exports for the following day (and) beenfiting wheat exporters."

Wheat export subsidies — essentially the difference between world market and domestic wheat prices — jumped from less than 10 cents a bushel in July to a high of 47 cents a bushel on Aug. 25, 1972.

None of the major traders has reported prices they paid on the domestic market or when they registered for subsidies — thus giving no indications of profits they may have made in the Russian deal. There is nothing requiring them to make such reports public.

The bakers' charge was referred by the Board of Trade to its business conduct committee, a five-man body which in 1972 included a representative of Continental Grain Co., whose 189-million bushel sale to the Soviet Union was the largest among the exporters.

Neither Vernon nor Horace W. Johnston, the board's president last year, saw any possibility that a conflict of interest could sway the committee in its findings.

The 12-man board of directors has to approve the committee's report, Vernon said. "No one has more interest in the sanctity of the (Board of Trade) than ourselves."

Forbids discrimination

ST. LOUIS (AP)--A federal court here ruled Wednesday that girls cannot be prohibited from competing with boys on public school athletic teams.

The Eighth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals struck down a rule of the Minnesota State High School League that bars girls from taking part in boys' athletics. Judge Gerald Heany, writing for a three-judge panel, rejected a league argument that the physiological differences between boys and girls makes it impossible for girls to compete equitably with males in sports.

The ruling said the league argument was susceptible to discrimination based on sterotyped notions about the nature of the sexes. The judge said no objective evidence had been brought forth to compare boys and girls in co-ordination, agility and timing.

The court ruling specifically allows two Minnesota high school girls to participate in non-contact interscholastic sports with boys.

The judge said, however, that the court was not ruling on whether schools could provide separate but equal athletic opportunities for boys and girls-or whether discrimination might be justified in contact sports such as football.

'Nixon has made no decision'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House says President Nixon has made "no decision at all" on whether to fire top-level aides as a result of the Watergate affair.

Nixon spokesmen deny reports that Secretary of State William P.Rogers has been asked to head a post- Watergate shakeup of the White House staff and that the President was in any way involved in a reported offer of executive clemency to conspirators already convicted.

The chief spokesman for the Nixon re- election drive, DeVan L. Shumway, said he was not told the whole truth at the time he was issuing blanket denials of high- level knowledge of political-espionage plans.

And Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., past chairman of the Republican National Committee, said that, from his observation of "the players involved," it is entirely conceivable the Watergate plot could have been hatched without Nixon's knowledge.

The Washington Post reported, meanwhile, that the Nixon campaign committee spent $8,400 — mostly in $100 bills — on a publicity drive aimed at fabricating bipartisan support for the President's decision last spring to mine Haiphong harbor.

It said $4,400 was spent on a "deceptive, apparently illegal" advertisement in The New York Times rebutting that paper's editorial position. The Post said that, although the half- page ad appeared to have been prepared and purchased by a nonpolitical citizens' group, it actually was paid for with Nixon campaign funds.

Stating the expenditures never were reported to the General Accounting Office as required by law, the Post said the campaign also included writing and paying for telegrams of support sent to Nixon as well as for rallies and an organized telephone campaign supporting the decision to mine North Vietnamese harbors.

The Post said the expenses were authorized by Nixon's deputy campaign manager, Jeb Stuart Magruder. It quoted an unnamed former Nixon campaign official as saying the Committee for the Re- election of the President was "totally mobilized for the biggest piece of deception — we never do anything honestly."

"Imagine the President sending himself telegrams, patting himself on the back," the Post quoted the official as saying.

As the President flew back to Washington Tuesday night after a secluded four- day Florida holiday, White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told newsmen aboard Air Force One that, although Nixon had conferred by telephone with Rogers, the two had not discussed Rogers' spearheading an effort to revamp the White House staff.

ABC News had reported that Nixon had asked Rogers, a former attorney general and longtime presidential friend, to restore an "impeccable integrity" to the White House staff. State Department sources also denied that report.

Ziegler said Nixon has kept in daily contact with Watergate developments and added: "There are all sorts of rumors, but the President has made no decision at all regarding staff resignations."

He has asked specifically if Nixon is considering seeking such resignations as one course of action, but declined to comment further.

Earlier, Deputy Press Secretary Gerald Warren said there was no involvement by the President in an alleged offer of executive clemency to convicted Watergate burglar James W. McCord Jr. and others who pleaded guilty or were convicted in the case.

McCord's account came in an apparent transcript of his secret testimony before the federal Watergate grand jury furnished The Associated Press by columnist Jack Anderson.

Kissinger to meet Tho

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho are expected to meet in Paris in mid-May to discuss implementation of the Paris peace accords, White House sources said today.

This was disclosed after press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler made a formal announcement that Asst. Secretary of State William L. Sullivan and a North Vietnamese official will meet in Paris on Friday "to prepare a review of the implementation of the Paris agreements and appropriate measures to bring about the strict implementation of the agreements."

Sullivan, assistant secretary for East Asian affairs, will meet at 10 a.m. Paris time, with Hanoi's vice minister of foreign affairs, Nguyen Co Thach.

Just Tuesday the United States, in a formal note, accused North Vietnam of direct and inexcusable violations of the January Paris agreements on ending the war in Vietnam.

Sources said Sullivan and Thach would prepare a review as a prelude to a meeting between Kissinger, President Nixon's top foreign policy adviser, and Tho, a member of the North Vietnamese Politburo in Paris, around the middle of May.

Ziegler said the Sullivan Thach session was to seek full adherence by all parties to the peace accord and an end to the fighting throughout Indochina.

The United States, he said, "was doing everything possible" to achieve these ends. But he noted that Washington has complained "on many occasions" about violations attributed to Hanoi.

Friday's meeting was announced simultaneously by the White House and North Vietnam. In response to a question, Ziegler said the two parties had not adopted identical language for the announcement but that he anticipated Hanoi would say much the same thing in substance.

Ozark to resume talks

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Representatives of Ozark Air Lines and the striking Aircraft Mechanics Fraternal Association agreed to resume contract negotiations Tuesday at the request of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

Neither side, however, gave any indication that its position on wages, the main issue in the dispute, would be different when talks resume Thursday in Washington, D.C.

"Meeting will be difficult," said Charles Mounts, an Ozark vice president, "in view of the association's continued demands for wages and benefits exceeding those of the industry."

O. Delle Femine, national director of the AMFA, noted the union's position. "All of the issues involved are now the subject of negotiation," he said, "but the association has not changed its position on the issues. We feel the same way we did when we went on strike."

The 560 union members walked off the job last Thursday night following 13 months of fruitless negotiations with the carrier. They are seeking a 5.5 per cent pay boost plus 15 and 30- cent premiums for mechanics who hold airframe and power plant licenses. Top wage for Ozark mechanics is currently $6.02 an hour.

The company has offered a 2.7 per cent increase and a package it says is "the best in the industry" but does not include the premiums.

The walkout has halted Ozark operations in 62 cities and idled some 1,800 employes not directly involved in the strike.

The Illinois Airport Association asked Gov. Daniel Walker Tuesday to seek a settlement of the dispute because it is seriously affecting the economy of several Illinois communities served only by Ozark.

Emergency offices locations named

ST. LOUIS— Boyd Carder, manager of the Small Business Administration's eastern Missouri disaster branch office, today announced the locations of eight emergency offices where eastern Missouri disaster victims may apply for SBA's long- term low interest loans to repair or replace damaged homes, personal property, businesses, churches, and charitable institutions.

"Victims who live in any of the 21 eastern Missouri counties and the city of St. Louis which have been declared disaster areas by President Richard M. Nixon may apply for SBA disaster loans at one of the offices," Carder said.

The locations include: SBA disaster branch office, No. 5 American Industrial Drive, Maryland Heights, 63043 (hours Monday through Saturday from 8 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. and Sunday from noon to 6:30 p.m.

Hours for the following offices will be from 7 a.m. until the need is met each day: American Red Cross, 817 East High, Jefferson City; Ste. Peter's Church, Third and Jackson, St. Charles; Immaculate Conception Catholic Church, 2277 Church Road, Arnold; old high school, 1020 Broadway, Hannibal; Knights of Columbus, 600 Market St. Ste. Genevieve; armory in Charleston; and armory in Caruthersville.

In addition to the city of St. Louis, the affected Eastern Missouri counties are Scotland, Marion, Ralls, Pike, Lincoln, Callaway, Gasconade, St. Charles, Franklin, St. Louis, Jefferson, Ste. Genevieve, Perry, Cape Girardeau, Scott, Stoddard, Butler, Mississippi, New Madrid, Dunklin, and Pemiscot.

Carder explained that "SBA's disaster loans may be made for a period of up to 30 years and bear an interest rate of one per cent." In addition, the first $5,000 of each loan is forgiven by the government and does not have to be repaid.

Disaster victims may obtain direct home repair and replacement loans of up to $50,000 and loans of up to $10,000 for damaged or destroyed personal property. However, Carder noted, the maximum SBA can lend one borrower for both purposes may not exceed $55,000.

"Business men in the affected counties may receive direct SBA disaster loans of up to $500,000 to restore real property, machinery, equipment, fixtures and inventory," he added.

Carder emphasized that the SBA loans will be made available to qualified applicants only to the extend that the damage exceeds the applicant's insurance coverage.

The SBA disaster branch manager noted that, in contrast to most other recent major disasters, the Missouri flood disaster is still occurring after declaration.

He explained that this factor may slightly extend SBA's loan processing time on individual applications.

"Until the flood waters recede, our loan verifiers will not be able to get to and assess much of the damaged property," he explained.

"But we will get to all applicants' homes and businesses as soon as it is humanly possible, and we will provide disaster loans where they are needed," he stated.

"The first thing disaster victims should do is make a list of the kind and dollar amount of the damage sustained. They should then bring this list with them to one of our eight disaster loan processing offices, and we will do our very best to help them," Carder concluded.

Income loss expected to welfare recipients

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — No one knows exactly what effect proposed federal welfare legislation will have on Missouri, but it is expected to result in some loss of income to 85,000 old age, blind and disabled recipients.

Bert Shulimson, director of the Missouri Division of Welfare, told a Senate committee Tuesday night the state must act now to supplement the incomes of those 85,000 before Jan. 1, 1974.

Shulimson testified before the Senate Public Health, Welfare and Environment Committee wich took no action on a package of welfare bills made necessary by federal action.

In January, the federal government is scheduled to take over assistance programs for about 117,000 aged, blind and disabled persons now on Missouri welfare roles.

Shulimson told the committee the proposed federal income limits are now $130 a month for a single person or $150 a month if that person receives Social Security.

Shulimson said while it is hoped those income limits will eventually be raised, 85,000 of the 117,000 will suffer income losses unless the state passes legislation to supplement their incomes.

Shulimson appeared as welfare director and for Gov. Christopher S. Bond who has endorsed the welfare bills.

Bond delivered a $26.8 million welfare program to the legislature Monday which would supplement losses of income and services as a result of the proposed federal legislation.

Bond's program is an attempt to eliminate the need for a special legislative session to appropriate the welfare funds later this year if the federal legislation takes effect as scheduled in January.

Shulimson also presented three other welfare bills necessary to allow Missouri to comply with federal regulations and a recent U.S. Supreme Court decision.

Shulimson also asked the committee to provide funds for services to the aged, blind and disabled even though they will become federal recipients next year.

He said Missouri maintains 114 county welfare offices and one in the city of St. Louis. The federal program will maintain only 17 offices in the state, primarily for distribution of welfare checks, Shulimson said.

COOKING-UP with judy

The Irish were the first in Europe to recognize the value of the potato. The United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association tells us that the potato was introduced into Ireland between 1586 and 1588, and it soon became that country's main crop.

So let us salute the Irish fondness for the potato with some wonderful dishes in the Irish mood. In fact we can serve a whole meal in this spirit. The people of Erin love corned beef simmered to succulent perfection. We include a recipe for cooking this cut of meat since new cooks may need a little help with it.

Once you've had a meal of corned beef and cabbage with boiled potato — practically the national specialty of Ireland — you'll have leftovers for making delectable corned beef hash. Complete the meal with hot cabbage slaw, a different way to cook cabbage, and feature a fabulous loaf of homemade potato garlic bread. This meal is a noble celebration of the potato, and there are plenty of fine, fresh potatoes at your market now to make this delicious dinner.

The secret of good, homemade corned beef hash is to use plenty of potatoes cut in cubes and boiled only until just tender. The corned beef should also be cut in cubes so that the meat and potatoes keep a separate identity and don't cook down to a mushy consistency. This is a dish to set before a king when perfectly prepared as in the accompanying recipe.

Garlic potato bread has wonderful, earthy flavor and a robust texture. There is a real garlicky gusto to this bread, topped off, if you desire, with a sprinkle of coarse salt. Try this for great pleasure in eating.

It's a good idea to be sure potatoes are in your diet because they are basic. Contrary to rumor, potatoes are not fattening since there are only 105 calories in a cupful. It's the foods we add to potatoes that send up the calories, but potatoes by themselves are not a high calorie food.

CORNED BEEF

To corn beef:

1 4-pound brisket of beef
2 cups coarse salt or curing salt
2 cups packed dark brown sugar
1½ teaspoons bicarbonate of soda (baking soda)
4 teaspoons saltpeter (available at most drugstores as sodium nitrate)
1 clove garlic, minced
1 teaspoon whole cloves
1 teaspoon whole allspice
1 teaspoon whole peppercorns.
1 gallon water

Wash beef, pierce with a heavy fork and place in a procelain or earthenware pot (never unlined metal). Add salt, sugar, bicarbonate of soda, saltpeter, garlic, cloves, allspice and peppercorns. Add one quart lukewarm water and mix well; add remaining 3 quarts water to cover beef by 1½ inches. Refrigerate for 8 days. Each day turn meat. Discard the brine on the eighth day when ready to cook.

To cook beef:

1 onion, sliced
2 celery tops
1 rib celery
2 bay leaves
3 sprigs parsley

Rinse meat in cold water, place in a large kettle with cold water to cover. Bring to a boil; reduce heat and simmer for 1 hour. Pour off the water and add boiling water to cover. Add onion, celery tops and celery rib, bay leaves and parsley. Cover, bring to a boil, reduce heat and simmer for 3 to 3½ hours, until tender. Serve half sliced warm for dinner and reserve remaining corned beef for hash.

CORNED BEEF HASH

3 cups cubed pared potatoes
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup chopped fresh onion
1/3 cup chopped celery
¼ pound fresh mushrooms, chopped (1 cup)
2 teaspoons salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
3 cups cubed corned beef
1/2 cup milk

Boil potatoes in water to cover in a medium saucepan until tender, about 20 minutes. Ia large skillet, melt butter. Add onion, celery and mushrooms; cook until tender. Add salt, pepper, corned beef, drained potatoes and milk. Heat. Turn into flameproof baking dish and place under broiler for a few minutes until crusty and golden brown. Makes: 8 servings.

HOT CABBAGE SLAW

1 large cabbage (8 cups shredded)
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup chopped fresh onion
¼ cup vinegar
1/3 cup water
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon dried leaf basil
1 teaspoon caraway seeds

To prepare cabbage, remove coarse outer leaves and discard. Cut into quarters, cut out core and then cut into thin shreds. Melt butter in a large skillet. Add oinon and cook until tender. Add vinegar, water, salt, pepper, basil and caraway seeds. Mix well. Add cabbage and mix well. cook, covered for 10 to 15 minutes, until cabbage is crisp- tender.

Makes: 6 servings.

POTATO GARLIC BREAD

1 large potato
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup water
½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup sugar
½ cup dry milk powder
3 eggs
2 packages active dry yeast
¼ cup warm water
2 cloves garlic, crushed
5½ to 6 cups unsifted all-purpose flour

Pare and dice the potato. Place in a medium saucepan with salt and water. Cover and boil until tender. Remove from heat; add butter and sugar. Beat with electric mixer until potato is mashed and mixture is smooth.

Add milk powder and eggs, and beat until well blended. Dissolve the yeast in the warm water. Add to potato mixture with garlic and stir in enough flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out onto floured surface and knead until smooth and elastic. Place in a greased clean bowl, cover and let rise until doubled, about 1 hour. Punch down, cover and refrigerate overnight.

The next day remove from refrigerator and let rise at room temperature for 2 hours. Shape into one loaf and 8 rolls or two loaves. Place loaf in greased 9 x 5 x 3- inch baking pan; place rolls on greased baking sheet. Sprinkle, if desired, with coarse salt. Bake rolls in a 375- degree oven for 35 to 40 minutes. Bake loaf in 375- degree oven for 50 to 60 minutes or until loaf sounds hollow when tapped.

Makes: One 9- inch loaf and 8 large rolls.

The main differences I've found between little boys and little girls are that little boys feel definitely ...

that actions speak louder than words
that water is for fishing and soap is for nothing that loving comes at bedtime only
that hair is for growing - and growing - and growing
that clothes do not make the man
that loud noises and violent eruptions make a happy home
that dogs are preferable to sweethearts
that mothers are for teasing - and teasing- and teasing
that work is to be avoided
that unmade beds and messy rooms are equal to a suite at the Waldorf
that mud is for squishing
that homework is for idiots
that trees are for climbing
that bugs are for keeping
that brothers are for fighting
that food is for eating — constantly
that grass is for laying in
that mothers are for fathers — except when little boys need them; and I wouldn't have it any other way — would you?

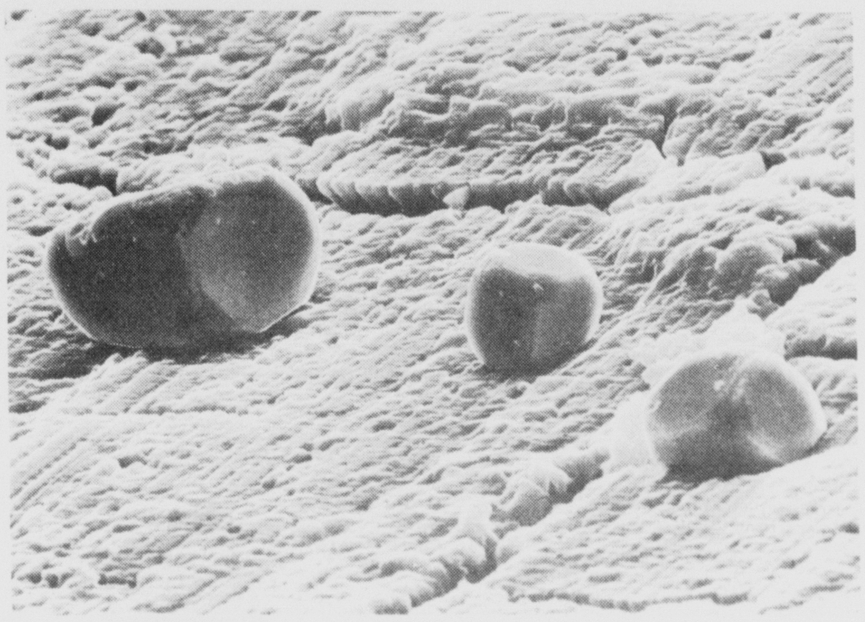
Moon Rocks may be old stuff even on earth these days, but not even astronauts have seen anything quite like this. Looking almost like the real thing scattered across the desolate lunar surface, these "rocks" are actually tiny iron crystals in specimens brought back from the Hadley-Apennine region landing site by the Apollo 15 mission. They are so small that 1,000 crystals would fit on the edge of a sheet of paper.



Congress extends OAA

WASHINGTON — Congress Friday repassed Missouri Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton's bill to revise and extend for three years the provisions of the Older Americans Act of 1965.

The unanimous passage in both the Senate and House came after Eagleton announced that he, House managers of the bill and the White House had reached a compromise on the once- vetoed legislation.

Eagleton, chairman of the Subcommittee on Aging of the Labor and Public Welfare Committee and author of the bill, noted that it was substantially similar to legislation passed last October, but pocket- vetoed by President Richard Nixon after Congress adjourned.

The agreement was reached, Eagleton stated, after representatives of the Senate and House agreed to delete fixed- dollar authorizations for a number of programs in the bill and substitute instead an open- ended authorization permitting the appropriations committees to appropriate such sums as may be necessary to carry out the programs.

"Frankly, these changes are largely cosmetic and I have no difficulty in agreeing to them," Eagleton said. "I am delighted that almost every program that we included in the bill will now be enacted into law, except for one Manpower title which the House itself refused to accept.

"The only real difference is that some of the dollar authorization figures have been reduced and, in other cases, we have used open- ended authorizations rather than dollar figures."

Briefly, the bill would upgrade the Administration on Aging (AOA) in the Department of Health, Ecucation and Welfare by transferring it from the welfare- oriented Social and Rehabilitation Service to the office of the HEW secretary; authorize the establishment of comprehensive and co-ordinated systems for the delivery of social services to the aging at the level and provide improved recreation, educational and voluntary service opportunities for the elderly.

It would also expand research in aging and the training of needed personnel in the field of gerontology; establish a community service employment program in the Department of Labor for middle- aged and older persons and authorize grants for the acquisition, remodeling and renovation of facilities for use as multipurpose senior centers and provide for mortgage insurance, interest subsidies and initial staffing grants for such centers.

"At the time we enacted this bill on Feb. 20," Eagleton said, "I stated, 'I do not seek a confrontation with the President.' I have pursued that course in striving to reach this agreement because I think the welfare of 21 million older Americans is much more important than any political gain that could have been obtained from overriding a presidential veto. And I think this is one veto that could have been overridden.

"We have met what we consider to be our responsibilities, and the result is a bill containing a number of excellent programs and virtually the same ones we first enacted last October.

"The President, I am sure, feels that he has met his responsibility by obtaining an overall lower authorization figure for the bill. While these figures do not represent real spending unless the funds should actually be appropriated, the President apparently feels that they are of significance in the fight against inflation."

"Man is the only animal that blushes. Or needs to." (Mark Twain)

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon has released results of a government-sponsored study that dispute what a spokesman called "the frightening estimates" that up to 200,000 Vietnam enlisted returnees are drug addicts.

Dr. Richard S. Wilbur, the Defense Department's health chief, said Monday a projection of results from a sample of about 900 former soldiers indicates that only between 2,000 and 3,000 Army returnees who served in Vietnam during the 1970-71 heroin epidemic still are dependent on drugs.

The health official said the study was limited to Army enlisted men because the problem was concentrated among that group. Wilbur said the figures represent 1.3 per cent of the returnees, about the same as the 1.2 per cent rate of drug abusers identified before entering military service.
